TRUMAN UNDECIDED ON LABOR BILL

House Upholds Truman's Veto Of Tax Bill By Scant Margin

Issue To Figure In 1948 Campaign

WASHINGTON, June 17—(AP)—The House today upheld President Truman's veto by a hair-breadth margin and killed the Republicans' $4,000,000,000 Income Tax-slashing bill. The tax reduction issue thereby was thrown into the 1948 Presidential campaign.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) announced there will be no other attempt to write tax reducing legislation in 1947, and he declared:

"Apparently the Democrats have little interest in cutting expenditures and reducing taxes. We may have to wait until we get a Republican President before we get tax reduction."

The GOP-dominated House voted 268 to 137 to overturn the President's veto, but this fell two short of the two-thirds majority required.

The bill originally passed the House 273 to 137, just one short of a two-thirds majority. The House approved the House-Senate compromise bill later 220 to 99.

Voting to override were 233 Republicans and 35 Democrats. Standing by Mr. Truman were 134 Democrats, two Republicans—Reps. Carl Andersen of Minnesota and Hull of Wisconsin—and the American Labor member, Rep. Marcantonio of New York.

So close was the vote in the tense, strained House that Republican Leader Halleck, of Indiana, demanded a recapitulation. However, the recount confirmed the original tally.

A shout went up from the Democratic side when the final vote was announced.

It all sums up to this:

Some 48,000,000 income taxpayers will go right ahead paying the same federal taxes for the time being.

The Republicans' and Mr. Truman's clashing ideas on whether this is right or wrong will go before the people in the next election.

The bill would have cut income taxes by 30 per cent for those with income of $1,000 or less, by 20 per cent for those with incomes up to $137,000, by 15 per cent for those between $137,000 and $302,000 and by 10.5 per cent for those above $302,000.

These reductions, at the annual rate of $4,000,000,000, would have gone into effect July 1.

In rejecting the bill yesterday, Mr. Truman called it "unsafe" from the standpoint of government finances and said it offered "the wrong kind of tax reduction, at the wrong time." He added that a good bill "would give a greater proportion of relief to the low income group."

Since two-thirds of both the Senate and House is required to override the President, the House action killed the tax bill. It was presented by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the Ways and Means Committee as House Bill No. 1 when Republicans took control of Congress in January.

Had the House overridden the President, it had been deemed certain the Senate would have killed the bill.

Embargo Is Put On Rail Shipments

CIO Seamen Strike Curbs Shipments

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—A flag embargo was imposed on all rail freight shipments destined for American ships in United States ports and sailing on the Liner America was postponed today as the two day sit-down of CIO seamen tightened its grip on the nation's maritime commerce.

Shippers across the country were ordered by the American Association of Railroads to send no more consignments to United States Ships in East, West and Gulf Coast Ports.

700 Ships Affected

Union spokesmen claimed 700 ships are affected by the sit-down.

The AAR said the embargo would prevent clogging of the ports and undue detention of freight cars badly needed elsewhere.

George Randall, the Association's manager of port traffic here, explained the action would not tie up all overseas shipments since more than half of American outbound cargo is handled in foreign bottoms.

A similar embargo was put into effect in the 1946 maritime strike eight months ago.

The America, largest United States passenger vessel, was to leave tomorrow afternoon for Cobh, Southampton and Cherbourg with 1,000 passengers, much of whose luggage already had been taken aboard. The United States Lines set Friday as a new tentative sailing date.

The postponement came after National Maritime Union members had announced termination of articles of voyage for the sailing.

Joseph Curran, NMU president, sent to President Truman, Secretary of State George C. Marshall and other high officials telegrams declaring the seamen were "locked out by the shipowners" and adding:

"The arrogant refusal of the shipowners to bargain in good faith with our unions demonstrates clearly that they rely on the Taft-Hartley bill to destroy the labor movement."

Operators Charge Strikes

Operators here have labeled the stoppage a "pure, simple, unadulterated strike."

Government officials in Washington said no shipment of grain or coal for Europe had been delayed so far in the maritime dispute, but W. R. Godber, Interstate Commerce Commission Agent here, announced restrictions on shipments of coal to three East Coast Ports.

Godber said coal shipments to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore would be allowed only if there were assurance that the vessel for which the coal was destined would not be tied up.

Assistant Secretary of Labor John W Gibson planned talks with both sides here in an effort to end quickly the stoppage involving five CIO unions with 200,000 members. The stoppage began last Sunday midnight when contracts of the unions expired.

Truman's Air Group Has Secret Meeting

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — President Truman's special board of inquiry held a secret session today seeking means to prevent air crashes such as have taken 146 lives on commercial airlines since May 29.

Chairman James M. Landis of the Civil Aeronautics Board, chairman of the investigatory group, told reporters that there would be no statement immediately.

He said the first meeting was devoted to developing procedure and considering an agenda. No witnesses were called.

Doctor Jerome Hunsaker, chairman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, was unable to be present. He was represented by John W. Crowley, Associate Director of Aeronautical Research of NACA.

The other members present were Theodore P. Wright, Civil Aeronautics Administrator; Brigadier General M. W. Arnold U.S.A., retired, a vice president of the Air Transport Association, and H. P Cox, an American Airlines pilot.

Probe Of New Auto "Black Mart" Asked

Action To Center In Detroit, Flint

DETROIT, June 17 (AP) — State's Attorney General Eugene F. Black moved tonight for grand jury investigations at Flint and Detroit, automobile manufacturing centers, into what he has called a "black market" in new cars.

The state's chief law enforcement officer, acting from the capitol at Lansing, said prosecutors in both Genesee (Flint) and Wayne (Detroit) counties would petition their respective courts to order the investigations.

10 Dealers Cited

At the same time Black formally cited ten used car dealers of Detroit on charges of violating state law by selling new cars without a license to do so.

Black's action followed an investigation of the used car price structure which he disclosed numerous instances of virtually new automobiles being sold as "used" vehicles for prices far above their original "new" prices.

The automobile industry already has acknowledged complaints in regard to skyrocketed prices on little used, postwar model cars.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association reported many such examples but pointed out that they were individual, private sales for which the industry was not responsible.

The ten dealers cited today were charged with selling new cars without the authority of a contract with a manufacturer or distributor such as that required for new car dealers.

To Get Hearings

Also, they were accused of selling new cars without being licensed under state law. The group was ordered to appear for hearings before the Secretary of State later this month.

Complaints signed by state police alleged the used car dealers had offered cars for sale with descriptions such as "brand new," "just came in yesterday," "just like buying from a dealer," and "you can tell it's new by the smell of it."

Black said grand jury investigations, if approved, would look into "suspected violations of the (state) motor vehicle law and conspiracies to evade its provisions."

Extend Coal Mine Code, Krug Asks

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Krug proposed today that Congress extend for one year the Federal Coal Mine Safety Code which is to expire June 30.

The code formed a part of the Krug-Lewis agreement under which the government has been operating the nation's soft coal mines for more than a year. Government possession of the coal mines ends June 30.

Krug addressed to Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), president of the Senate, a proposal for a joint resolution.

Krug said that if the provisions of the safety code are to expire with the Coal Mine Administration's contract with the United Mine Workers, the Federal Government will be without power to enforce mine safety regulations.

"Recent events have strongly underlined the importance of strengthening the legislative machinery available for protection of life and limb in the coal mines," Krug wrote.

"The recent mine tragedy at Centralia, Ill., shocked the nation into an awareness of the seriousness of the hazards which the coal miner faces and of the importance of establishing and enforcing standards of safety."

Russian Aims Are Defined By Nagy

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — Hungary's self-exile former Prime Minister Ferenc Nagy, said today that Soviet Russia is bent on complete domination of Southeastern Europe as well as of his home-land.

Nagy, proclaiming himself "trustee for Hungary's voiceless people," told a news conference that "nothing short of unconditional surrender is considered by Russia as a friendly gesture."

"The events in Hungary, as well as in many other countries in Southeastern Europe, make it definitely clear that the Soviets and Communists do not seek fair and genuine co-operation but dominance," he declared. "To them, the coalition is only a means to save the appearance of representative government."

Nagy fled to Switzerland last month when the minority Communists with support of the occupying Red Army took over control. He said he plans to carry on a fight from the United States by every "peaceful means" to restore majority rule in his home land.

He voiced belief that action by the United Nations would be effective. Whether a government in exile will be set up, he said, has not been decided.

The ousted Prime Minister scoffed at Soviet charges of a conspiracy against "Democracy" involving leaders of the majority Small Holders Party.

As Prime Minister, Nagy said he both "appeased" and resisted the Soviets and Communists in an effort to "save my people from further troubles," and to preserve the regime's basic structure until withdrawal of the Red Army occupation forces after final ratification of the peace treaty.

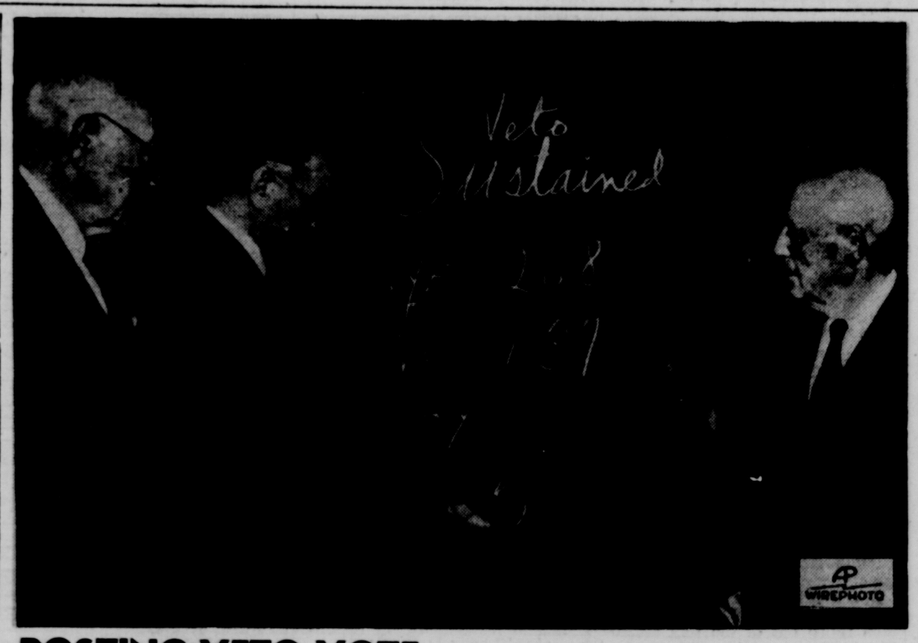

He appealed "to public opinion all over the world and to free governments everywhere to take appropriate measures toward the re-establishment of the freedom of the Hungarians, and all other oppressed peoples of Southeastern Europe."

Soviet Answer To China Unlikely

NANKING, June 17 (AP)—Foreign office sources said today they probably never would receive an official reply from either Russia or Outer Mongolia to China's protest that Mongols, with Soviet aid, made an unprovoked attack on Sinkiang Province early this month.

"Very possibly, the only answer we'll get to our protests," they said, was Moscow Radio's recent broadcast denying that the Soviet participated and relaying an Outer Mongolian counter charge that Chinese troops were the aggressors.

The Chinese Government had charged that Mongolian cavalry and infantry, supported by "four war planes bearing Soviet emblems," penetrated Sinkiang more than 50 miles June 5.

POSTING VETO VOTE—Democratic leaders of the House post results of the vote by which President Truman's veto of the Tax Reduction Bill was upheld yesterday. Posting the vote on a blackboard (left to right) are Rep Robert Doughton (D-NC) former chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee; Rep. John McCormack (D-Mass), party whip, and Rep. Sam Rayburn, (D-Tex) minority leader.

British, French Open Rebuilding Europe Program

Nations Top Leaders Gather For Session

PARIS, June 17 (AP) — Britain and France began work tonight on a common program for European reconstruction in response to U. S. Secretary of State Marshall's project for co-ordinated aid.

The top leaders of both nations, plus experts in a wide range of economic activity, assembled for their first formal contact at a "working session" dinner in the British Embassy.

British Foreign Secretary Bevin arrived by plane from London late this afternoon and met French Premier Ramadier and Foreign Minister Bidault at a stag affair stripped of ceremony to permit the two-day conference to get down to immediate cases.

Bevin "Very Hopeful"

Bevin declared himself "very hopeful" over the consultations on his arrival. He was taken to the British Embassy where French police tightened their vigilance against any violence or display by Jewish underground groups.

His first concern was to examine the text of French suggestions announced yesterday by the French Foreign Ministry. The French proposed formation of a series of committees, composed of representatives of the United States and interested European countries, which would assay Europe's resources in food, transportation, steel, coal, agriculture. From these an estimate of Europe's needs would be formulated after deducting the help the various European countries were able to give each other.

The French believed committees could act more quickly than a General European Conference.

Gives Move A Boost

That Bevin was ready to discuss such details seemed evident from the composition of his delegation which include experts in finance, economics, commerce, food and supply.

President Vincent Auriol gave the movement for European economic co-ordination a boost in a speech to the Foreign Press Association in which he declared "the French government and I are united in greeting with enthusiasm the initiative, both audacious and wise, of Secretary of State Marshall."

"Light has just illuminated the pathway to peace," he declared, and "France is firmly resolved not to let this flame be extinguished."

Senate Gets Rent Bill

WASHINGTON, June 17—(AP)—The House stamped its final approval today on a bill extending rent controls until next March but permitting 15 per cent increases if tenants "voluntarily" agree to pay them in return for leases extending through 1948.

The bill, which also frees building materials from most restraints, now goes to the Senate.

Universal Youth Training 'A Must', Truman Declares

PRINCETON, N. J., June 17 (AP)—Speaking amid the serenity of the campus of two-century old Princeton University, President Truman voiced his belief today that universal training of the nation's youth was "a military necessity" to the welfare of the country and the peace of the world.

Without a trained United States Citizen Reserve, the President told the University's bicentennial celebration, small nations may fear that we are no longer determined to remain strong and maintain the "world leadership" to which the weak and oppressed look for support.

"We must remember, above all," he said, "that these men would not be training in order to win a war, but in order to prevent one."

If small nations are uncertain about the strength of this country, the President declared, "these nations might not be able to resist the encrochment of totalitarian pressures."

"We must not let friendly nations go by default," he said as the audience applauded.

Prosecutor Named In Ballot Frauds

WASHINGTON, June 17 — (AP) — Attorney General Clark announced today he had named Richard K. Phelps, a veteran prosecutor of election frauds, to go after any persons who violated federal law in the Democratic primary in Kansas City last summer.

In that primary, Enos Axtell defeated Roger Slaughter for nomination to Congress from the Fifth Missouri District. Axtell was President Truman's choice over the then incumbent Slaughter. Senator Kem (R-Mo.) has accused Clark of dodging his duty to prosecute the alleged frauds.

Clark said that he has asked Phelps to confer with Federal Judges in Missouri to consider a Federal Grand Jury investigation.

A state grand jury has indicated 71 persons, saying that Axtell's primary victory was due to frauds. He lost in the general election to Republican Albert L. Reeves, Jr.

Earlier in the case, the Justice Department decided there was no evidence of federal law violations.

Phelps, 57, is a former United States Attorney for Western Missouri. He helped win convictions of some 250 persons involved in voting irregularities charged to members of the Tom Pendergast organization in Kansas City in 1926.

In his new assignment he will have the title of special assistant to the attorney general. Clark's office said he has been given "full and complete authority" to conduct any prosecutions he thinks are warranted.

Little Acquitted Of Maltreatment Charge By Navy

Accused Of Cruelty In Jap Prison Camp

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — The Navy announced today that Lt. Comdr. Edward N. Little has been acquitted of charges of "maltreatment" of fellow Americans in a Japanese prison camp where he was senior officer.

Beyond saying that Little was acquitted of all three charges against him, the Navy said nothing. The court martial has been meeting in secret for four months.

Charges Defined

The Navy identified the main allegations against Little as:

Maltreatment of a person subject to his orders.

Conduct to the prejudice of good order and disicpline.

Conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Allied Headquarters in Tokyo identified Little as having been mess officer at the Japanese camp 17-B at Omuta, Fokuota, on Kyushu. He was then a lieutenant and senior in rank among the prisoners. Under conventions covering prisoners of war the others were under his orders.

Tokyo dispatches said Capt. Isao Fukuhara, commander of the camp, told a military court in February, 1946, that a Lieutenant E. N. Little had requested punishment of a fellow prisoner for stealing bread.

Fukuhaa said Little was in charge of the kitchen and was responsible for preventing pilfering and punishing offenders.

The Japanese officer named the prisoner punished for stealing bread as Pvt. William H. Knight of Warsaw, N. Y. An affidavit from another witness said Knight died of torture while in the guardhouse, but did not say whether it was on the occasion when he was jailed for stealing.

Requests Private Trial

The Navy did not announce what the charges against Little were until the dispatches arrived quoting records in Japan. Navy Regulations provide that in a court martial case the defendant can waive public trial if he chooses, which Little did.

Little, from Decatur, Ill., won the Silver Star for gallantry before the fall of the Philippines and his capture on Corregidor. Navy records show that he was released from the prison camp in October, 1945, and was in the Naval hospital at Oakland, Calif., until January 24, 1946.

Little served as an enlisted man before entering the Naval Academy in 1926.

Chrysler-UAW Labor Dispute Is Settled

DETROIT, June 17—(AP)—A labor dispute figuring in the idleness of nearly 6,000 Chrysler workers was reported settled tonight by the corporation after a two-day stalemate.

Chrysler said a protest over the layoff of a worker who was charged with careless use of materials would be handled through normal contract precedures with the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

The company's DeSoto operations in the Wyoming Avenue Plant, employing nearly 3,000 men, had been halted for two days by a strike. Another 3,000 at two other plants had been affected indirectly for a time.

Receives Last Rites

COHASSET, Mass., June 17. (AP)—Mayor James M. Curley of Boston today asked and received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church on his hospital bed while in Washington authorities prepared to put into effect a six to 18 months mail fraud sentence.

Committed To Hospital

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 17. (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Stuart B. Allen, acquitted last week of the hammer slaying of a sexton in his foster father's church on the ground of insanity, was committed to a state hospital today by the Circuit Court.

Sulyok Says Hungary Is Police State

Freedom Party Head Calls Off Speeches

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 17 (AP)—Dezso Sulyok declared today that Communist brawlers who broke up a freedom Party rally yesterday in Szeged had proved his point that Hungary was a police state. And said he would schedule no more speeches unless his party is guaranteed freedom of assembly.

The outspoken Freedno Party leader, who has defied the Communists ever since they engineered last month's coup d'etat, said he had written a letter to the Allied Control Commission asking that his party be accorded the same liberty of expression as that enjoyed by the Communists.

Commission Approved Party

The Control Commission for Hungary—composed of British, Russian and American representatives—sanctioned the formation of the Freedom Party last year.

The Commission, dominated by its Russian member, meets tomorrow in what may be the most stirring session of its two-year history.

Among other things on the agenda is the deposition which the Russians say they took from Bela Kovacs, former secretary general of the Smallholders Party. The Russians said the testimony implicated former Prime Minister Ference Nagy and Bela Varga, former speaker of the House, in a plot to overthrow the Hungarian Republic.

The British and American members have tried in vain to see this deposition which wound up in Nagy's resigning under what he said was a trumped up charge, and Varga fleeing.

A reliable informant said tonight that Varga was now safe outside Hungary, and was living in a Jesuit monastery. The informant said he had received a letter from Varga, the first definite information from the No. 2 official in the Nagy regime since he fled 16 days ago.

Sulyok said he was cancelling all political speeches, including one scheduled for the near future in Mistolc, because he did not want to run the risk of any more clashes with the Communists. Members of his party, he added, felt that such riots might "start a civil war."

Belief Is Confirmed

Yesterday's clash at Szeged, Sulyok asserted, "confirmed what I openly declared in Parliament" — that Hungary was a police state where there was no freedom of speech or assembly.

Communist party Newspapers gave a different version of yesterday's brawl, at which British and American newsmen saw Communists, armed with weighted hoses and brass knuckles, attack Freedom Party members.

The newspapers said the clash was a "scandalous fight organized by Sulyok's SS guardists."

Sulyok accused the ministry of industry of invalidating an election held yesterday in Szeged by the Tjadesmen's Guild, and said the Freedom Party had polled 78 per cent of the votes.

Meanwhile, Deputy Premier Matyas Rakosi, Communist leader, issued a statement to the Communist Press denying he had said that "the brave and iron-fisted Communist party" had gained control of Hungary. This statement was attributed to him in the recent American note on Hungary

U. N. Hears Plans Of Jewish Agency

JERUSALEM, June 17—(AP)—The Jewish Agency laid its preliminary claims for a Jewish Palestine state before the United Nations Commission on the Holy Land today, as the 11-nation body held its first formal open hearing ami flashing photographic bulbs and ceremonious introductions.

Moshe Shertok, 53-year-old Russian-born political chieftain of the agency, presented a series of figures and documents and reviewed Jewish accomplishments in Palestine.

"This should not be regarded as the presentation of our case but merely as a factual and statistical introduction to it," he said.

Shertok was introduced by the commission's chairman, Emil Sandstroem, Chief Justice of Sweden. During Sandstroem's opening words, a photographer's flashbulb exploded with a bang an bomb-conscious spectators instinctively ducked for cover.

I'm Not Sure I'll Veto It, He Declares

Union Motorcades Head For Capital

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — President Truman, winner over the Republican majority in Congress on his tax bill veto, returned to the Capital tonight avowedly undecided whether to try it again on the Labor Bill.

The President, leaving Princeton University where he received an honorary degree today, told reporters "I haven't made up my mind" whether there will be a veto on the union-curbing Taft-Hartley Measure.

When his train pulled in here at 5:25 p. m. (EST) Mr. Truman had nothing to add to his Princeton comments. He has until Friday midnight to make his decision.

Hears Of House Action

Told that the House failed to override his veto of the tax bill, he said "that's two more votes than I expected. I am deeply grateful that the House upheld the veto of the tax bill".

"Will you be equally gratified if the House upholds the veto of the Labor Bill?" the President was asked.

"I am not sure that there is going to be a veto of the labor bill," the President replied. "I haven't made up my mind yet."

Mass Union Protest Meetings Are Planned

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — Motorcades of AFL and CIO unionists converged on Washington tonight in a demonstration against the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill, now awaiting Presidential action.

Spokesmen said 3,000 to 4,000 union members were involved in the movement toward the Capital.

A mass meeting in Turner's Arena, where wrestling and other sports events are held in the winter season, was scheduled for tonight. Tomorrow the unionists will visit members of Congress to emphasize their opposition to the Labor Relations Bill.

On Wednesday night, the group will be addressed at the new Wylvan Theater in Washington's monument grounds by several members of Congress.

The movement started in Los Angeles, where 60 cars representing the AFL Central Labor Council left more than a week ago. Delegations from other areas joined the trek.

All of them, including motorcades from New York and Philadelphia, had a rendezvous in Frederick, Md., before the grand push into Washington tonight.

Ministers Protest

Meanwhile, a statement from 642 religious leaders urging "a vigorous veto message" against the Labor Bill was presented at the White House by a delegation of clergymen.

The statement declared the labor legislation would "violate human freedoms essential to the ethics of both Democracy and religion." It added that the bill would make the government a "ready instrument of employer resistance to legitimate needs of workers."

The delegation was made up of the Rev. John Duffy of New York City, Rabbi Ira Sud of Arlington, Va., Father Charles Owen Rice of Pittsburgh, and the Rev. Sheldon Rahn, Secretary of the National Clergymen's Committee on the Taft-Hartley Bill.

Russian Marks Cost U. S. $250,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 17 — (AP) — The United States Army went $250,000,000 into the hole redeeming German paper marks as the Russians busily turned them out on plates furnished by the United States, Howard C. Petersen, Assistant Secretary of War, informed Senators today.

He added that "so far as he knows" the Russians are still printing the occupation money, and declared that the Soviets have blocked all efforts at currency reform in Germany.

However, he added that the American taxpayers won't lose because the Army will make up for the $250,000,000 by turning the marks over to the Germans in payment for labor, etc.

But Senators who questioned him at a joint session of three Senate Committees were not so sure.

6 Federal Whisky Tasters Don't Like Stuff They Are Sampling

WASHINGTON, June 17—(AP)—It takes all kinds of workers to make up a U. S. government.

Such as whisky-tasters.

Six of these snort-samplers work for the Internal Revenue Bureau.

But don't get the idea they do their chores while lolling around in exclusive grog shops. No, they toil in a stuffy laboratory, and whisky-tasting is only a small part of their many tasks.

A fellow over at the Internal Revenue Office told a reporter today that his department both taxes and regulates the sale of intoxicating beverages.

Most of the liquor can be tested chemically. It's only occasionally that the most delicate mechanism of all, human taste buds, must be employed.

Did any chemist ever work so hard he needed radar to find the way home?

"No," said the I. R. Man, and he explained why. "The kind of stuff we get is so bad nobody could possibly want to drink it."

Precautions Against Tick Fever Are Listed By Health Officials

BALTIMORE, Md., June 17 (AP) Marylanders were offered a set of rules today to follow this summer in guarding against tick fever.

Both State and Baltimore Health Officials warned vacationists the ticks probably won't spare any county in the state and contact with them may cause death or serious illness from the fever—also known as Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

An average of one in every 300 insects is infected, they pointed out, but the disease may result either from a bite or carelessness in removing ticks from the skin with tweezers or rubber gloves, and dousing the skin with an antiseptic.

Other suggestions were to look yourself over carefully twice a day when in a tick-populated section, spray with creosote any under growth or other places where ticks thrive, keep the grass mowed and kill field mice and other likely insect carriers.

Don't squeeze the little pests after extracting them. The poisons thus released might be absorbed through a scratch or other body opening.

TRUMAN UNDECIDED ON LABOR BILL

Issue To Figure In 1948 Campaign

WASHINGTON, June 17—(AP)—The House today upheld President Truman's veto by a hair-breadth margin and killed the Republicans' $4,000,000,000 Income Tax-slashing bill. The tax reduction issue thereby was thrown into the 1948 Presidential campaign.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) announced there will be no other attempt to write tax reducing legislation in 1947, and he declared:

"Apparently the Democrats have little interest in cutting expenditures and reducing taxes. We may have to wait until we get a Republican President before we get tax reduction."

The GOP-dominated House voted 268 to 137 to overturn the President's veto, but this fell two short of the two-thirds majority required.

The bill originally passed the House 273 to 137, just one short of a two-thirds majority. The House approved the House-Senate compromise bill later 220 to 99.

Voting to override were 233 Republicans and 35 Democrats. Standing by Mr. Truman were 134 Democrats, two Republicans—Reps. Carl Andersen of Minnesota and Hull of Wisconsin—and the American Labor member, Rep. Marcantonio of New York.

So close was the vote in the tense, strained House that Republican Leader Halleck, of Indiana, demanded a recapitulation. However, the recount confirmed the original tally.

A shout went up from the Democratic side when the final vote was announced.

It all sums up to this:

Some 48,000,000 income taxpayers will go right ahead paying the same federal taxes for the time being.

The Republicans' and Mr. Truman's clashing ideas on whether this is right or wrong will go before the people in the next election.

The bill would have cut income taxes by 30 per cent for those with income of $1,000 or less, by 20 per cent for those with incomes up to $137,000, by 15 per cent for those between $137,000 and $302,000 and by 10.5 per cent for those above $302,000.

These reductions, at the annual rate of $4,000,000,000, would have gone into effect July 1.

In rejecting the bill yesterday, Mr. Truman called it "unsafe" from the standpoint of government finances and said it offered "the wrong kind of tax reduction, at the wrong time." He added that a good bill "would give a greater proportion of relief to the low income group."

Since two-thirds of both the Senate and House is required to override the President, the House action killed the tax bill. It was presented by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the Ways and Means Committee as House Bill No. 1 when Republicans took control of Congress in January.

Had the House overridden the President, it had been deemed certain the Senate would have killed the bill.

Embargo Is Put On Rail Shipments

CIO Seamen Strike Curbs Shipments

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—A flag embargo was imposed on all rail freight shipments destined for American ships in United States ports and sailing on the Liner America was postponed today as the two day sit-down of CIO seamen tightened its grip on the nation's maritime commerce.

Shippers across the country were ordered by the American Association of Railroads to send no more consignments to United States Ships in East, West and Gulf Coast Ports.

700 Ships Affected

Union spokesmen claimed 700 ships are affected by the sit-down.

The AAR said the embargo would prevent clogging of the ports and undue detention of freight cars badly needed elsewhere.

George Randall, the Association's manager of port traffic here, explained the action would not tie up all overseas shipments since more than half of American outbound cargo is handled in foreign bottoms.

A similar embargo was put into effect in the 1946 maritime strike eight months ago.

The America, largest United States passenger vessel, was to leave tomorrow afternoon for Cobh, Southampton and Cherbourg with 1,000 passengers, much of whose luggage already had been taken aboard. The United States Lines set Friday as a new tentative sailing date.

The postponement came after National Maritime Union members had announced termination of articles of voyage for the sailing.

Joseph Curran, NMU president, sent to President Truman, Secretary of State George C. Marshall and other high officials telegrams declaring the seamen were "locked out by the shipowners" and adding:

"The arrogant refusal of the shipowners to bargain in good faith with our unions demonstrates clearly that they rely on the Taft-Hartley bill to destroy the labor movement."

Operators Charge Strikes

Operators here have labeled the stoppage a "pure, simple, unadulterated strike."

Government officials in Washington said no shipment of grain or coal for Europe had been delayed so far in the maritime dispute, but W. R. Godber, Interstate Commerce Commission Agent here, announced restrictions on shipments of coal to three East Coast Ports.

Godber said coal shipments to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore would be allowed only if there were assurance that the vessel for which the coal was destined would not be tied up.

Assistant Secretary of Labor John W Gibson planned talks with both sides here in an effort to end quickly the stoppage involving five CIO unions with 200,000 members. The stoppage began last Sunday midnight when contracts of the unions expired.

Truman's Air Group Has Secret Meeting

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — President Truman's special board of inquiry held a secret session today seeking means to prevent air crashes such as have taken 146 lives on commercial airlines since May 29.

Chairman James M. Landis of the Civil Aeronautics Board, chairman of the investigatory group, told reporters that there would be no statement immediately.

He said the first meeting was devoted to developing procedure and considering an agenda. No witnesses were called.

Doctor Jerome Hunsaker, chairman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, was unable to be present. He was represented by John W. Crowley, Associate Director of Aeronautical Research of NACA.

The other members present were Theodore P. Wright, Civil Aeronautics Administrator; Brigadier General M. W. Arnold U.S.A., retired, a vice president of the Air Transport Association, and H. P Cox, an American Airlines pilot.

Probe Of New Auto "Black Mart" Asked

Action To Center In Detroit, Flint

DETROIT, June 17 (AP) — State's Attorney General Eugene F. Black moved tonight for grand jury investigations at Flint and Detroit, automobile manufacturing centers, into what he has called a "black market" in new cars.

The state's chief law enforcement officer, acting from the capitol at Lansing, said prosecutors in both Genesee (Flint) and Wayne (Detroit) counties would petition their respective courts to order the investigations.

10 Dealers Cited

At the same time Black formally cited ten used car dealers of Detroit on charges of violating state law by selling new cars without a license to do so.

Black's action followed an investigation of the used car price structure which he disclosed numerous instances of virtually new automobiles being sold as "used" vehicles for prices far above their original "new" prices.

The automobile industry already has acknowledged complaints in regard to skyrocketed prices on little used, postwar model cars.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association reported many such examples but pointed out that they were individual, private sales for which the industry was not responsible.

The ten dealers cited today were charged with selling new cars without the authority of a contract with a manufacturer or distributor such as that required for new car dealers.

To Get Hearings

Also, they were accused of selling new cars without being licensed under state law. The group was ordered to appear for hearings before the Secretary of State later this month.

Complaints signed by state police alleged the used car dealers had offered cars for sale with descriptions such as "brand new," "just came in yesterday," "just like buying from a dealer," and "you can tell it's new by the smell of it."

Black said grand jury investigations, if approved, would look into "suspected violations of the (state) motor vehicle law and conspiracies to evade its provisions."

Russian Aims Are Defined By Nagy

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — Hungary's self-exile former Prime Minister Ferenc Nagy, said today that Soviet Russia is bent on complete domination of Southeastern Europe as well as of his home-land.

Nagy, proclaiming himself "trustee for Hungary's voiceless people," told a news conference that "nothing short of unconditional surrender is considered by Russia as a friendly gesture."

"The events in Hungary, as well as in many other countries in Southeastern Europe, make it definitely clear that the Soviets and Communists do not seek fair and genuine co-operation but dominance," he declared. "To them, the coalition is only a means to save the appearance of representative government."

Nagy fled to Switzerland last month when the minority Communists with support of the occupying Red Army took over control. He said he plans to carry on a fight from the United States by every "peaceful means" to restore majority rule in his home land.

He voiced belief that action by the United Nations would be effective. Whether a government in exile will be set up, he said, has not been decided.

The ousted Prime Minister scoffed at Soviet charges of a conspiracy against "Democracy" involving leaders of the majority Small Holders Party.

As Prime Minister, Nagy said he both "appeased" and resisted the Soviets and Communists in an effort to "save my people from further troubles," and to preserve the regime's basic structure until withdrawal of the Red Army occupation forces after final ratification of the peace treaty.

He appealed "to public opinion all over the world and to free governments everywhere to take appropriate measures toward the re-establishment of the freedom of the Hungarians, and all other oppressed peoples of Southeastern Europe."

Extend Coal Mine Code, Krug Asks

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Krug proposed today that Congress extend for one year the Federal Coal Mine Safety Code which is to expire June 30.

The code formed a part of the Krug-Lewis agreement under which the government has been operating the nation's soft coal mines for more than a year. Government possession of the coal mines ends June 30.

Krug addressed to Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), president of the Senate, a proposal for a joint resolution.

Krug said that if the provisions of the safety code are to expire with the Coal Mine Administration's contract with the United Mine Workers, the Federal Government will be without power to enforce mine safety regulations.

"Recent events have strongly underlined the importance of strengthening the legislative machinery available for protection of life and limb in the coal mines," Krug wrote.

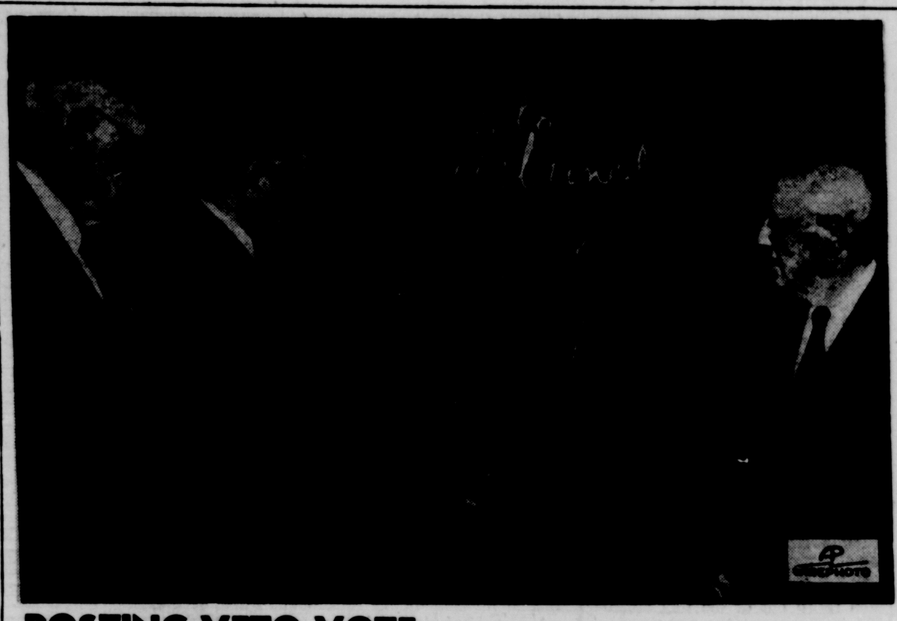

"The recent mine tragedy at Centralia, Ill., shocked the nation into an awareness of the seriousness of the hazards which the coal miner faces and of the importance of establishing and enforcing standards of safety."

Soviet Answer To China Unlikely

NANKING, June 17 (AP)—Foreign office sources said today they probably never would receive an official reply from either Russia or Outer Mongolia to China's protest that Mongols, with Soviet aid, made an unprovoked attack on Sinkiang Province early this month.

"Very possibly, the only answer we'll get to our protests," they said, was Moscow Radio's recent broadcast denying that the Soviet participated and relaying an Outer Mongolian counter charge that Chinese troops were the aggressors.

The Chinese Government had charged that Mongolian cavalry and infantry, supported by "four war planes bearing Soviet emblems," penetrated Sinkiang more than 50 miles June 5.

British, French Open Rebuilding Europe Program

Nations Top Leaders Gather For Session

PARIS, June 17 (AP) — Britain and France began work tonight on a common program for European reconstruction in response to U. S. Secretary of State Marshall's project for co-ordinated aid.

The top leaders of both nations, plus experts in a wide range of economic activity, assembled for their first formal contact at a "working session" dinner in the British Embassy.

British Foreign Secretary Bevin arrived by plane from London late this afternoon and met French Premier Ramadier and Foreign Minister Bidault at a stag affair stripped of ceremony to permit the two-day conference to get down to immediate cases.

Bevin "Very Hopeful"

Bevin declared himself "very hopeful" over the consultations on his arrival. He was taken to the British Embassy where French police tightened their vigilance against any violence or display by Jewish underground groups.

His first concern was to examine the text of French suggestions announced yesterday by the French Foreign Ministry. The French proposed formation of a series of committees, composed of representatives of the United States and interested European countries, which would assay Europe's resources in food, transportation, steel, coal, agriculture. From these an estimate of Europe's needs would be formulated after deducting the help the various European countries were able to give each other.

The French believed committees could act more quickly than a General European Conference.

Gives Move A Boost

That Bevin was ready to discuss such details seemed evident from the composition of his delegation which include experts in finance, economics, commerce, food and supply.

President Vincent Auriol gave the movement for European economic co-ordination a boost in a speech to the Foreign Press Association in which he declared "the French government and I are united in greeting with enthusiasm the initiative, both audacious and wise, of Secretary of State Marshall."

"Light has just illuminated the pathway to peace," he declared, and "France is firmly resolved not to let this flame be extinguished."

Senate Gets Rent Bill

WASHINGTON, June 17—(AP)—The House stamped its final approval today on a bill extending rent controls until next March but permitting 15 per cent increases if tenants "voluntarily" agree to pay them in return for leases extending through 1948.

The bill, which also frees building materials from most restraints, now goes to the Senate.

Universal Youth Training 'A Must', Truman Declares

PRINCETON, N. J., June 17 (AP)—Speaking amid the serenity of the campus of two-century old Princeton University, President Truman voiced his belief today that universal training of the nation's youth was "a military necessity" to the welfare of the country and the peace of the world.

Without a trained United States Citizen Reserve, the President told the University's bicentennial celebration, small nations may fear that we are no longer determined to remain strong and maintain the "world leadership" to which the weak and oppressed look for support.

"We must remember, above all," he said, "that these men would not be training in order to win a war, but in order to prevent one."

If small nations are uncertain about the strength of this country, the President declared, "these nations might not be able to resist the encrochment of totalitarian pressures."

"We must not let friendly nations go by default," he said as the audience applauded.

Prosecutor Named In Ballot Frauds

WASHINGTON, June 17 — (AP) — Attorney General Clark announced today he had named Richard K. Phelps, a veteran prosecutor of election frauds, to go after any persons who violated federal law in the Democratic primary in Kansas City last summer.

In that primary, Enos Axtell defeated Roger Slaughter for nomination to Congress from the Fifth Missouri District. Axtell was President Truman's choice over the then incumbent Slaughter. Senator Kem (R-Mo.) has accused Clark of dodging his duty to prosecute the alleged frauds.

Clark said that he has asked Phelps to confer with Federal Judges in Missouri to consider a Federal Grand Jury investigation.

A state grand jury has indicated 71 persons, saying that Axtell's primary victory was due to frauds. He lost in the general election to Republican Albert L. Reeves, Jr.

Earlier in the case, the Justice Department decided there was no evidence of federal law violations.

Phelps, 57, is a former United States Attorney for Western Missouri. He helped win convictions of some 250 persons involved in voting irregularities charged to members of the Tom Pendergast organization in Kansas City in 1926.

In his new assignment he will have the title of special assistant to the attorney general. Clark's office said he has been given "full and complete authority" to conduct any prosecutions he thinks are warranted.

Little Acquitted Of Maltreatment Charge By Navy

Accused Of Cruelty In Jap Prison Camp

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — The Navy announced today that Lt. Comdr. Edward N. Little has been acquitted of charges of "maltreatment" of fellow Americans in a Japanese prison camp where he was senior officer.

Beyond saying that Little was acquitted of all three charges against him, the Navy said nothing. The court martial has been meeting in secret for four months.

Charges Defined

The Navy identified the main allegations against Little as:

Maltreatment of a person subject to his orders.

Conduct to the prejudice of good order and disicpline.

Conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Allied Headquarters in Tokyo identified Little as having been mess officer at the Japanese camp 17-B at Omuta, Fokuota, on Kyushu. He was then a lieutenant and senior in rank among the prisoners. Under conventions covering prisoners of war the others were under his orders.

Tokyo dispatches said Capt. Isao Fukuhara, commander of the camp, told a military court in February, 1946, that a Lieutenant E. N. Little had requested punishment of a fellow prisoner for stealing bread.

Fukuhaa said Little was in charge of the kitchen and was responsible for preventing pilfering and punishing offenders.

The Japanese officer named the prisoner punished for stealing bread as Pvt. William H. Knight of Warsaw, N. Y. An affidavit from another witness said Knight died of torture while in the guardhouse, but did not say whether it was on the occasion when he was jailed for stealing.

Requests Private Trial

The Navy did not announce what the charges against Little were until the dispatches arrived quoting records in Japan. Navy Regulations provide that in a court martial case the defendant can waive public trial if he chooses, which Little did.

Little, from Decatur, Ill., won the Silver Star for gallantry before the fall of the Philippines and his capture on Corregidor. Navy records show that he was released from the prison camp in October, 1945, and was in the Naval hospital at Oakland, Calif., until January 24, 1946.

Little served as an enlisted man before entering the Naval Academy in 1926.

Chrysler-UAW Labor Dispute Is Settled

DETROIT, June 17—(AP)—A labor dispute figuring in the idleness of nearly 6,000 Chrysler workers was reported settled tonight by the corporation after a two-day stalemate.

Chrysler said a protest over the layoff of a worker who was charged with careless use of materials would be handled through normal contract precedures with the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

The company's DeSoto operations in the Wyoming Avenue Plant, employing nearly 3,000 men, had been halted for two days by a strike. Another 3,000 at two other plants had been affected indirectly for a time.

Receives Last Rites

COHASSET, Mass., June 17. (AP)—Mayor James M. Curley of Boston today asked and received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church on his hospital bed while in Washington authorities prepared to put into effect a six to 18 months mail fraud sentence.

Committed To Hospital

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 17. (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Stuart B. Allen, acquitted last week of the hammer slaying of a sexton in his foster father's church on the ground of insanity, was committed to a state hospital today by the Circuit Court.

Sulyok Says Hungary Is Police State

Freedom Party Head Calls Off Speeches

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 17 (AP)—Dezso Sulyok declared today that Communist brawlers who broke up a freedom Party rally yesterday in Szeged had proved his point that Hungary was a police state. And said he would schedule no more speeches unless his party is guaranteed freedom of assembly.

The outspoken Freedno Party leader, who has defied the Communists ever since they engineered last month's coup d'etat, said he had written a letter to the Allied Control Commission asking that his party be accorded the same liberty of expression as that enjoyed by the Communists.

Commission Approved Party

The Control Commission for Hungary—composed of British, Russian and American representatives—sanctioned the formation of the Freedom Party last year.

The Commission, dominated by its Russian member, meets tomorrow in what may be the most stirring session of its two-year history.

Among other things on the agenda is the deposition which the Russians say they took from Bela Kovacs, former secretary general of the Smallholders Party. The Russians said the testimony implicated former Prime Minister Ference Nagy and Bela Varga, former speaker of the House, in a plot to overthrow the Hungarian Republic.

The British and American members have tried in vain to see this deposition which wound up in Nagy's resigning under what he said was a trumped up charge, and Varga fleeing.

A reliable informant said tonight that Varga was now safe outside Hungary, and was living in a Jesuit monastery. The informant said he had received a letter from Varga, the first definite information from the No. 2 official in the Nagy regime since he fled 16 days ago.

Sulyok said he was cancelling all political speeches, including one scheduled for the near future in Mistolc, because he did not want to run the risk of any more clashes with the Communists. Members of his party, he added, felt that such riots might "start a civil war."

Belief Is Confirmed

Yesterday's clash at Szeged, Sulyok asserted, "confirmed what I openly declared in Parliament" — that Hungary was a police state where there was no freedom of speech or assembly.

Communist party Newspapers gave a different version of yesterday's brawl, at which British and American newsmen saw Communists, armed with weighted hoses and brass knuckles, attack Freedom Party members.

The newspapers said the clash was a "scandalous fight organized by Sulyok's SS guardists."

Sulyok accused the ministry of industry of invalidating an election held yesterday in Szeged by the Tjadesmen's Guild, and said the Freedom Party had polled 78 per cent of the votes.

Meanwhile, Deputy Premier Matyas Rakosi, Communist leader, issued a statement to the Communist Press denying he had said that "the brave and iron-fisted Communist party" had gained control of Hungary. This statement was attributed to him in the recent American note on Hungary

U. N. Hears Plans Of Jewish Agency

JERUSALEM, June 17—(AP)—The Jewish Agency laid its preliminary claims for a Jewish Palestine state before the United Nations Commission on the Holy Land today, as the 11-nation body held its first formal open hearing ami flashing photographic bulbs and ceremonious introductions.

Moshe Shertok, 53-year-old Russian-born political chieftain of the agency, presented a series of figures and documents and reviewed Jewish accomplishments in Palestine.

"This should not be regarded as the presentation of our case but merely as a factual and statistical introduction to it," he said.

Union Motorcades Head For Capital

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — President Truman, winner over the Republican majority in Congress on his tax bill veto, returned to the Capital tonight avowedly undecided whether to try it again on the Labor Bill.

The President, leaving Princeton University where he received an honorary degree today, told reporters "I haven't made up my mind" whether there will be a veto on the union-curbing Taft-Hartley Measure.

When his train pulled in here at 5:25 p. m. (EST) Mr. Truman had nothing to add to his Princeton comments. He has until Friday midnight to make his decision.

Hears Of House Action

Told that the House failed to override his veto of the tax bill, he said "that's two more votes than I expected. I am deeply grateful that the House upheld the veto of the tax bill".

"Will you be equally gratified if the House upholds the veto of the Labor Bill?" the President was asked.

"I am not sure that there is going to be a veto of the labor bill," the President replied. "I haven't made up my mind yet."

Mass Union Protest Meetings Are Planned

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP) — Motorcades of AFL and CIO unionists converged on Washington tonight in a demonstration against the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill, now awaiting Presidential action.

Spokesmen said 3,000 to 4,000 union members were involved in the movement toward the Capital.

A mass meeting in Turner's Arena, where wrestling and other sports events are held in the winter season, was scheduled for tonight. Tomorrow the unionists will visit members of Congress to emphasize their opposition to the Labor Relations Bill.

On Wednesday night, the group will be addressed at the new Wylvan Theater in Washington's monument grounds by several members of Congress.

The movement started in Los Angeles, where 60 cars representing the AFL Central Labor Council left more than a week ago. Delegations from other areas joined the trek.

All of them, including motorcades from New York and Philadelphia, had a rendezvous in Frederick, Md., before the grand push into Washington tonight.

Ministers Protest

Meanwhile, a statement from 642 religious leaders urging "a vigorous veto message" against the Labor Bill was presented at the White House by a delegation of clergymen.

The statement declared the labor legislation would "violate human freedoms essential to the ethics of both Democracy and religion." It added that the bill would make the government a "ready instrument of employer resistance to legitimate needs of workers."

The delegation was made up of the Rev. John Duffy of New York City, Rabbi Ira Sud of Arlington, Va., Father Charles Owen Rice of Pittsburgh, and the Rev. Sheldon Rahn, Secretary of the National Clergymen's Committee on the Taft-Hartley Bill.

Russian Marks Cost U. S. $250,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 17 — (AP) — The United States Army went $250,000,000 into the hole redeeming German paper marks as the Russians busily turned them out on plates furnished by the United States, Howard C. Petersen, Assistant Secretary of War, informed Senators today.

He added that "so far as he knows" the Russians are still printing the occupation money, and declared that the Soviets have blocked all efforts at currency reform in Germany.

However, he added that the American taxpayers won't lose because the Army will make up for the $250,000,000 by turning the marks over to the Germans in payment for labor, etc.

But Senators who questioned him at a joint session of three Senate Committees were not so sure.

6 Federal Whisky Tasters Don't Like Stuff They Are Sampling

WASHINGTON, June 17—(AP)—It takes all kinds of workers to make up a U. S. government.

Such as whisky-tasters.

Six of these snort-samplers work for the Internal Revenue Bureau.

But don't get the idea they do their chores while lolling around in exclusive grog shops. No, they toil in a stuffy laboratory, and whisky-tasting is only a small part of their many tasks.

A fellow over at the Internal Revenue Office told a reporter today that his department both taxes and regulates the sale of intoxicating beverages.

Most of the liquor can be tested chemically. It's only occasionally that the most delicate mechanism of all, human taste buds, must be employed.

Did any chemist ever work so hard he needed radar to find the way home?

"No," said the I. R. Man, and he explained why. "The kind of stuff we get is so bad nobody could possibly want to drink it."

Precautions Against Tick Fever Are Listed By Health Officials

BALTIMORE, Md., June 17 (AP) Marylanders were offered a set of rules today to follow this summer in guarding against tick fever.

Both State and Baltimore Health Officials warned vacationists the ticks probably won't spare any county in the state and contact with them may cause death or serious illness from the fever—also known as Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

An average of one in every 300 insects is infected, they pointed out, but the disease may result either from a bite or carelessness in removing them. They advised plucking ticks from the skin with tweezers or rubber gloves, and dousing the skin with an antiseptic.

Other suggestions were to look yourself over carefully twice a day when in a tick-populated section, spray with creosote any under growth or other places where ticks thrive, keep the grass mowed and kill field mice and other likely insect carriers.

Don't squeeze the little pests after extracting them. The poisons thus released might be absorbed through a scratch or other body opening.

Repairs Completed To Phone Cable

Normal long distance telephone service east of Cumberland was restored yesterday when repairs were completed to a cable through which a bullet was fired Monday night.

The break occurred at a spot about two miles west of Hancock, and telephone company officials said a farmer probably had shot at a bird and hit the cable. They said the incident was not reported to police.

Russians Reward German Teachers

BERLIN. (AP)—One of the handsomest opportunities for Germans in the Russian occupation zone is to become teachers of the Russian language.

Courses for such teachers are not only free but they carry handsome bonuses, and an intensive recruiting drive is being conducted.

Recently a school in the province of Brandenburg announced that it had increased its enrollment for April by 200 to 300 students ranging in age from 17 to 45 years.

The school announced through the Potsdam newspaper Volk Stimme that students receive a monthly stipend of $5 to $15. In addition, they rate the food ration card granted to the heaviest-type laborers.

1756 Town House Still Going Places

CANTERBURY, N. H. (AP)—The Canterbury Town House still is being pushed around, after 191 years.

Built in 1756, the building served many years as a town hall and church for various denominations. In 1758 it was moved to a better location across the road from the cemetery.

Now a new village church is being planned and the town house has been rolled out of the way again—and back toward the cemetery.

Judges To Sentence Bruce Davis Today

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson, will go to Hagerstown today, to sit with Judge Joseph D. Mish when sentence is pronounced on Bruce Davis, 32, convicted of killing his mistress, Florence McAllister, 29.

Davis, a Kingsport, Tenn., airplane mechanic, was convicted of a hammer-slaying of the McAllister woman on last Thanksgiving Day. Her battered body was found by relatives near Burtonsville, Md., December 10.

Repairs Completed To Phone Cable

Normal long distance telephone service east of Cumberland was restored yesterday when repairs were completed to a cable through which a bullet was fired Monday night.

The break occurred at a spot about two miles west of Hancock, and telephone company officials said a farmer probably had shot at a bird and hit the cable. They said the incident was not reported to police.

Russians Reward German Teachers

BERLIN. (AP)—One of the handsomest opportunities for Germans in the Russian occupation zone is to become teachers of the Russian language.

Courses for such teachers are not only free but they carry handsome bonuses, and an intensive recruiting drive is being conducted.

Recently a school in the province of Brandenburg announced that it had increased its enrollment for April by 200 to 300 students ranging in age from 17 to 45 years.

The school announced through the Potsdam newspaper Volk Stimme that students receive a monthly stipend of $5 to $15. In addition, they rate the food ration card granted to the heaviest-type laborers.

1756 Town House Still Going Places

CANTERBURY, N. H. (AP)—The Canterbury Town House still is being pushed around, after 191 years.

Built in 1756, the building served many years as a town hall and church for various denominations. In 1758 it was moved to a better location across the road from the cemetery.

Now a new village church is being planned and the town house has been rolled out of the way again—and back toward the cemetery.

Davis, a Kingsport, Tenn., airplane mechanic, was convicted of a hammer-slaying of the McAllister woman on last Thanksgiving Day. Her battered body was found by relatives near Burtonsville, Md., December 10.

What's Back of the Big Swing to Nash?

EVERYWHERE today, the swing is to Nash.

You see it on the highway and you see it in your neighborhood. Car after car is a sparkling new Nash.

You see it in every city. The best dealers are handling Nash.

And listen to the "talk" about cars. It's about the beauty and power of the Nash Ambassador.

It's about the flashing new performance of the 1947 Nash "600." The never-before-equalled big car economy of 25 to 30 miles on a gallon, at moderate highway speed.

The talk is about Nash "Conditioned Air"—automatic fresh air heat and ventilation . . . that banishes cold, dust, drafts and smoke from motoring forever!

The talk is about the amazing new construction of a Nash "600." The single-unit body-and-frame . . . immeasurably stronger and quieter.

The talk is about the room in a Nash—the doors that are so wide, the extra head-room, seat-room, leg-room. The back seat that's so large it can be made into a big comfortable double-bed.

The talk is about the new, easy handling of a Nash . . . and the wonderful ride of coil-springing on all four wheels.

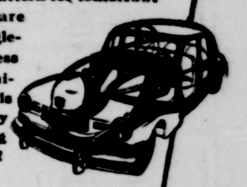

Yes—and the talk is about value. For this sensational 1947 Nash "600" is in the low price field.

This, then is why Nash popularity is now breaking all records.

See your dealer now, and see the difference that's making Nash America's outstanding automobile.

The Unitized Body-and-Frame

Product of Nash research and engineering, the new Unitized body-frame construction sets the pattern for tomorrow. Frame and body are welded into a single-girdered unit. Useless dead weight is eliminated. 8000 spot welds eliminate weak body bolts and noise-making joints. Stronger! Safer!

SKETCH IN BLACK

Seldom do I use a reader's letter for life pours by me in such a vast flood from every part of our land that others' comments seem superfluous. But a letter came today which seems to touch our mortal fear and confusion of its very heart. It comes from the South where so many of use believe racial intolerance is localized. But that is no longer true. Every state in America deals with every race on earth. Here is how one social worker in the State Department of Public Welfare in Texas has dealt with this problem. I print it in the words in which Elsie Glenn of Eastland, Texas, set it down.

Sketch In Black

Amanda's utter poise struck me first. I did not know that one of the richest spiritual experiences of my life awaited me in this charming black girl.

This is the South. Amanda had waited in a back seat in the waiting room until she was brought to my office. She was applying for Aid to Dependent Children for her three youngsters. The fact that none of them had the same father was no cause for alarm to Amanda nor could I let it be to me. As social worker I am prepared for tragedy and comedy.

I remember it was late in the day and I was worn out. I looked at her sitting across from my desk and her great black eyes looked steadily back into mine. Her hands were clasped loosely in her lap. There was something in her utter quietness that brought to me a grateful realization of peace. We did not talk a great deal, Amanda and I. We did not need to. There are times like that.

There is not much to tell except that all the ancient wisdom of her race was in her sensitive, finely modeled face, the graceful lines of her body, her refinement of manner and spirit. Her soft face burdened, yet comforted me as she told me of her lack of education, of her 14-year-old daughter's anxious plan for high school. In this part of the South education for Negroes at present stops in the seventh grade. She explained that the child would work in the cotton fields this summer to help pay for her education. Heartache and perfect understanding were in her words.

There was so little I could say. We spoke of Paul Robeson, Marion Anderson, Dr. Carver. Pride and wistfulness reflected in her smile. I always carry a small black cross with me. It was lying on the desk between Amanda and me. Timidly her hand reached out and caressed the ebony. Her gentle, dark face seemed to draw strength from it.

In that fleeting moment Amanda's soul and mind, both white, bowed in benediction. Then she was gone as silently as she had come.

I reached out for the cross her black hand had blessed and my heart wept bitterly for all the Amandas in the world.

Voters Won't Forget Veto Of Tax Bill

President Truman's veto of the Tax Bill yesterday was not a surprise to hardly anyone, but it was CERTAINLY a disappointment to some 50 million taxpayers in this country. The bill, had it become a law, would have lightened the burdens of American income taxpayers by from 10.5 per cent to 30 per cent, but Mr. Truman said, "no, you can't have any tax reduction now," calling it the "wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time."

Of course it won't be any great surprise to anyone that in 1948, a presidential election year, will be the right time so far as Mr. Truman is concerned and he no doubt then will offer the country what he considers the right kind of tax reduction.

There isn't any doubt in the minds of most fair-minded Americans that last November the citizens of this nation "VOTED FOR" tax reduction, among other things when they elected Republican majorities in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. No one can say that the Republicans did not do their best to give the people relief from the heavy tax burden and tried to fulfill their campaign promises of last fall.

The President's statement that one of the reasons he was vetoing the bill is because the man with a low income does not get as large a reduction in dollars as the man with a higher income is absurd. Of course the man with a larger income keeps more dollars if the tax rate is reduced, even on a sliding scale—he had more to start with.

The Treasury will have a surplus of more than a billion dollars on June 30 and a surplus of at least eight billions is indicated for next year—but the President denies taxpayers any relief from wartime rates. This administration does not need the huge revenues which are pouring into the Treasury for actual expenditures, and its an undisputable fact that the more money an administration gets the more it spends and wastes.

The American people are sick and tired of that old New Deal principle of "spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect" but it looks like President Truman thinks it will work at least once more. Well, this paper doesn't think the American voters are going to fall for that line of "baloney" again and we predict they will remember on election day in November 1948 that Harry S. Truman was the ONE MAN who kept 50 million taxpayers from getting any relief from heavy taxes and that HE continued to make us DIG DOWN into our pockets and continue to pay money to the government which it does not need.

Take a good look, folks—this must be the business panic "economists" predicted would engulf the country this summer.

Farley Explains

One of the most historically important breaks in the history of American party politics is explained in Collier's by one of the two men who could tell the whole story. This man is James A. Farley.

The drifting apart came to a climax when Farley, who had sparked the political organization behind Roosevelt's first two elections, let his own name go before the Democratic convention in 1940. His account shows no bitterness. There is, in fact, no capacity for bitterness in his personality. That helps to account for his success as a political party leader.

The split stemmed from the Roosevelt proposal to make over the United States Supreme Court. The President wanted men on the court who would be sympathetic to the New Deal as it was concocted by the Hopkins group.

Although Farley no doubt knew from the start of the campaign against the court that the President would loose, he did what he could to win Senate votes. He failed to line up the necessary Southern Democrats, but the President, with more power and more to offer, could do no better. Farley then declined to back the President's attempted primary purge of the court plan opponents.

Perhaps the judgment of historians will be that the split was really between Roosevelt and his party. Farley is a party man. Faithful as he was to Roosevelt's political ambitions, he could not renounce his party's obligations to give the benefit of his prestige and friendships to a President in the hands of the Hopkins crowd.

In time, Henry A. Wallace took over the Hopkins job. Today he is trying to widen the split.

How is that Truman drive to expunge Communists from the Government payroll progressing? Are there any expungees?

Men's Styles

Revealing news flashes concerning women's styles for next fall are released from time to time, the gist of which is that they will be so different that last winter's duds will not be wearable. That, of course, is the perennial objective of the women's clothing industry, and all reports are that the objective will be reached come autumn.

But, until now, there has not been the faintest whisper of what men will wear as winter approaches. But now it is possible to make some predictions, and they are appended hereto. It should be borne in mind that these are predictions, and that they have not been confirmed by Truman at a press conference.

Men, it can be told, will wear—come winter—suits consisting of a coat and a pair of trousers and, in some instances, a vest. A colorful innovation in many of these garments will be small squares of cloth here and there of brighter hues than the main part of the suits. Shirts will be of various color combinations, with hand-rubbed collars and cuffs that will give a rough fabric effect in contrast to the shiny patina on various parts of the suit.

Shoes, in the main, will be of a quality of leather fully as good as the best and most expensive paper. The shoe industry has discovered by bitter experience since the war that the male of the species simply will not pay more than $25 a pair for shoes of material that cannot compare favorably in quality with paper.

That is all that can be revealed now of men's styles for autumn, except that an occasional hombre will be seen on the street with a strange-looking contraption on the head fashioned of felt or some material resembling felt. These will be the object of curious glances from passersby.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

HOSPITALS CANNOT BE NURSING HOMES

MOST hospitals are crowded and many have a long waiting list. The situation is not good and patients as well as physicians would like to see a change. At the present time, the best that can be done is to give preference to the seriously ill.

One Chicago hospital with 625 beds decided to do something about it and began by taking a census of their patients. More than 139 had been guests for over eight weeks; some for more than a year. The superintendent talked to the physicians in charge of these men and women to find out the nature of the ailments and whether treatment could be continued at home. Within a few weeks, three-quarters were discharged.

This eased the burden of the institution as it was then able to take an equal number of new people. Since the average stay of surgical cases is 12 days, this greater turnover permitted a much larger group to receive attention. However, a year later, the waiting list had again piled up. But meanwhile, more members of the community had been cared for.

What about the individuals who had been discharged? The majority had chronic disorders which hardly demanded the facilities of the hospital in question. Many were oldsters and some showed the effects of senility. Others had arthritis or were disabled as a result of a stroke months or years previously.

Victims of such afflictions are handicapped and have difficulty in caring for themselves. They must rely upon their families but often this is a hardship for their children. When Martha is forced to nurse her sick father she must neglect her husband and children. To do the job right requires all of her strength and, before long, signs of strain become evident. In addition, there is no leisure time and the home environment becomes tense and unhappy. Help is hard to obtain and even when workers are hired, much time must still be allotted to the courtesies necessary when there is an invalid in the household.

If funds are available, a hospital solves the problem. But there are many kinds and, to be fair, one must be selected that is best suited to the individual requirements. A general hospital should not be filled with chronic patients, as ordinary illnesses and emergencies would have to be neglected This may sound cruel but the line must be drawn somewhere

Martha's father should be in a nursing home or place that can handle the infirm. Unfortunately, there are too few accommodations of the type. Furthermore, many of the institutions that exist today must be made more attractive if they are to lose the stigma now attached to them. Altho most of the elderly do not wish to be a burden to their children, they are not overly anxious to go to a strange place where they do not know anybody. But if adequate provisions could be made they would probably change their minds. Something must be done as the problem is becoming more acute each year. People are living longer and are developing maladies which are partially incapacitating and demand a longer convalescence.

I've just finished by ninth season on the air, and I feel sure I've done a good job.

So good, that my picture was used on the cover of the Cucamonga Poultry Growers Gazette for breaking the egg laying record for 1946-1947.

My sponsor didn't seem happy with my work and I told him I was the country's wit. He was stubborn at first, but finally conceded it was true for 24 of the states.

The sponsor offered me a new kind of deal for next season. He said he'd give me 5 dollars every time I made people laugh. I told him this is no time to cash in war bonds.

But being the comedian on one of the nation's most popular radio shows is a gruelling and exacting business. I should know. I sat and listened all night to Jack Benny complaining about it.

I'm really tired. This season I've told so many jokes to radio audiences, I wore out 12 feathers.

My listeners have asked me how, week in and week out, they hear those screams of laughter coming over their radio. I'll reveal the secret now. Small studio, big family.

But I'm so in the habit of making jokes out of everything that every time I tell my producer at Paramount I want romantic parts, he laughs at me.

Just to give you an idea how jokehappy I've become one chap asked me if I saw "High Barrabee" and I said, "I'm not interested in the fellow who cuts Gary Cooper's hair."

Chicago Realtors Violate Rent Rules, Pearson Says; Senator White Rebuffed Again; Congressmen Oppose Advertising America, Washington Writer Asserts

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Leaders of the Chicago real estate industry have recently issued amazing advice to landlords—namely, that they should deliberately disregard the law and raise rents regardless of government regulations.

Real estate leaders point out—in a confidential bulletin not supposed to be read by the public—that "the-government is now relying almost wholly on tenant enforcement of rent control regulation.".

Therefore, Chicago landlords are advised: "The only possibility for relief now seems to lie in the direction of DELIBERATE DISREGARD for the regulations." The underlining is not ours. It's supplied by the Chicago realtors.

They go on to hint that one good way to help raise rents illegally is to get the Republican Congress to hold down congressional appropriations for the government agency replacing the OPA.

"If the appropriation for OPA's successor is held at low levels," the confidential real estate letter advises, "tenants in possession will enforce their rent ceilings. But new tenancy arrangements will be made in increasing numbers at illegal rates."

This advice to flout the law is given in the "market letter of the Chicago Real Estate Boards," accompanied by this caution: "Warning! the value of this letter lies in its being confidential advice."

No wonder they want it to be confidential!

Slapping Down Mr. White

Meek and mild Senator Wallace White of Maine, the Senate Majority leader, has just been given another rebuff by the GOP colleagues who elected him. No wonder he won't run for re-election.

All during this session of Congress, White has patiently put up with having Senator Bob Taft poke him from behind to tell him what to do. But the final and most galling blow came recently, when West Virginia's one-term Senator Revercomb bested White in a jurisdictional dispute.

The question was: should the interstate Commerce Committee of which White is chairman, or the Public Works Committee of which Revercomb is chairman, handle a nomination to the Federal Power Commission—primarily, the nomination of Burton K. Behling as a power commissioner.

For years the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee has considered Federal Power Commission nominations. In fact, it has handled them ever since the Power Commission was established. However, Revercomb demanded jurisdiction on the ground that his Public Works Committee was handling waterpower and kindred legislation. Finally Revercomb wangled an opinion from the Senate Parliamentarian supporting him.

After a brief backstage skirmish with White, Revercomb won out. As Senate Majority leader, White tells friends he will not take this humiliating defeat lying down. White may even demand a showdown on the Senate floor.

Note: After all the furious jousting over the FPC nomination, molasses-moving Revercomb hasn't lifted a finger to clear Behling's name through his committee for Senate confirmation. He has been sitting placidly on the nomination for over a month.

Henry Wallace's Front

When Clark Foreman, president of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare, heard that the House Un-American Affairs Committee intended to brand his organization as a "front" for Communism, he went to see Congressman Herbert Bonner of North Carolina, a member of the committee, and charged that the committee had deliberately timed its report to appear a day before Henry Wallace's Washington speech.

"The coincidence is too remarkable to pass unnoticed," Foreman declared. "Obviously your report was timed to hurt Wallace."

Bonner shrugged.

"It had nothing to do with Wallace," was all he said.

Then Foreman demanded that the report be held up until the conference had a chance for a full hearing.

"It looks like a smear-and-run campaign to me," he accused.

"The report contains nothing but names and evidence of your affiliations," Bonner shot back. "You can run around with whomever you please, but don't squeal and squinch about it."

Foreman considered blocking the Sunday release by court order, but his lawyers decided against it. They could find no precedent for enjoining a congressional committee.

Guam-Like Congressmen

In 1939 a vote occurred in the Congress which for a long time the Democrats would not let the Republicans forget. It was for the fortification of Guam, which the Roosevelt Administration warned was necessary as a precaution against Pacific aggression.

Thanks to Republican opposition, the fortification of Guam was defeated. And those votes have come back to plague Republican candidates at almost every election since. In fact, many of the GOP congressmen who voted against Guam have since been defeated.

At present, another vote is being taken which history may chalk up as a second Guam. It is the vote on the bill of far-sighted GOP Congressman Mundt of South Dakota authorizing the United States to conduct propaganda abroad.

Times have changed since 1939, and today no fortification of Guam or any other area is going to help much when it comes to defense against the atom bomb. In fact, methods of warfare have been so revolutionized that the nation likely to win the next war is the nation which can win the enemy. In other words, propaganda and the political underground may count more than artillery and foot soldiers.

Yet, despite the obvious fact that every first-class nation must have its own propaganda office, certain Guam - minded congressmen have been trying to tell the State Department that it must conduct our foreign relations with an ambassador as our sole propaganda agent.

Pettengill Says Not Many Workers Oppose Labor Bill

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

How many labor union members (not the bosses) will weep bitterly if Truman signs the Labor Bill? Not so many, I think.

As far back as 1940, Fortune Magazine took a poll of working men only. Here is what workers thought of the way the bosses ran their unions seven years ago!

35% either thought unions did more harm than good, or were not needed in the majority of cases.

27% thought that all, or most, unions were run by racketeers.

Only 21% thought no unions were the victims of rackets.

55% were against picketing.

20% thought that all, or most, unions used violence to force men to join.

Only 17% thought that all, or most, unions were run with absolute honesty.

8% thought that all, or most, unions were dominated by Communists.

40% thought that dues and admission fees were too high.

On the question: "Who has been most helpful to Labor?" the answer was surprising. It was not a union man at all. He was Henry Ford. He got more than twice as many votes as John L. Lewis, and this was from working men themselves.

In May, 1941, Gallup took another poll (not confined to working men only) on the question, whether there was too much power in government, or in the big corporations, or in the hands of labor leaders. The answer was that labor leaders had too much power; and this came from those in the lower income brackets as well as from the public generally.

In June, 1941, Gallup polled the public on the question: "Are you in favor of the closed shop, that is, requiring every worker to belong to a union before he can be hired?" 77% voted against the closed shop; only 13% favored it, and 10% had no opinion.

In January, 1942, right after Pearl Harbor, Gallup asked whether in time of war the government should have the right to assign workers to their jobs and fix their wages and hours. 64% of the workers voted "Yes."

Contrast this with a statement by the Executive Committee of the United Steel Workers, C. I. O., when the War Labor Board granted a 44c a day wage increase. The statement read: "Our government says we work or fight. We agree. For a dollar a day wage adjustment we work. If not, we fight."

Another poll showed that 68% of union members were opposed to the check-off. 78% of union members thought there should be a 60 day cooling off period before a strike could begin on a national defense project. 78% of union members also thought no strikes should be called, except on a majority vote of the men by secret ballot.

Contrast this patriotic, level-headed attitude of the rank and file workers with the position taken by the labor bosses who deny that anything is wrong on the labor front, who oppose any change in the law that gave them the powers they have abused, and whose shrill cries about "slave labor" legislation now fill the air. Here are a few of their choice epithets: "legalistic skullduggery," "murderous assault," "chaos," "pattern for slavery," "butcher shop operation," turns back the clock a century," etc.

"Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad." It is an old story. When other bills to regulate the stock market, or the utilities, or to break the grip of monopolies or trusts have been before Congress, we have heard the same prophecies of doom. People drunk with power still insist on making themselves ridiculous.

These figures seem to prove two things: The nation can trust the good sense of the workers, if not of their professional leaders, and second, President Truman will make no mistake if he signs that bill.

Tax Reduction Certain To Be Issue In 1948 Campaign

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Truman's veto of the tax bill may cost him the 1948 election. He mistakenly thought, no doubt, that he would gain politically by the veto.

Today the Republicans are jubilant, for they have been handed on a platter an issue that can win for them no matter who their candidate may be.

What the President said to 46,000,000 taxpayers was that they couldn't have a tax reduction because he wanted to fix the tax rates and didn't recognize the right of a majority in Congress to do so.

In all American history no tax bill passed by both Houses has ever failed to become law. Only one has been vetoed heretofore, but it was overridden by Congress. If the pending tax bill is killed because it cannot muster two-thirds in both Houses, it will bring a tremendous change in legislative practice.

The arbitrary use of the veto to defeat the will of a majority in Congress will lead to the arbitrary use of the rider attached to other necessary legislation. The majority would be well justified in attaching the Tax Bill to any of the current appropriation bills, if only to assert the historic right of Congress to write legislation that raises revenues and fixes tax rates.

When Mr. Truman tells the taxpayers who were to be granted a 30 per cent reduction that they can't have it because someone with a higher income is getting a 10 per cent reduction, he is misjudging human nature if he thinks this will please the vast number of taxpayers in the lower brackets to whom every dollar of saving is consequential and who do not feel they should be punished because Mr. Truman wants to play the demogogue. The President is, in effect, arguing for the communistic doctrine which seeks to level all incomes irrespective of brains or thrift.

The President says that he vetoed the bill because it is "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time." This phrase will become famous in political history as the prize boner of the age. For it implies plainly that the wrong kind of tax reduction will be all right at the right time—presumably next year when the presidential campaign is in the offing and when presumably Mr. Truman can strive for political credit even for the "wrong kind of tax reduction."

But next year the Congress will pass the same kind of tax bill it did this year except that it will be even more unpalatable for Mr. Truman to sign, and when he signs it, he will make his message of this week look rather ridiculous.

The damage Mr. Truman did in vetoing the tax bill will not be apparent right away. It will be apparent in the "recession" that could conceivably be ushered in as a consequence of his blunder, and it would be felt throughout the world.

For Mr. Truman, by his action this week, may have killed all chance of helping the world trade situation and European rehabilitation. Export trade that has been booming may decline severely. Then there would surely be a recession. The Republicans, so many of whom don't want to vote more billions to Europe, now have been given a very strong excuse—Mr. Truman's own words. For the President said:

With the present huge public debt, it is of first importance that every effort now be made to reduce the debt as much as possible."

This means that debt reduction is, in the President's opinion, paramount. There are plenty of Republicans who will take him at his word. They will not vote billions for Europe while a Democratic President denies tax relief to the American people.

Unfortunately the Truman message, while intended to play politics in order to gain support from the "Left Wing," really will prove a boomerang with the average man who will not understand why the $40 or $50 savings with the average man will not understand why the $40 or $50 savings he was to get are now denied him. To lose a 30 percent tax reduction is more serious in the lower brackets than to forego a 10 per cent reduction in the higher brackets.

There is a surplus of more than a billion dollars coming on June 30 and a surplus of at least eight billions is indicated for next year—yet Mr. Truman is denying the taxpayers any relief from wartime rates.

The Republicans ought not to adjourn without passing another Tax Bill—this one to be effective January 1, 1948, and giving an even greater reduction in rates to individuals in the lower brackets. If Congress surrenders to the executive its authority to fix tax rates, the legislative branch of the government would be surrendering also the independence it has exercised for more than 160 years.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

NEW YORK mayors are generally publicists first and administrators when they have time out between dinners, entertaining visiting foreigners, making profound statements on trivial subjects, and personal appearances in unnecessary places.

The late Jimmy Walker was a grand master of mayoral by-products. He was everywhere, it seemed, at the same time and everywhere delivered an address which was packed with humor. Jimmy Walker was extraordinarily popular and could undoubtedly have been re-elected because the people loved him. When he returned to the United States from exile, Dave Dubinsky gave him a job.

Fiorello La Guardia, familiarly known as "The Little Flower" or "Butch," made more noise than all the mayors New York has had in this century. He was not only a noisy mayor but an obstreperous one. He not only quarreled with everybody but he made the quarrels amusing for the populace. He was colorful and knew how to make the folks believe that he was immaculately honest even though he occasionally stretched a point for practical reasons, as, for instance, turning Harlem into a vote-producing Negro ghetto. This may have been an honest operation, but it produced frightful results for the city.

Well, "Butch" went his way writing advertising copy for a furniture store and doing some minor journalistic and radio work. His principal activity now seems to be to instruct his successor, Bill O'Dwyer, in the fine art of city government. As neither possesses trained skill in this field, the comments of La Guardia on O'Dwyer and vice versa keep those interested amused no end.

Bill O'Dwyer migrated to this country from Ireland in early manhood which may be why he and the Municipal Art Commission got into a quarrel about George Washington's desk. It appear that O'Dwyer is short of office space in the City Hall, which is an architectural gem. Certain of its rooms are preserved in their original, pristine state as mementoes of a great tradition. So Bill throws the tradition out and puts in some modern desks and filing cabinets. One has to be born in a tradition for it to have roots of any depth.

However, he is a delightful person who knows how to make friends and move from nothing to something, which is better than the other way around. He started public life as a policeman and he is now a C. I. O. leader and a candidate for Governor of the State of New York. If the Constitution did not forbid such frivolity, he would compete with Henry Wallace.

O'Dwyer has taken the extraordinary position that in spite of the fact that he is Mayor of the largest city in the United States, he is also a ballyhoo artist for the C. I. O. in opposition to the Taft-Hartley bill. In New York that is good politics because the Labor Barons are opposed to the Bill, and many of them make New York their headquarters and spend their money here.

O'Dwyer apparently feels that if Tom Dewey runs for President, the Republicans will be in a bad way for a successor. Also, if Tom Dewey should not be nominated, he might not run for Governor again. Therefore, the next Democratic candidate, who could also have the support of the American Labor Party, might have a chance. He is willing to gamble on that chance.

His strategy is that whereas the Democrats will vote for a Democrat come what may, the Laborites and Communists will only vote for a Democrat if his labor record satisfies the Labor bosses. Therefore, Bill O'Dwyer aims to please them. He arranged a Municipal Veto Day and airplane sky-writers muddied the Heavens with political slogans—an innovation in this city. He issued grand pronouncements at Madison Square Garden and generally made himself abhorrent to the decent and respectable elements in the city who forget to vote, anyhow.

Bill O'Dwyer is not as amusing as either Jimmy Walker or "Butch" La Guardia. He lacks their personalities, their glamour. He lacks Jimmy's tone. But he is whacking up a good show for the citizenry who find it cheaper, after taxes, to watch their Mayor strut than to pay to hear Al Jolson sing. It is the free show that makes votes.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Singleness Of Purpose

You see no wild leaps for forward progress in nature. Nature takes time. Her processes are slow but sure. One tree doesn't worry because another outstrips it in growth. But among human beings there is ever a contest to beat out the other fellow, to make more money, to gain a more pronounced fame, or to establish a new record for speed.

Genuine and worthwhile success cannot be turned into a speed contest. Singleness of purpose, disregarding all cut-corners and cheap means for acclaim, is more to be merited today than ever before. It is the direct path to a real success.

It often takes a long time for character to earn maturity—often an entire lifetime! Why should any of us be in such a hurry to gain or attain, so long as that singleness of purpose remains as the guiding principal of our lives?

What does it matter if there are no cheers from the sidelines, so long as there are inward cheers from a satisfied conscience, and from the realization that one's happiest reward comes from a devotion to duty and to one's ideals, pursued with courage? Minding one's own business, being one's whole self, and with one's objective ever clearly set in full view—a singleness of purpose driving one on—that is a triumph worth noting!

Without the throbbing of the heart all the other great functions of the body become as nothing. So, without this singleness of purpose in life, all else results in confusion, disappointment and ignoble failure. Said Thoreau: "Every nail driven should be as another rivet in the machine of the universe, you carrying on the 'work.'

To our discoverers, our scientists, our researchers and an endless number of such who give of their time and strength, do we owe our eternal gratitude—for their singleness of purpose, regardless of all compensation, has made lasting heroes of them all. They are benefactors to all mankind. Is this not sufficient to inspire each one of us to follow their pattern?

Voters Won't Forget Veto Of Tax Bill

President Truman's veto of the Tax Bill yesterday was not a surprise to hardly anyone, but it was CERTAINLY a disappointment to some 50 million taxpayers in this country. The bill, had it become a law, would have lightened the burdens of American income taxpayers by from 10.5 per cent to 30 per cent, but Mr. Truman said, "no, you can't have any tax reduction now," calling it the "wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time."

Of course it won't be any great surprise to anyone that in 1948, a presidential election year, will be the right time so far as Mr. Truman is concerned and he no doubt then will offer the country what he considers the right kind of tax reduction.

There isn't any doubt in the minds of most fair-minded Americans that last November the citizens of this nation "VOTED FOR" tax reduction, among other things when they elected Republican majorities in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. No one can say that the Republicans did not do their best to give the people relief from the heavy tax burden and tried to fulfill their campaign promises of last fall.

The President's statement that one of the reasons he was vetoing the bill is because the man with a low income does not get as large a reduction in dollars as the man with a higher income is absurd. Of course the man with a larger income keeps more dollars if the tax rate is reduced, even on a sliding scale—he had more to start with.

The Treasury will have a surplus of more than a billion dollars on June 30 and a surplus of at least eight billions is indicated for next year—but the President denies taxpayers any relief from wartime rates. This administration does not need the huge revenues which are pouring into the Treasury for actual expenditures, and its an undisputable fact that the more money an administration gets the more it spends and wastes.

The American people are sick and tired of that old New Deal principle of "spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect" but it looks like President Truman thinks it will work at least once more. Well, this paper doesn't think the American voters are going to fall for that line of "baloney" again and we predict they will remember on election day in November 1948 that Harry S. Truman was the ONE MAN who kept 50 million taxpayers from getting any relief from heavy taxes and that HE continued to make us DIG DOWN into our pockets and continue to pay money to the government which it does not need.

Take a good look, folks—this must be the business panic "economists" predicted would engulf the country this summer.

Farley Explains

One of the most historically important breaks in the history of American party politics is explained in Collier's by one of the two men who could tell the whole story. This man is James A. Farley.

The drifting apart came to a climax when Farley, who had sparked the political organization behind Roosevelt's first two elections, let his own name go before the Democratic convention in 1940. His account shows no bitterness. There is, in fact, no capacity for bitterness in his personality. That helps to account for his success as a political party leader.

The split stemmed from the Roosevelt proposal to make over the United States Supreme Court. The President wanted men on the court who would be sympathetic to the New Deal as it was concocted by the Hopkins group.

Although Farley no doubt knew from the start of the campaign against the court that the President would loose, he did what he could to win Senate votes. He failed to line up the necessary Southern Democrats, but the President, with more power and more to offer, could do no better. Farley then declined to back the President's attempted primary purge of the court plan opponents.

Perhaps the judgment of historians will be that the split was really between Roosevelt and his party. Farley is a party man. Faithful as he was to Roosevelt's political ambitions, he could not renounce his party's obligations to give the benefit of his prestige and friendships to a President in the hands of the Hopkins crowd.

In time, Henry A. Wallace took over the Hopkins job. Today he is trying to widen the split.

How is that Truman drive to expunge Communists from the Government payroll progressing? Are there any expungees?

Men's Styles

Revealing news flashes concerning women's styles for next fall are released from time to time, the gist of which is that they will be so different that last winter's duds will not be wearable. That, of course, is the perennial objective of the women's clothing industry, and all reports are that the objective will be reached come autumn.

But, until now, there has not been the faintest whisper of what men will wear as winter approaches. But now it is possible to make some predictions, and they are appended hereto. It should be borne in mind that these are predictions, and that they have not been confirmed by Truman at a press conference.

Men, it can be told, will wear—come winter—suits consisting of a coat and a pair of trousers and, in some instances, a vest. A colorful innovation in many of these garments will be small squares of cloth here and there of brighter hues than the main part of the suits. Shirts will be of various color combinations, with hand-rubbed collars and cuffs that will give a rough fabric effect in contrast to the shiny patina on various parts of the suit.

Shoes, in the main, will be of a quality of leather fully as good as the best and most expensive paper. The shoe industry has discovered by bitter experience since the war that the male of the species simply will not pay more than $25 a pair for shoes of material that cannot compare favorably in quality with paper.

That is all that can be revealed now of men's styles for autumn, except that an occasional hombre will be seen on the street with a strange-looking contraption on the head fashioned of felt or some material resembling felt. These will be the object of curious glances from passersby.

HOSPITALS CANNOT BE NURSING HOMES

MOST hospitals are crowded and many have a long waiting list. The situation is not good and patients as well as physicians would like to see a change. At the present time, the best that can be done is to give preference to the seriously ill.

One Chicago hospital with 625 beds decided to do something about it and began by taking a census of their patients. More than 139 had been guests for over eight weeks; some for more than a year. The superintendent talked to the physicians in charge of these men and women to find out the nature of the ailments and whether treatment could be continued at home. Within a few weeks, three-quarters were discharged.

This eased the burden of the institution as it was then able to take an equal number of new people. Since the average stay of surgical cases is 12 days, this greater turnover permitted a much larger group to receive attention. However, a year later, the waiting list had again piled up. But meanwhile, more members of the community had been cared for.

What about the individuals who had been discharged? The majority had chronic disorders which hardly demanded the facilities of the hospital in question. Many were oldsters and some showed the effects of senility. Others had arthritis or were disabled as a result of a stroke months or years previously.

Victims of such afflictions are handicapped and have difficulty in caring for themselves. They must rely upon their families but often this is a hardship for their children. When Martha is forced to nurse her sick father she must neglect her husband and children. To do the job right requires all of her strength and, before long, signs of strain become evident. In addition, there is no leisure time and the home environment becomes tense and unhappy. Help is hard to obtain and even when workers are hired, much time must still be allotted to the courtesies necessary when there is an invalid in the household.

If funds are available, a hospital solves the problem. But there are many kinds and, to be fair, one must be selected that is best suited to the individual requirements. A general hospital should not be filled with chronic patients, as ordinary illnesses and emergencies would have to be neglected This may sound cruel but the line must be drawn somewhere

Martha's father should be in a nursing home or place that can handle the infirm. Unfortunately, there are too few accommodations of the type. Furthermore, many of the institutions that exist today must be made more attractive if they are to lose the stigma now attached to them. Altho most of the elderly do not wish to be a burden to their children, they are not overly anxious to go to a strange place where they do not know anybody. But if adequate provisions could be made they would probably change their minds. Something must be done as the problem is becoming more acute each year. People are living longer and are developing maladies which are partially incapacitating and demand a longer convalenscence.

So good, that my picture was used on the cover of the Cucamonga Poultry Growers Gazette for breaking the egg laying record for 1946-1947.

My sponsor didn't seem happy with my work and I told him I was the country's wit. He was stubborn at first, but finally conceded it was true for 24 of the states.

The sponsor offered me a new kind of deal for next season. He said he'd give me 5 dollars every time I made people laugh. I told him this is no time to cash in war bonds.

But being the comedian on one of the nation's most popular radio shows is a gruelling and exacting business. I should know. I sat and listened all night to Jack Benny complaining about it.

I'm really tired. This season I've told so many jokes to radio audiences, I wore out 12 feathers.

My listeners have asked me how, week in and week out, they hear those screams of laughter coming over their radio. I'll reveal the secret now. Small studio, big family.

But I'm so in the habit of making jokes out of everything that every time I tell my producer at Paramount I want romantic parts, he laughs at me.

Just to give you an idea how joke-happy I've become one chap asked me if I saw "High Barrabee" and I said, "I'm not interested in the fellow who cuts Gary Cooper's hair."

Chicago Realtors Violate Rent Rules, Pearson Says; Senator White Rebuffed Again; Congressmen Oppose Advertising America, Washington Writer Asserts

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Leaders of the Chicago real estate industry have recently issued amazing advice to landlords—namely, that they should deliberately disregard the law and raise rents regardless of government regulations.

Real estate leaders point out—in a confidential bulletin not supposed to be read by the public—that "the government is now relying almost wholly on tenant enforcement of rent control regulation."

Therefore, Chicago landlords are advised: "The only possibility for relief now seems to lie in the direction of DELIBERATE DISREGARD for the regulations." The underlining is not ours. It's supplied by the Chicago realtors.

They go on to hint that one good way to help raise rents illegally is to get the Republican Congress to hold down congressional appropriations for the government agency replacing the OPA.

"If the appropriation for OPA's successor is held at low levels," the confidential real estate letter advises, "tenants in possession will enforce their rent ceilings. But new tenancy arrangements will be made in increasing numbers at illegal rates."

This advice to flout the law is given in the "market letter of the Chicago Real Estate Boards," accompanied by this caution: "Warning! the value of this letter lies in its being confidential advice."

No wonder they want it to be confidential!

Slapping Down Mr. White

Meek and mild Senator Wallace White of Maine, the Senate Majority leader, has just been given another rebuff by the GOP colleagues who elected him. No wonder he won't run for re-election.

All during this session of Congress, White has patiently put up with having Senator Bob Taft poke him from behind to tell him what to do. But the final and most galling blow came recently, when West Virginia's one-term Senator Revercomb bested White in a jurisdictional dispute.

The question was: should the interstate Commerce Committee of which White is chairman, or the Public Works Committee of which Revercomb is chairman, handle a nomination to the Federal Power Commission—primarily, the nomination of Burton K. Behling as a power commissioner.

For years the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee has considered Federal Power Commission nominations. In fact, it has handled them ever since the Power Commission was established. However, Revercomb demanded jurisdiction on the ground that his Public Works Committee was handling water-power and kindred legislation. Finally Revercomb wangled an opinion from the Senate Parliamentarian supporting him.

After a brief backstage skirmish with White, Revercomb won out. As Senate Majority leader, White tells friends he will not take this humiliating defeat lying down. White may even demand a showdown on the Senate floor.

Note: After all the furious jousting over the FPC nomination, molasses-moving Revercomb hasn't lifted a finger to clear Behling's name through his committee for Senate confirmation. He has been sitting placidly on the nomination for over a month.

Henry Wallace's Front

When Clark Foreman, president of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare, heard that the House Un-American Affairs Committee intended to brand his organization as a "front" for Communism, he went to see Congressman Herbert Bonner of North Carolina, a member of the committee, and charged that the committee had deliberately timed its report to appear a day before Henry Wallace's Washington speech.

"The coincidence is too remarkable to pass unnoticed," Foreman declared. "Obviously your report was timed to hurt Wallace."

Bonner shrugged.

"It had nothing to do with Wallace," was all he said.

Then Foreman demanded that the report be held up until the conference had a chance for a full hearing.

"It looks like a smear-and-run campaign to me," he accused.

"The report contains nothing but names and evidence of your affiliations," Bonner shot back. "You can run around with whomever you please, but don't squeal and squinch about it."

Foreman considered blocking the Sunday release by court order, but his lawyers decided against it. They could find no precedent for enjoining a congressional committee.

Guam-Like Congressmen

In 1939 a vote occurred in the Congress which for a long time the Democrats would not let the Republicans forget. It was for the fortification of Guam, which the Roosevelt Administration warned was necessary as a precaution against Pacific aggression.

Thanks to Republican opposition, the fortification of Guam was defeated. And those votes have come back to plague Republican candidates at almost every election since. In fact, many of the GOP congressmen who voted against Guam have since been defeated.

At present, another vote is being taken which history may chalk up as a second Guam. It is the vote on the bill of far-sighted GOP Congressman Mundt of South Dakota authorizing the United States to conduct propaganda abroad.

Times have changed since 1939, and today no fortification of Guam or any other area is going to help much when it comes to defense against the atom bomb. In fact, methods of warfare have been so revolutionized that the nation likely to win the next war is the nation which can win the enemy. In other words, propaganda and the political underground may count more than artillery and foot soldiers.

Yet, despite the obvious fact that every first-class nation must have its own propaganda office, certain Guam - minded congressmen have been trying to tell the State Department that it must conduct our foreign relations with an ambassador as our sole propaganda agent.

Pettengill Says Not Many Workers Oppose Labor Bill

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

How many labor union members (not the bosses) will weep bitterly if Truman signs the Labor Bill? Not so many, I think.

As far back as 1940, Fortune Magazine took a poll of working men only. Here is what workers thought of the way the bosses ran their unions seven years ago!

35% either thought unions did more harm than good, or were not needed in the majority of cases.

27% thought that all, or most, unions were run by racketeers.

Only 21% thought no unions were the victims of rackets.

55% were against picketing.

20% thought that all, or most, unions used violence to force men to join.

Only 17% thought that all, or most, unions were run with absolute honesty.

8% thought that all, or most, unions were dominated by Communists.

40% thought that dues and admission fees were too high.

On the question: "Who has been most helpful to Labor?" the answer was surprising. It was not a union man at all. He was Henry Ford. He got more than twice as many votes as John L. Lewis, and this was from working men themselves.

In May, 1941, Gallup took another poll (not confined to working men only) on the question, whether there was too much power in government, or in the big corporations, or in the hands of labor leaders. The answer was that labor leaders had too much power; and this came from those in the lower income brackets as well as from the public generally.

In June, 1941, Gallup polled the public on the question: "Are you in favor of the closed shop, that is, requiring every worker to belong to a union before he can be hired?" 77% voted against the closed shop; only 13% favored it, and 10% had no opinion.

In January, 1942, right after Pearl Harbor, Gallup asked whether in time of war the government should have the right to assign workers to their jobs and fix their wages and hours. 64% of the workers voted "Yes."

Contrast this with a statement by the Executive Committee of the United Steel Workers, C. I. O., when the War Labor Board granted a 44c a day wage increase. The statement read: "Our government says we work or fight. We agree. For a dollar a day wage adjustment we work. If not, we fight."

Another poll showed that 68% of union members were opposed to the check-off. 78% of union members thought there should be a 60 day cooling off period before a strike could begin on a national defense project. 78% of union members also thought no strikes should be called, except on a majority vote of the men by secret ballot.

Contrast this patriotic, level-headed attitude of the rank and file workers with the position taken by the labor bosses who deny that anything is wrong on the labor front, who oppose any change in the law that gave them the powers they have abused, and whose shrill cries about "slave labor" legislation now fill the air. Here are a few of their choice epithets: "legalistic skullduggery," "murderous assault," "chaos," "pattern for slavery," "butcher shop operation," turns back the clock a century," etc.

"Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad." It is an old story. When other bills to regulate the stock market, or the utilities, or to break the grip of monopolies or trusts have been before Congress, we have heard the same prophecies of doom. People drunk with power still insist on making themselves ridiculous.

These figures seem to prove two things: The nation can trust the good sense of the workers, if not of their professional leaders, and second, President Truman will make no mistake if he signs that bill.

Tax Reduction Certain To Be Issue In 1948 Campaign

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Truman's veto of the tax bill may cost him the 1948 election. He mistakenly thought, no doubt, that he would gain politically by the veto.

Today the Republicans are jubilant, for they have been handed on a platter an issue that can win for them no matter who their candidate may be.

What the President said to 46,000,000 taxpayers was that they couldn't have a tax reduction because he wanted to fix the tax rates and didn't recognize the right of a majority in Congress to do so.

In all American history no tax bill passed by both Houses has ever failed to become law. Only one has been vetoed heretofore, but it was overridden by Congress. If the pending tax bill is killed because it cannot muster two-thirds in both Houses, it will bring a tremendous change in legislative practice.

The arbitrary use of the veto to defeat the will of a majority in Congress will lead to the arbitrary use of the rider attached to other necessary legislation. The majority would be well justified in attaching the Tax Bill to any of the current appropriation bills, if only to assert the historic right of Congress to write legislation that raises revenues and fixes tax rates.

When Mr. Truman tells the taxpayers who were to be granted a 30 per cent reduction that they can't have it because someone with a higher income is getting a 10 per cent reduction, he is misjudging human nature if he thinks this will please the vast number of taxpayers in the lower brackets to whom every dollar of saving is consequential and who do not feel they should be punished because Mr. Truman wants to play the demogogue. The President is, in effect, arguing for the communistic doctrine which seeks to level all incomes irrespective of brains or thrift.

The President says that he vetoed the bill because it is "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time." This phrase will become famous in political history as the prize boner of the age. For it implies plainly that the wrong kind of tax reduction will be all right at the right time—presumably next year when the presidential campaign is in the offing and when presumably Mr. Truman can strive for political credit even for the "wrong kind of tax reduction."

But next year the Congress will pass the same kind of tax bill it did this year except that it will be even more unpalatable for Mr. Truman to sign, and when he signs it, he will make his message of this week look rather ridiculous.

The damage Mr. Truman did in vetoing the tax bill will not be apparent right away. It will be apparent in the "recession" that could conceivably be ushered in as a consequence of his blunder, and it would be felt throughout the world.

For Mr. Truman, by his action this week, may have killed all chance of helping the world trade situation and European rehabilitation. Export trade that has been booming may decline severely. Then there would surely be a recession. The Republicans, so many of whom don't want to vote more billions to Europe, now have been given a very strong excuse—Mr. Truman's own words. For the President said:

With the present huge public debt, it is of first importance that every effort now be made to reduce the debt as much as possible."

This means that debt reduction is, in the President's opinion, paramount. There are plenty of Republicans who will take him at his word. They will not vote billions for Europe while a Democratic President denies tax relief to the American people.

Unfortunately the Truman message, while intended to play politics in order to gain support from the "Left Wing," really will prove a boomerang with the average man who will not understand why the $40 or $50 savings with the average man will not understand why the $40 or $50 savings he was to get are now denied him. To lose a 30 percent tax reduction is more serious in the lower brackets than to forego a 10 per cent reduction in the higher brackets.

There is a surplus of more than a billion dollars coming on June 30 and a surplus of at least eight billions is indicated for next year—yet Mr. Truman is denying the taxpayers any relief from wartime rates.

The Republicans ought not to adjourn without passing another Tax Bill—this one to be effective January 1, 1948, and giving an even greater reduction in rates to individuals in the lower brackets. If Congress surrenders to the executive its authority to fix tax rates, the legislative branch of the government would be surrendering also the independence it has exercised for more than 160 years.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

NEW YORK mayors are generally publicists first and administrators when they have time out between dinners, entertaining visiting foreigners, making profound statements on trivial subjects, and personal appearances in unnecessary places.

The late Jimmy Walker was a grand master of mayoral by-products. He was everywhere, it seemed, at the same time and everywhere delivered an address which was packed with humor. Jimmy Walker was extraordinarily popular and could undoubtedly have been re-elected because the people loved him. When he returned to the United States from exile, Dave Dubinsky gave him a job.

Fiorello La Guardia, familiarly known as "The Little Flower" or "Butch," made more noise than all the mayors New York has had in this century. He was not only a noisy mayor but an obstreperous one. He not only quarreled with everybody but he made the quarrels amusing for the populace. He was colorful and knew how to make the folks believe that he was immaculately honest even though he occasionally stretched a point for practical reasons, as, for instance, turning Harlem into a vote-producing Negro ghetto. This may have been an honest operation, but it produced frightful results for the city.

Well, "Butch" went his way writing advertising copy for a furniture store and doing some minor journalistic and radio work. His principal activity now seems to be to instruct his successor, Bill O'Dwyer, in the fine art of city government. As neither possesses trained skill in this field, the comments of La Guardia on O'Dwyer and vice versa keep those interested amused no end.

Bill O'Dwyer migrated to this country from Ireland in early manhood which may be why he and the Municipal Art Commission got into a quarrel about George Washington's desk. It appear that O'Dwyer is short of office space in the City Hall, which is an architectural gem. Certain of its rooms are preserved in their original, pristine state as mementoes of a great tradition. So Bill throws the tradition out and puts in some modern desks and filing cabinets. One has to be born in a tradition for it to have roots of any depth.

However, he is a delightful person who knows how to make friends and move from nothing to something, which is better than the other way around. He started public life as a policeman and he is now a C. I. O. leader and a candidate for Governor of the State of New York. If the Constitution did not forbid such frivolity, he would compete with Henry Wallace.

O'Dwyer has taken the extraordinary position that in spite of the fact that he is Mayor of the largest city in the United States, he is also a ballyhoo artist for the C. I. O. in opposition to the Taft-Hartley bill. In New York that is good politics because the Labor Barons are opposed to the Bill, and many of them make New York their headquarters and spend their money here.

O'Dwyer apparently feels that if Tom Dewey runs for President, the Republicans will be in a bad way for a successor. Also, if Tom Dewey should not be nominated, he might not run for Governor again. Therefore, the next Democratic candidate, who could also have the support of the American Labor Party, might have a chance. He is willing to gamble on that chance.

His strategy is that whereas the Democrats will vote for a Democrat come what may, the Laborites and Communists will ...

Today's Talk

Singleness Of Purpose

You see no wild leaps for forward progress in nature. Nature takes time. Her processes are slow but sure. One tree doesn't worry because another outstrips it in growth. But among human beings there is ever a contest to beat out the other fellow, to make more money, to gain a more pronounced fame, or to establish a new record for speed.

Genuine and worthwhile success cannot be turned into a speed contest. Singleness of purpose, disregarding all cut-corners and cheap means for acclaim, is more to be merited today than ever before. It is the direct path to a real success.

It often takes a long time for character to earn maturity—often an entire lifetime! Why should any of us be in such a hurry to gain or attain, so long as that singleness of purpose remains as the guiding principal of our lives?

What does it matter if there are no cheers from the sidelines, so long as there are inward cheers from a satisfied conscience, and from the realization that one's happiest reward comes from a devotion to duty and to one's ideals, pursued with courage? Minding one's own business, being one's whole self, and with one's objective ever clearly set in full view—a singleness of purpose driving one on—that is a triumph worth noting!

Without the throbbing of the heart all the other great functions of the body become as nothing. So, without this singleness of purpose in life, all else results in confusion, disappointment and ignoble failure. Said Thoreau: "Every nail driven should be as another rivet in the machine of the universe, you carrying on the work."

To our discoverers, our scientists, our researchers and an endless number of such who give of their time and strength, do we owe our eternal gratitude—for their singleness of purpose, regardless of all compensation, has made lasting heroes of them all. They are benefactors to all mankind. Is this not sufficient to inspire each one of us to follow their pattern?

Bozman, who is now auditing the books for the City of Westernport, said he will submit a bid on the work at the next meeting of the board. Drought Damages Australian Sugar

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australian sugar production from the 1946 cane crop is estimated by the Australian Sugar Producers' Association (ASPA) at 552,000 tons, approximately 300,000 tons below normal production in the years immediately before the war.

Reviewing the sugar position at the annual meeting of the ASPA, Chairman William A. Brand said "it is doubtful whether the sugar belt has ever experienced a year of worse drought" than in 1946. The dry winter had been unusually cold and severe frosts had occurred, he said.

All of Australia's sugar cane is grown in Queensland and northern New South Wales.

DO YOU KNOW
THE ORIGIN OF DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT RINGS?

Diamonds get their name from the Greek "adamant," meaning steadfast. They match the sparkle in your eyes, O Bride-to-be, but they were selected as betrothal stones because they were believed to denote purity, and possess powers of promoting harmony.

Ancient superstition has it that the diamond's sparkle sprang from the alchemy of love's own fires. 'Tis a pleasing thought fair women have clung to through the ages, even when they know better! Thus, the diamond engagement ring has its roots in superstition, fancy, tradition and sentiment.

DO YOU KNOW
THE ORIGIN OF DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT RINGS?

Diamonds get their name from the Greek "adamant," meaning steadfast. They match the sparkle in your eyes, O Bride-to-be, but they were selected as betrothal stones because they were believed to denote purity, and possess powers of promoting harmony.

Ancient superstition has it that the diamond's sparkle sprang from the alchemy of love's own fires. 'Tis a pleasing thought fair women have clung to through the ages, even when they know better! Thus, the diamond engagement ring has its roots in superstition, fancy, tradition and sentiment.

AN OLD-TIME INSTITUTION WITH NEW-TIME WAYS

Certainly, We Settle "Small" Estates

In fact, any idea that our service as executor is only for the wealthy is completely erroneous. If your estate is $5,000 or more, we invite you to consider naming this Bank as your executor.

The qualifications you should require of the executor you name in your Will should include experience in handling estates financial responsibility; adequate facilities for accounting, tax accounting, safekeeping and investment management; and business judgment. It is also an advantage to select an executor that is on the job every business day and not one who may be unable to act because of illness, absence from the city or death.

The Cost Is Moderate

The fee our Trust Department receives for settling an estate is subject to the approval of the Orphan's Court, within limits set by state law. Our fee is no more than an inexperienced individual would be entitled to receive for the same services. Here are examples of the fees this Bank has received for settling estates of various sizes:

Gross Estate Personal Estate Only*	Executor's Fee For All Ordinary Services
$ 5,000.00	$ 500
10,000.00	1000
20,000.00	2000
30,000.00	2200
40,000.00	2400
50,000.00	2600
75,000.00	3100
100,000.00	3600

 There is no fee on real estate unless it has to be sold or managed.*

We invite you to write for our booklet, "How Much Will You Charge to Settle My Estate?" Or visit us at your convenience for a talk about your particular estate problems.

You should consult your attorney about drafting your Will and other legal matters.

One Divorce Granted, Three More Docketed

A decree was signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster, granting divorce to Lester L. Bowings, from Agnes M. Bowings. The couple married in December 1926 at Baltimore, and separated March 1936. There are two children past 16 years of age, living in Baltimore with the mother, testimony showed.

Three divorce suits were docketed yesterday. Mrs. Dorothy May Thomas seeks divorce from John Thomas, to whom she was married August 10, 1940, in Frostburg. There are no children.

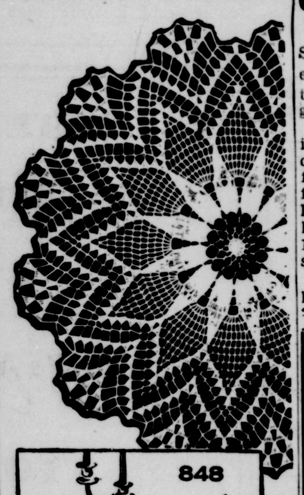

Mrs. Lena V. Porter, seeks divorce from Richard A. Porter, to whom she was married in 1938 at Monterae, Va. They have one child, and Judge Huster signed a court order requiring Porter to pay his wife $75 per month until the case is settled.

Elwood Harden seeks divorce from Mary Elizabeth Harden who he married May 10, 1943 in Frostburg. They have two children.

Wolfhope Elected Head Of K. Of C. Assembly

Frank A. Wolfhope, 210 Carroll Street, local auditor, has been elected faithful navigator of Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree of the Knights of Columbus.

Other newly appointed officers include George L. Carney, faithful captain; George I. Stegmaier, faithful admiral; Thomas F. Conlon, faithful comptroller, Robert A. Davis, faithful polot; Ambrose Burkey, faithful inside sentinel, and Bernard A. Noone, faithful outside sentinel.

Plans were discussed for exemplification of the fourth degree to area members within the next several months.

Cumberland Council, Knights of Columbus, will confer the first degree on a class of candidates June 24, according to Grand Knight James J. Condon. Plans are being made to hold a second-third degree initiation next month.

Man Convicted For Money Order Fraud

Local postal officials said yesterday a man identified as Edward John Kane, who was operating in Cumberland and nearby cities a year ago and who admitted raising money orders from $6 to $60, was later arrested, indicted and sentenced to one year and a day in a Federal penitentiary.

Kane's sentence is to begin at the expiration of a one to ten-year term he is now serving at Joliet, Ill., for passing bad checks.

A postoffice warning had been issued in this area for two couples now in the midwest who are believed to be operating the same type of fraud, officials said. Both couples are using the name of Martin, with various first names.

Brazil Indignation Is In The Cards

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — "Just what we needed," said the prominent morning paper Correio da Manha sarcastically, when commenting on the arrival of a ship from New York bringing to Brazil two tons of playing cards. Reminding its readers that Brazil needs all kinds of industrial equipment, the paper added "furthermore, gambling is illegal in Brazil."

Manna From Truck

DEER CREEK, Ill. (AP)—Stranded motorists and farm residents were isolated but not hungry when snowdrifts blocked a highway near Deer Creek. A truck loaded with bread proved a convenience—and a hunger stopper—for the motorists and passengers on a bus. Before nightfall, the contents of the truck were distributed.

Poland Hails Reparations Moves

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The semi-official newspaper Rzeczpospolita says Poland's share of German war reparations from the Soviet zone of occupation is "in full swing" and estimated chemicals and chemical raw materials already delivered at 50,000,000 pre-war marks.

The journal said recently Allied occupation authorities have been affording greater facilities to Poles for the search of machinery removed from Poland by the Germans during the war.

A large quantity of machinery has been found near Brunswick and Watstadt where the Germans had placed Polish machines in the "Hermann Goerings Werke."

When snakes begin to shed their skin, the eye covering separates from the lower tissue, giving the eyes a milky appearance and promoting the superstition that snakes are blind during the dog days.

Coal For Sweden

WARSAW—(AP)—Poland plans to ship 1,000,000 tons of coal through the port of Szczecin (Stettin) to Sweden this year, the newspaper Zycie Warszawy reported. An additional 50,000 tons of potassium salt is scheduled to pass through the same port to Belgium.

Put And Take

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—A prowler or prowlers unknown took a blanket and three screwdrivres from H. H. Calcutt's automobile, and put a large size can of tomatoes in Thomas Willett's car.

My Word! No Foxes?

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—British influence is losing out all around in Argentina—fox-hunting is now illegal. Gray foxes are protected by the government the year 'round and red foxes during the summer. The step was taken to build up the fox population as a source of fur later. It came shortly after Argentina bought the British railroads here and paid off its debt to Great Britain.

Orville Edward Greer, 26, 948 Gay Street; Warren E. Turney, 18, Accident; Theodore William Willis, 31, Franklin, W. Va.; Connell Joseph Robison, 25, Avilton; Glen Lavin, 17, Finzel; Earl Wayne Mongold, 17, Petersburg, W. Va.; Dundas Orr, 24, Lonaconing; Ira N. Brantner, 26, Shallmar; George E. According to ancient mythology, the souls of good men were sent to Elysium, a place of boundless delights. After spending ages there, they were returned to earth, but only after they had drunk of the river Lethe, which caused them to forget all the bliss they had enjoyed in Elysium.

Mary A. Norris Seeks $5,000 Damages In Suit

Mary A. Norris filed a damage suit for $5,000 in Circuit Court yesterday, against Daniel W. Norris and Julian Shanholtz, for injuries she claims she suffered in a two-car collision, December 4, 1946, on a road between Hancock and Green Ridge Mountain.

Docketed by Paul M. Fletcher the suit states that Mary A. Norris was a passenger in a car driven by Daniel Norris when it collided with a machine operated by Shanholtz. She charges both were driving at excessive speeds and with negligence.

The defendant claims she suffered sprains of the back, left knee and leg, when she was thrown against the side of the Norris car.

Jack And Jill Build House For A Veteran

DECATUR, Ill., (AP)—A neat five-room residence here is pointed out pridefully as the house that Jack and Jill built.

It was constructed and decorated by 80 boy and girl members of vocational training and home planning classes of the Decatur high school.

The youngsters did all the work themselves, except the excavating and plastering. The lads handled the drafting details, and the electrical, carpenter, concrete, brick, sheet metal and painting jobs. The girls took care of the decorating and furnishings.

The project was begun last September as a means of providing practical experience. A real estate dealer inspected their handiwork, and said the house is "better than 90 per cent of the houses I'm selling."

The place is to be sold on a bid basis to a war veteran.

Thorium deposits are found chiefly in the vast monazite sands of southwest India.

Both Parties Negligent in Death Of Bicyclist

BEDFORD, Pa., June 17—Negligence on the part of both principals was declared by a coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Anna Louise Morse, 17, Everett RFD 3, in a motor accident on Route 220 on June 5.

The jury, impaneled in Bedford county courthouse by Coroner Vernon Geisel, said that Miss Morse was attempting to turn her bicycle around on Route 220, near Cessna, when she was struck by the truck.

In its ruling the venire also said the truck driver, Robert A. Rudish, 21, Butler county, was driving too fast for road conditions at the time of the accident. The Morse girl was killed when she was struck by the front of the truck.

At the time of the accident State Police from Bedford charged Rudish with reckless driving and he was released on his own recognizance after payment of a fine of $25 and costs. No additional charges were filed against the trucker as the result of the jury's verdict.

Poles Cite Losses As Treaty Guide

WARSAW, Poland (AP) —The Polish Press Agency "Unity" says the peace treaty for Germany should use what happened to Poland as a guide to determining a "just peace" for war-makers.

Under the title "Gloomy Statistics," the agency issued a bulletin reporting that:

"The Germans are responsible for having murdered 6,028,000 Poles. That was 22 per cent of the country's population.

"Only 24 persons per thousand perished because of war operations, and 133 per thousand were murdered by Germans in mass executions, concentration camps, "death factories," crematories, and experiments with bacterial diseases.

"Moreover, 1,140,000 people fell ill with tuberculosis, and most of these were young people, who met an untimely death.

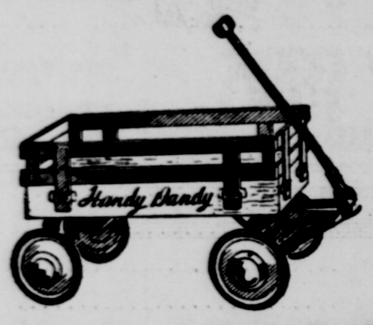

"The hard conditions of life brought a tremendous drop in the birthrate. During the German occupation, there were 11,250,000 less births than before the war."

Advice To The Lovelorn

Being In Love Doesn't Mean Complete Ownership Of Another Person

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

It's a very unfortunate thing that so many people seem to feel that being in love means complete ownership of another person.

There's the girl who goes into hysterics if her fiance spends five minutes talking to another girl at a party; who throws a conniption fit if he makes an admiring comment about some beautiful blonde they pass on the street; who makes a scene if he wants to spend an occasional evening with other friends instead of sticking by her side every night in the week.

And — but I don't think quite so often — there's the young man who gets jealous if the girl he's going with happens to chat a few minutes with some old admirer she runs into accidentally; if she wants to keep up with the group of girl friends who've been meeting around at each other's houses once a week ever since they graduated from high school; if she wants to go to a concert without him, even though he rates any music but rebop.

The sooner two young people in love realize that over-possessiveness wrecks more marriages than it holds together, the more chance they'll be giving themselves of a long and happy married life.

That's the suggestion I'd like to pass on to a girl who has written me a very distressed letter because her fiance went out on a "blind date" without her.

The letter is a little confused, but apparently he went out with this girl twice, although making it perfectly clear to her "that he was engaged and very much in love with me and planning to be married shortly."

She doesn't have to take her fiance's word for this, for she went to the girl herself — which was too bad, I think — and found out all about it. And the girl told her the circumstances quite frankly, saying the boy had told her he had been "coaxed" to go out on the date and adding that she had nothing to worry about.

Aside from this one episode, everything is apparently very happy between the two young people.

"He is so wonderful to me," the girl writes, "and does everything in his power to make me happy . . . He comes down to see me every night, and I'm always so happy when we're together. He says we will be the happiest married couple, and we do get along very nicely."

My own feeling is that this girl is making a mountain out of a molehill, and that she was very foolish to ever give the thing a second thought, particularly to the extent of going to the young woman in question. Perhaps her fiance did make a mistake in going out with the girl. But from all indications it was a very harmless one, and her description of his remorse, when he saw how badly she felt, certainly gives the impression that the most he was guilty of was thoughtlessness.

She'll have to get a little more perspective on their relationship, or she'll be involving the two of them in a lot of emotional scenes as time goes on, and that will be very bad indeed. And the time for her to get the perspective is right now. Let her learn the difference between what's important and what is unimportant in a personal relationship. Let her cultivate a sense of humor, and let her realize that no two people, no matter how much in love they may be, are all-sufficient for each other. Each one needs to get away occasionally and keep up other interests, otherwise a wholly exclusive companionship may grow stale, and in time become complete unpalatable.

Costs In Germany Stir U. S. Protests

FRANKFURT (AP) — Prodded by growing complaints of American civilians against prices charged them in occupied Germany, the U.S. Army has appointed a fact-finding board to ascertain just how much it really costs to live over here.

All Americans, including civilians employed by the War Department or business agencies, must live in Army installations and buy supplies from shops operated by the Army—which fixes the prices.

Maj. Dickey To Begin Organization Tonight

The Military Department of the State of Maryland has authorized the organization and establishment of a National Guard Company in Frostburg, according to Maj. Howard H. Dickey, 419 Washington Street, commander of the First Battalion, 115th Regiment, 29th Division, MNG.

Maj. Dickey will be at the office of Holben Insurance Agency, 11 Broadway, Frostburg, tonight at 7:30 p. m. to confer with former Army officers who are interested in the formation of the Frostburg unit.

The National Guard unit designated for Frostburg will be Company D, First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, and when it is organized and federally recognized, the complete postwar organization of the First Battalion will be complete.

Headquarters of the Battalion, along with Headquarters and Company C, are located at Cumberland, while Company A is at Frederick and Company B is at Hagerstown. A, B, and C, are rifle companies, while Headquarters takes care of communication, transportation, records, operations and information.

Company D at Frostburg will be a heavy weapon or machine gun company with an approximate strength of 140 officers and men. The same regulations which apply to guard units elsewhere will apply to the Frostburg unit Maj. Dickey said. Members will hold drill and training periods once each week and will receive one day of base army pay for each two-hour drill period attended. Each summer the unit will accompany the Battalion to camp for 15 days field training.

Maj. Dickey said arrangements will be made later for a place for the company to train and store its equipment and if the Frostburg unit is successful and there is sufficient public interest it is quite possible a State Armory will eventually be constructed.

The battalion commander urges that all officers interested attend the meeting tonight so plans can be made for enlisting men as rapidly as possible. Announcement as to time and place of enlistment will be made later, he said.

Cumberland Dirt Gets Going Over At C Of C Confab

Cumberland housewives don't share alone the grief of a dirty city.

Dirt came in for a shellacking last night at another in a series of informal roundtable discussions by members of the Chamber of Commerce of what Cumberland needs.

The difficulty of getting technical and professional people as well as specialists to come to Cumberland to fill vacancies was laid to dirt and to out-of-town housewives who have heard of the housekeeping problem here.

Wives of these technical and professional people find out Cumberland is a pretty dirty place to keep house and consequently their husbands, who might otherwise have filled a local vacancy, decide the offer is unattractive and turn it down. That, coupled with the housing problem, was agreed to be a deterrent that should be overcome.

Cleaning up generally as well as beautification, including care of vacant lots and approaches to the city, were among the other suggestions cited.

Members of the Chamber likewise agreed that Cumberland is in need of development of more cultural advantages, but they commended the Board of Education for a step in the right direction—choral and instrumental music.

Need for broader economic education of Cumberland's residents, with emphasis on the importance of industrial and commercial development, was suggested along with several others that have been giving considerable attention at each of the previous meetings—traffic, parking, the need for the proposed overhead bridge and the need for revision of the form of city government.

A 1938 sedan owned by C. W. Ayers, 705 St. Mary's Avenue, reported to police yesterday morning as stolen, was recovered about noon yesterday when an employe of the owner spotted the vehicle abandoned on Pear Street. Police said they were informed the machine was abandoned there about 5 a. m.

Officers meanwhile are continuing to look for a 1939 Hudson sedan reported stolen from Oldtown Road Monday night or early yesterday morning. The license tag was listed as 458-104.

Postmaster George Dressman of the Long (LaVale) Postoffice attended the annual convention of the Maryland branch, National League of District Postmasters, which was held in Hagerstown this week.

Court Continues Habeas Corpus On Boy's Custody

To Await Testimony Of Child's Mother

Chief Judge William A Huster, in a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus petition yesterday, ruled that he would not arbitrarily take a 17 months old child from its mother until she was able to appear and ordered the case held open until the mother can appear.

The case resulted when Mrs. Emma May Foley, 41, Green Spring, W. Va., the child's maternal grandmother filed the petition aganist Mr. and Mrs. William C. Weese, 103 Virginia Avenue, seeking custody of the child who had been left with the Weese couple by Mrs. Nettie Curtis, 23, daughter of Mrs. Foley.

The mother of the child, Mrs. Curtis is a patient ni Memorial hospital, as a result of injuries suffered when she was pinned beneath a wrecked passenger car on Oldtown Road early last month. She is divorced from her husband and in February, it was shown in Court, she left the child with the Weese couple here "until she could obtain work and a place to keep him."

Mrs. Weese testified Mrs. Curtis said at one time that she would let the couple adopt the baby, and had later told her that the adoption papers had been prepared by a local attorney. When Mrs. Weese went to the attorney's office, she said, the papers had not been prepared and Mrs. Curtis had not been to see the attorney.

Several days ago Mrs. Foley went to the Weese home to get the child but Mrs. Weese said he was asleep, according to the testimony of the grandmother, and yesterday the writ of habeas corpus was filed by Mrs. Foley.

Mrs. Weese said that she was surprised by the action as no mention had been made of any legal action on the part of the grandmother on her visit to the Weese home.

Mrs. Foley said she resided on the farm owned by her parents at Green Spring, and that her 18-year-old son would help support the child.

Weese, a B. and O. brakeman, told the court that he and his wife had become greatly attached to the child and had asked Mrs. Curtis to allow them to adopt the child. He said he has a home for the boy and is able to support him.

Mrs. Weese testified that she has no children of her own and that upon Mrs. Curtis' agreement at one time to allow adoption proceedings they kept the child. There has only been one week's board paid for the child's support by Mrs. Curtis, she testified, but that in the event they are allowed to adopt him they would "forget about the board bill." She also stated that she loved the child and wanted to provide him a good home.

Local Unionists To Join Caravan To Washington

Urge Presidential Veto Of Labor Bill

Several carloads of union members from this area were expected to join a national caravan in Washington today in a move to seek presidential veto of the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill.

Three members of the vanguard of the caravan, which originated in Los Angeles, Calif., stopped in Cumberland yesterday morning and addressed the strike committee of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

The men, Cliff Gill, James Sonies and Joseph Wolf, representing Los Angeles AFL and CIO unions, told the Textile Workers that the caravan has grown in size during its trek across the nation as it was joined by unionists from other cities.

The trio said they realized that because of the strike at the Celanese plant, Local 1874 probably would be unable to send a large delegation to join the group, but added they hoped for at least a "token" representation from this city. Officers of the local said "several" carloads would go to Washington today.

Gill, Sonies and Wolf said the caravan was scheduled to assemble in Frederick at 6:30 p. m. yesterday for the trip to Washington, but last night it appeared that this schedule would not be kept.

The cars, reported to be some 150 in number, were not traveling in one group, and some of them were arriving in Cumberland after the 6:30 hour last night. Some indicated they intended to spend last night here and continue the journey this morning. They said more cars were following them.

Originating in Los Angeles last Thursday, the caravan has been recruiting more union cars as it neared Washington. Pittsburgh locals converged with the national caravan yesterday at Washington, Pa., along with group from Sharon, Altoona, Emporium and Erie, Pa.

In Cumberland, C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL, said that while AFL, CIO and Brotherhood organizations here did not receive any notice of the caravan's movements until Monday night, some Cumberland locals may send representatives to Washington today.

FREDERICK, June 17 (AP)—A 30-car advance guard of a caravan of labor leaders en route from the West Coast to protest the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill arrived here tonight to await an escort to Washington.

Harry Lea, of the Los Angeles AFL Central Trades Council said the group of about 100 men planned to go on to Washington late tonight after the arrival of other cars and labor leaders from the District of Columbia.

Lea said some Pennsylvania cars and several groups from New York still had not caught up with the caravan which has been in Frederick six hours waiting for them. State Police have provided an escort of two troopers to escort the cars to the District line, he said.

Some of the group's leaders have gone on to Washington in one car and the rest are awaiting orders, Lea added.

Visiting Fireman Kicks Out Glass

FROSTBURG, June 17—Hubert Woltz, a visiting fireman from Glenn Echo Fire Department and a member of the executive committee of that organization, started the convention off in good shape tonight. He was in the Gunter Hotel according to Chief of Police Benjamin H. Thomas, where he created a disturbance and was asked to leave.

On the way from the building, he kicked the plate glass out of the doors, police said, so the Chief of Police and Officer Donald Griffith took him to the city jail to prevent further disturbance. No charge had been lodged against him last night and it was indicated the matter would be settled amicably.

The National Guard unit designated for Frostburg will be Company D, First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, and when it is organized and federally recognized, the complete postwar organization of the First Battalion will be complete.

The same regulations which apply to guard units elsewhere will apply to the Frostburg unit Maj. Dickey said. Members will hold drill and training periods once each week and will receive one day of base army pay for each two-hour drill period attended. Cumberland Dirt Gets Going Over At C Of C Confab

Cumberland housewives don't share alone the grief of a dirty city.

Dirt came in for a shellacking last night at another in a series of informal roundtable discussions by members of the Chamber of Commerce of what Cumberland needs.

The difficulty of getting technical and professional people as well as specialists to come to Cumberland to fill vacancies was laid to dirt and to out-of-town housewives who have heard of the housekeeping problem here.

Wives of these technical and professional people find out Cumberland is a pretty dirty place to keep house and consequently their husbands, who might otherwise have filled a local vacancy, decide the offer is unattractive and turn it down. That, coupled with the housing problem, was agreed to be a deterrent that should be overcome.

Cleaning up generally as well as beautification, including care of vacant lots and approaches to the city, were among the other suggestions cited.

Members of the Chamber likewise agreed that Cumberland is in need of development of more cultural advantages, but they commended the Board of Education for a step in the right direction—choral and instrumental music.

Need for broader economic education of Cumberland's residents, with emphasis on the importance of industrial and commercial development, was suggested along with several others that have been giving considerable attention at each of the previous meetings—traffic, parking, the need for the proposed overhead bridge and the need for revision of the form of city government.

Officers meanwhile are continuing to look for a 1939 Hudson sedan reported stolen from Oldtown Road Monday night or early yesterday morning. The license tag was listed as 458-104.

Court Continues Habeas Corpus On Boy's Custody

To Await Testimony Of Child's Mother

Chief Judge William A Huster, in a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus petition yesterday, ruled that he would not arbitrarily take a 17 months old child from its mother until she was able to appear and ordered the case held open until the mother can appear.

The case resulted when Mrs. Emma May Foley, 41, Green Spring, W. Va., the child's maternal grandmother filed the petition aganist Mr. and Mrs. William C. Weese, 103 Virginia Avenue, seeking custody of the child who had been left with the Weese couple by Mrs. Nettie Curtis, 23, daughter of Mrs. Foley.

The mother of the child, Mrs. Curtis is a patient ni Memorial hospital, as a result of injuries suffered when she was pinned beneath a wrecked passenger car on Oldtown Road early last month. She is divorced from her husband and in February, it was shown in Court, she left the child with the Weese couple here "until she could obtain work and a place to keep him."

Mrs. Weese testified Mrs. Curtis said at one time that she would let the couple adopt the baby, and had later told her that the adoption papers had been prepared by a local attorney. When Mrs. Weese went to the attorney's office, she said, the papers had not been prepared and Mrs. Curtis had not been to see the attorney.

Several days ago Mrs. Foley went to the Weese home to get the child but Mrs. Weese said he was asleep, according to the testimony of the grandmother, and yesterday the writ of habeas corpus was filed by Mrs. Foley.

Mrs. Weese said that she was surprised by the action as no mention had been made of any legal action on the part of the grandmother on her visit to the Weese home.

Mrs. Foley said she resided on the farm owned by her parents at Green Spring, and that her 18-year-old son would help support the child.

Weese, a B. and O. brakeman, told the court that he and his wife had become greatly attached to the child and had asked Mrs. Curtis to allow them to adopt the child. He said he has a home for the boy and is able to support him.

Mrs. Weese testified that she has no children of her own and that upon Mrs. Curtis' agreement at one time to allow adoption proceedings they kept the child. There has only been one week's board paid for the child's support by Mrs. Curtis, she testified, but that in the event they are allowed to adopt him they would "forget about the board bill." She also stated that she loved the child and wanted to provide him a good home.

Local Unionists To Join Caravan To Washington

Urge Presidential Veto Of Labor Bill

Several carloads of union members from this area were expected to join a national caravan in Washington today in a move to seek presidential veto of the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill.

Three members of the vanguard of the caravan, which originated in Los Angeles, Calif., stopped in Cumberland yesterday morning and addressed the strike committee of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

The men, Cliff Gill, James Sonies and Joseph Wolf, representing Los Angeles AFL and CIO unions, told the Textile Workers that the caravan has grown in size during its trek across the nation as it was joined by unionists from other cities.

The trio said they realized that because of the strike at the Celanese plant, Local 1874 probably would be unable to send a large delegation to join the group, but added they hoped for at least a "token" representation from this city. Officers of the local said "several" carloads would go to Washington today.

Gill, Sonies and Wolf said the caravan was scheduled to assemble in Frederick at 6:30 p. m. yesterday for the trip to Washington, but last night it appeared that this schedule would not be kept.

The cars, reported to be some 150 in number, were not traveling in one group, and some of them were arriving in Cumberland after the 6:30 hour last night. Some indicated they intended to spend last night here and continue the journey this morning. They said more cars were following them.

Originating in Los Angeles last Thursday, the caravan has been recruiting more union cars as it neared Washington. Pittsburgh locals converged with the national caravan yesterday at Washington, Pa., along with group from Sharon, Altoona, Emporium and Erie, Pa.

In Cumberland, C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL, said that while AFL, CIO and Brotherhood organizations here did not receive any notice of the caravan's movements until Monday night, some Cumberland locals may send representatives to Washington today.

FREDERICK, June 17 (AP)—A 30-car advance guard of a caravan of labor leaders en route from the West Coast to protest the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill arrived here tonight to await an escort to Washington.

Harry Lea, of the Los Angeles AFL Central Trades Council said the group of about 100 men planned to go on to Washington late tonight after the arrival of other cars and labor leaders from the District of Columbia.

Lea said some Pennsylvania cars and several groups from New York still had not caught up with the caravan which has been in Frederick six hours waiting for them. State Police have provided an escort of two troopers to escort the cars to the District line, he said.

Some of the group's leaders have gone on to Washington in one car and the rest are awaiting orders, Lea added.

Visiting Fireman Kicks Out Glass

FROSTBURG, June 17—Hubert Woltz, a visiting fireman from Glenn Echo Fire Department and a member of the executive committee of that organization, started the convention off in good shape tonight. He was in the Gunter Hotel according to Chief of Police Benjamin H. Thomas, where he created a disturbance and was asked to leave.

On the way from the building, he kicked the plate glass out of the doors, police said, so the Chief of Police and Officer Donald Griffith took him to the city jail to prevent further disturbance. No charge had been lodged against him last night and it was indicated the matter would be settled amicably.

National AAU Feather Champ To Fight Here

Leo Kelly Will Oppose Catanese In June 30 Bout

Dircks Faces Zivic In Armory Feature

Leo Kelly, of Pittsburgh, winner of the National A.A.U. featherweight championship at Boston last year, will fight Jimmie Catanese, local 130-pounder, in one of the three round matches in the Royale Athletic Club's next amateur boxing show at the state armory, Monday, June 30, it was announced last night by Matchmaker Presley W. "Red" Mauk.

In the 1946 tourney at Boston, the Pittsburgh negro, defeated Floyd Perry, of Kansas City, Mo., in the semi-finals and won the national title by whipping Gerald Labrole, Gary, Indiana in the 126-pound finale.

Dircks To Face Zivic

The Kelly-Catanese bout will be one of the bouts supporting the return heavyweight match between George Zivic, of the Duke O'Hara Athletic Club, McKeesport, Pa., and Billy Dircks, local heavyweight and former E.T.O. star. Dircks lost a five-round decision to Zivic in their first engagement here.

Mauk asserted last night that Billy will be down to about 200 pounds for the return battle.

Donnie Keiser, Royale A. C. welterweight, will appear on the card against a McKeesport 147-pounder, yet to be named, while Jake Koelker, the Diamond A. C. battler who recently whipped Pat Murphy, will try conclusions with Johnny Ward, of McKeesport.

The Dircks-Zivic match will be the sixth on the 8-bout program.

To Invade Ebensburg

Mauk will take a team of Royale A. C. boxers to Ebensburg, Pa., for a series of bouts on Friday night at the Ebensburg Fair Grounds.

Keiser, Pat Murphy, Catanese and Walter Basilio will get spots on the card and Mauk will name one or two more boxers for the trip, hoping to put boys in at least five matches.

The Royale team was successful in its last visit to the Pennsylvania town, winning four out of five matches.

FAVORITES SCORE IN PRO NET MEET

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Defending champion Bobby Riggs and such other top-seeded play-for-pay stars as Don Budge, Frankie Kovacs and Fred Perry all gained ground today in the second day of the National Professional Lawn Tennis championships.

The 29-year-old Riggs, put on his usual steady game as he ran Lloyd Budge of Montclair, N. J., ragged, dropping shots in close and far back to score an easy straight-set victory, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3, over Don's older brother.

Second-seeded Don Budge, made short shrift of game but outclassed Bill Weissbuck.

Kovacs kept his mind on his work as he smashed out a 6-2, 6-0, 6-0 triumph over Richard Van Den Bosch, the third-seeded, 27-year-old former clown of the courts registered ten service aces and earned 28 points as he put on a fine display of sharpshooting.

Perry, former backbone of the English Davis Cup squad, was forced to an extra-game affair in the third set of his 6-4, 6-1, 7-5 triumph over Charles Wood.

Lone upset of the day came when unseeded Bill Crosby knocked over 14th ranked George Seewagen, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0, 6-0.

Fifth-seeded Welby Van Horn, Chattanooga, Tenn., gained the third round by defeating Bill Douglas, Baltimore, Md., 6-1, 6-1, 7-5.

Yale And Harvard Crews To Race Today

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 17 (AP)—Yale and Harvard resume their historic four-mile crew rivalry tomorrow on the Thames River here with Harvard, by virtue of a more impressive sprint season, a favorite to take the classic which dates back to 1852.

Harvard, which has lost only to Cornell in the sprint season, already holds one victory over the Elis, a 2000-meter conquest at Princeton, which sent the Crimson on its way to the eastern sprint championship.

In winning the title, Harvard defeated Cornell and squared accounts for an earlier defeat on Lake Cayuga.

Scheib Turns Back Tigers For Second Time Within Week

A's Twirler Masters Detroit By 5-2 Score

PHILADELPHIA, June 17—(AP)—Carl Scheib, 20-year-old right hander, pitched the second complete game of his career in organized baseball tonight and for the second time within a week he defeated the Detroit Tigers, 5-2, before a crowd of 24,261.

With Scheib hurling five-hit ball, the Athletics struck from behind in the seventh inning to score four runs off Al Benton.

After a single, sacrifice and an error had given the Mackmen a 1-0 lead in the sixth, the Tigers jumped out in front with two runs in the top half of the seventh on a walk, two singles and the first passed ball charged against Buddy Rosar this year.

But the A's retaliated. Benton walked Hank Majeski and Scheib to start the frame. After Eddie Joost moved them along with a sacrifice, Barney McCosky was passed purposely. Elmer Valo then doubled two runs home and Sam Chapman did likewise for the other two tallies. Box:

Willie Pep Gains Duke Over Flores

Makes First Start Since Plane Crash

HARTFORD, Conn., June 17 (AP)—World's Featherweight Champion Willie Pep, making his first ring start since he suffered serious injuries in an airplane accident, easily outpointed Victor Flores, 133, of Mexico City, here tonight in a 10-round non-title bout.

Referee Louis "Kid" Kaplan, himself a former featherweight titlist, said the 130-pound Pep won every round, and he credited him with 50 points to 33 for Flores.

The tall, skinny champion who came out of Hartford's amateur ranks exhibited much of his old time speed and skill, despite the serious back and leg injuries he suffered in a New Jersey plane crash January 5. He not only outpointed Flores to a fare-the-well, but also knocked him down twice, for no count in the seventh and for an eight-count in the eighth.

Kramer Is No. 1 In Net Tourney

Brown Seeded Third In Wimbledon Meet

LONDON, June 17—(AP)—The officially announced seedings for the all-England tennis championships beginning at Wimbledon next week confirmed today the choice of experts and fans who have picked Jack Kramer, United States' No. 1 net star, to win the men's singles title.

The tall, lean Californian, beaten at Wimbledon last year in the fourth round by Jaroslav Drobny, the Czechoslovakian left-hander, was seeded No. 1.

Kramer headed the parade in which his teammates, Tom Brown and Bob Falkenburg, were seeded third and eighth, respectively. It will be Falkenburg's first Wimbledon tournament.

Australia's John Bromwich was seeded No. 2. Fourth and fifth places went to Dinny Pails and Geoff Brown of Australia, and sixth went to Drobny. The big surprise of the seeding was the placing of the reigning champion, Frenchman Yvon Petra, in seventh place.

In placing Bromwich ahead of Pails they apparently took the Australian championship lightly as Pails won the title from Bromwich.

American women were given the first four seedings in the Wimbledon tournament. Margaret Osborne, Louise Brough, Doris Hart and Patricia Todd led in that order. Then followed Australia's Nancye Wynne Bolton, Britain's Kay Stammers Menzies and South Africa's Sheila Summers. Mrs. Jean Bostock of Britain got eighth place.

Red Sox Score 7th Win In Row Over St. Louis

Dave Ferriss Bags 6th Triumph, 6-5

BOSTON, June 17 (AP) — The defending American League champion Boston Red Sox rang up their seventh victory in a row today—the 172d anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill—by defeating the St. Louis Browns 6-5. The victory streak is the longest the Sox have achieved this season.

For starter Dave Ferriss, who was shaky in the early innings and who weakened late in the game after he was struck by a hard hit ball, it was his sixth decision of the year against five defeats.

Brownie Catcher Les Moss slugged a three run homer in the second and Sam Mele duplicated for the Sox in the next inning. The four bagger was Moss' second of the season and for Mele it was his fifth, his first at home.

St. Louis Second Baseman Johnny Berardino was struck on the left forearm by a Ferriss pitch in the second inning and forced to leave the game. Preliminary X-ray examination at St. Elizabeth's Hospital indicated a possible fracture.

From the second through the seventh, when he was struck on the right calf by a ball hit by Billy Hitchcock, who replaced Berardino, Ferriss yielded only two hits. In the eighth the Browns scored twice and Earl Johnson finished. Box:

National AAU Feather Champ To Fight Here

Leo Kelly Will Oppose Catanese In June 30 Bout

Dircks Faces Zivic In Armory Feature

Leo Kelly, of Pittsburgh, winner of the National A.A.U. featherweight championship at Boston last year, will fight Jimmie Catanese, local 130-pounder, in one of the three round matches in the Royale Athletic Club's next amateur boxing show at the state armory, Monday, June 30, it was announced last night by Matchmaker Presley W. "Red" Mauk.

In the 1946 tourney at Boston, the Pittsburgh negro, defeated Floyd Perry, of Kansas City, Mo., in the semi-finals and won the national title by whipping Gerald Labroie, Gary, Indiana in the 126-pound finale.

Dircks To Face Zivic

The Kelly-Catanese bout will be one of the bouts supporting the return heavyweight match between George Zivic, of the Duke O'Hara Athletic Club, McKeesport, Pa., and Billy Dircks, local heavyweight and former E.T.O. star. Dircks lost a five-round decision to Zivic in their first engagement here.

Mauk asserted last night that Billy will be down to about 200 pounds for the return battle.

Donnie Keiser, Royale A. C. welterweight, will appear on the card against a McKeesport 147-pounder, yet to be named, while Jake Koelker, the Diamond A. C. battler who recently whipped Pat Murphy, will try conclusions with Johnny Ward, of McKeesport.

The Dircks-Zivic match will be the sixth on the 8-bout program.

To Invade Ebensburg

Mauk will take a team of Royale A. C. boxers to Ebensburg, Pa., for a series of bouts on Friday night at the Ebensburg Fair Grounds.

Keiser, Pat Murphy, Catanese and Walter Bastilo will get spots on the card and Mauk will name one or two more boxers for the trip, hoping to put boys in at least five matches.

The Royale team was successful in its last visit to the Pennsylvania town, winning four out of five matches.

FAVORITES SCORE IN PRO NET MEET

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Defending champion Bobby Riggs and such other top-seeded play-for-pay stars as Don Budge, Frankie Kovacs and Fred Perry all gained ground today in the second day of the National Professional Lawn Tennis championships.

The 29-year-old Riggs, put on his usual steady game as he ran Lloyd Budge of Montclair, N. J., ragged, dropping shots in close and far back to score an easy straight-set victory, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3, over Don's older brother.

Second-seeded Don Budge, made short shrift of game but outclassed Bill Weissbuck.

Kovacs kept his mind on his work as he smashed out a 6-2, 6-0, 6-0 triumph over Richard Van Den Bosch, the third-seeded, 27-year-old former clown of the courts registered ten service aces and earned 28 points as he put on a fine display of sharpshooting.

Perry, former backbone of the English Davis Cup squad, was forced to an extra-game affair in the third set of his 6-4, 6-1, 7-5 triumph over Charles Wood.

Lone upset of the day came when unseeded Bill Crosby knocked over 14th ranked George Seewagen, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0, 6-0.

Fifth-seeded Welby Van Horn, Chattanooga, Tenn., gained the third round by defeating Bill Douglas, Baltimore, Md., 6-1, 6-1, 7-5.

Yale And Harvard Crews To Race Today

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 17 (AP)—Yale and Harvard resume their historic four-mile crew rivalry tomorrow on the Thames River here with Harvard, by virtue of a more impressive sprint season, a favorite to take the classic which dates back to 1852.

Harvard, which has lost only to Cornell in the sprint season, already holds one victory over the Elis, a 2000-meter conquest at Princeton, which sent the Crimson on its way to the eastern sprint championship.

In winning the title, Harvard defeated Cornell and squared accounts for an earlier defeat on Lake Cayuga.

Scheib Turns Back Tigers For Second Time Within Week

A's Twirler Masters Detroit By 5-2 Score

PHILADELPHIA, June 17—(AP)—Carl Scheib, 20-year-old right hander, pitched the second complete game of his career in organized baseball tonight and for the second time within a week he defeated the Detroit Tigers, 5-2, before a crowd of 24,261.

With Scheib hurling five-hit ball, the Athletics struck from behind in the seventh inning to score four runs off Al Benton.

After a single, sacrifice and an error had given the Mackmen a 1-0 lead in the sixth, the Tigers jumped out in front with two runs in the top half of the seventh on a walk, two singles and the first passed ball charged against Buddy Rosar this year.

But the A's retaliated. Benton walked Hank Majeski and Scheib to start the frame. After Eddie Joost moved them along with a sacrifice, Barney McCosky was passed purposely. Elmer Valo then doubled two runs home and Sam Chapman did likewise for the other two tallies. Box:

Willie Pep Gains Duke Over Flores

Makes First Start Since Plane Crash

HARTFORD, Conn., June 17 (AP)—World's Featherweight Champion Willie Pep, making his first ring start since he suffered serious injuries in an airplane accident, easily outpointed Victor Flores, 133, of Mexico City, here tonight in a 10-round non-title bout.

Referee Louis "Kid" Kaplan, himself a former featherweight titlist, said the 130-pound Pep won every round, and he credited him with 50 points to 33 for Flores.

The tall, skinny champion who came out of Hartford's amateur ranks exhibited much of his old time speed and skill, despite the serious back and leg injuries he suffered in a New Jersey plane crash January 5. He not only outpointed Flores to a fare-the-well, but also knocked him down twice, for no count in the seventh and for an eight-count in the eighth.

Kramer Is No. 1 In Net Tourney

Brown Seeded Third In Wimbledon Meet

LONDON, June 17—(AP)—The officially announced seedings for the all-England tennis championships beginning at Wimbledon next week confirmed today the choice of experts and fans who have picked Jack Kramer, United States' No. 1 net star, to win the men's singles title.

The tall, lean Californian, beaten at Wimbledon last year in the fourth round by Jaroslav Drobny, the Czechoslovakian left-hander, was seeded No. 1.

Kramer headed the parade in which his teammates, Tom Brown and Bob Falkenburg, were seeded third and eighth, respectively. It will be Falkenburg's first Wimbledon tournament.

Australia's John Bromwich was seeded No. 2. Fourth and fifth places went to Dinny Pails and Geoff Brown of Australia, and sixth went to Drobny. The big surprise of the seeding was the placing of the reigning champion, Frenchman Yvon Petra, in seventh place.

In placing Bromwich ahead of Pails they apparently took the Australian championship lightly as Pails won the title from Bromwich.

American women were given the first four seedings in the Wimbledon tournament. Margaret Osborne, Louise Brough, Doris Hart and Patricia Todd led in that order. Then followed Australia's Nancye Wynne Bolton, Britain's Kay Stammers Menzies and South Africa's Sheila Summers. Mrs. Jean Bostock of Britain got eighth place.

Midland won the series opener, 5-4, squeezing over the winning run in the final inning.

Red Sox Score 7th Win In Row Over St. Louis

Dave Ferriss Bags 6th Triumph, 6-5

BOSTON, June 17 (AP)—The defending American League champion Boston Red Sox rang up their seventh victory in a row today—the 172d anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill—by defeating the St. Louis Browns 6-5. The victory streak is the longest the Sox have achieved this season.

For starter Dave Ferriss, who was shaky in the early innings and who weakened late in the game after he was struck by a hard hit ball, it was his sixth decision of the year against five defeats.

Brownie Catcher Les Moss slugged a three run homer in the second and Sam Mele duplicated for the Sox in the next inning. The four bagger was Moss' second of the season and for Mele it was his fifth, his first at home.

St. Louis Second Baseman Johnny Berardino was struck on the left forearm by a Ferriss pitch in the second inning and forced to leave the game. Preliminary X-ray examination at St. Elizabeth's Hospital indicated a possible fracture.

From the second through the seventh, when he was struck on the right calf by a ball hit by Billy Hitchcock, who replaced Berardino, Ferriss yielded only two hits. In the eighth the Browns scored twice and Earl Johnson finished. Box:

Ridgeley Club To Stage Registered Shoot

Event Set For Saturday; Cox To Give Exhibition

Remington Ace Will Perform At 5 P. M.

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club will stage a registered trap-shoot on Saturday afternoon at the club's traps on the Frankfort Road, five miles from Ridgeley.

An added attraction will be the appearance of Wilbur Cox, Remington Arms Company's marksman, who will give a demonstration of his spectacular shooting ability at 5 p. m., following the registered event.

Saturday's shoot is the first registered contest scheduled on the Ridgeley grounds and will afford shooters an opportunity to practice before the West Virginia state championship events are held July 18, 19 and 20.

Demonstrates All Types

Cox will demonstrate all types of shotguns, rifles and pistols. He converts heads of cabbage thrown into the air into cole slaw, crashes small blocks of wood into bits, explodes oranges, grapefruit and potatoes and does it all with such graceful ease that extremely difficult shots appear simple.

The shooting ability of the Remington expert is more than an exhibition of marksmanship. It is an example of what constant practice will accomplish. No admission is charged to witness Cox's exhibition.

Francis Wins Singles

Eighteen gunners participated in the shoot held last Sunday at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club traps. In spite of the high winds some nice scores were marked up. Tony Francis, Westernport, set the pace by breaking 49 out of 50 in the singles. Runner-up honors went to Harry Barton, of Barton's Dairy, who shattered 48 birds.

Ed McDonald, Headsville, W. Va., was high in the doubles, smashing 22 out of 12 pairs of targets. Francis was second with a score of 20.

INTERSTATE LEAGUE TO STAGE ALL-STAR CONTEST ON JULY 12

The Interstate Baseball League will stage its All-Star Game on Saturday, July 12, it was decided last night at a meeting of the circuit's all-star game committee, C. William Spangler, chairman, Art Garbark and G. Ray Lippold.

A site for the game will be chosen and players will be selected at a meeting of managers and the league's executive committee to be held Monday, June 23 at Barrelville.

Pandoramint Wins When Nobby Boy Is Disqualified

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., June 17 (AP)—The Charles Town track was the scene today of a racing rarity—a dead heat and disqualification of one of the two winners.

R. E. Caldwell's Nobby Boy and S. J. Flammia's Pandoramint came in together in the fourth race so tightly that the camera could not separate them.

But the stewards settled the question by ruling that Nobby Boy came out of the gate from the outside post position and cut across horses, forcing them back before going into the lead.

Without waiting for formalities after the race, the stewards lighted the "objection" sign and gave the victory to Pandoramint and placed Nobby Boy last. W. C. Rick's Floater was second and B. Rinaldi's Moon Meadow was third.

Jockey Willie Kelly, aboard Nobby Boy, was suspended for 15 days.

Pandoramint's victory was worth a $36 win mutuel.

Brooklyn Dodgers Farm Ed Chandler And Rackley

CHICAGO, June 17—(AP)—Two Brooklyn rookies, Pitcher Ed Chandler and Outfielder Marv Rackley, were cut off the roster today and sent to farm clubs on option, subject to 24-hour recall.

Chandler, who lost his only decision as a big leaguer, was transferred to Fort Worth of the Texas League. Rackley, used chiefly as a pinch hitter and runner, went to St. Paul of the American Association.

The Dodgers also announced that Ed Head, who had pitched a no-hitter for them last year, had been moved from Fort Worth to St. Paul in an outright sale.

Ridgeley Club To Stage Registered Shoot

Event Set For Saturday; Cox To Give Exhibition

Remington Ace Will Perform At 5 P. M.

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club will stage a registered trap-shoot on Saturday afternoon at the club's traps on the Frankfort Road, five miles from Ridgeley.

An added attraction will be the appearance of Wilbur Cox, Remington Arms Company's marksman, who will give a demonstration of his spectacular shooting ability at 5 p. m., following the registered event.

Saturday's shoot is the first registered contest scheduled on the Ridgeley grounds and will afford shooters an opportunity to practice before the West Virginia state championship events are held July 18, 19 and 20.

Demonstrates All Types

Cox will demonstrate all types of shotguns, rifles and pistols. He converts heads of cabbage thrown into the air into cole slaw, crashes small blocks of wood into bits, explodes oranges, grapefruit and potatoes and does it all with such graceful ease that extremely difficult shots appear simple.

The shooting ability of the Remington expert is more than an exhibition of marksmanship. It is an example of what constant practice will accomplish. No admission is charged to witness Cox's exhibition.

Francis Wins Singles

Eighteen gunners participated in the shoot held last Sunday at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club traps. In spite of the high winds some nice scores were marked up. Tony Francis, Westernport, set the pace by breaking 49 out of 50 in the singles. Runner-up honors went to Harry Barton, of Barton's Dairy, who shattered 48 birds.

Ed McDonald, Headsville, W. Va., was high in the doubles, smashing 22 out of 12 pairs of targets. Francis was second with a score of 20.

Va.) Rod and Gun Club on Saturday. Cox will swing into action about 5 p. m. He will demonstrate all types of shotguns, rifles and pistols.

Boston Braves Gather 16 Hits, Beat Reds, 11-1

Red Barrett Scores 5th Straight Win

CINCINNATI, June 17—(AP)—The pace-setting Boston Braves pounded five Cincinnati pitchers for 16 hits today to win an easy ball game, 11 to 1.

The Reds' only run was a homer by third baseman Grady Hatton although Red Barrett was tagged for a dozen blows. It was Hatton's fifth round-tripper of the season.

Third Baseman Bob Elliott sparked the Braves attack, banging out three hits—one a triple—in four trips to drive in three runs. Barrett won his fifth straight and sixth win of the year. He has lost three.

Cincinnati had won six out of its last eight games before being pounced on by the Boston Busters. A crowd of 5,417 saw the one-sided contest. Box:

Pandoramint Wins When Nobby Boy Is Disqualified

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., June 17 (AP)—The Charles Town track was the scene today of a racing rarity—a dead heat and disqualification of one of the two winners.

R. E. Caldwell's Nobby Boy and S. J. Flammia's Pandoramint came in together in the fourth race so tightly that the camera could not separate them.

But the stewards settled the question by ruling that Nobby Boy came out of the gate from the outside post position and cut across horses, forcing them back before going into the lead.

Without waiting for formalities after the race, the stewards lighted the "objection" sign and gave the victory to Pandoramint and placed Nobby Boy last. W. C. Rick's Floater was second and B. Rinaldi's Moon Meadow was third.

Jockey Willie Kelly, aboard Nobby Boy, was suspended for 15 days.

Pandoramint's victory was worth a $36 win mutuel.

Brooklyn Dodgers Farm Ed Chandler And Rackley

CHICAGO, June 17—(AP)—Two Brooklyn rookies, Pitcher Ed Chandler and Outfielder Marv Rackley, were cut off the roster today and sent to farm clubs on option, subject to 24-hour recall.

Chandler, who lost his only decision as a big leaguer, was transferred to Fort Worth of the Texas League. Rackley, used chiefly as a pinch hitter and runner, went to St. Paul of the American Association.

The Dodgers also announced that Ed Head, who had pitched a no-hitter for them last year, had been moved from Fort Worth to St. Paul in an outright sale.

The Bird Jumped Like A Rabbit, Judge

ELK GROVE, Calif. (AP)—Judge G. F. Mix doesn't see why a man can't tell the difference between a hen pheasant and a jackrabbit.

When jackrabbit hunter George H. van Vliet was haled into Mix's court for possessing a hen pheasant during the closed season, the judge fined him $100.

In June and July, more than 1,200 persons will drown each month, if past experience holds true this year, the National Safety Council says.

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and adults are victims of Pin-Worms.

Watch for the warning signs, especially the embarrassing, nagging rectal itch. After centuries of Pin-Worm distress a really effective way to deal with them has been established through JAYNE'S P-W, the new Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets give satisfaction or your money back. So why take chances on Pin-Worms! If you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for P-W and follow the directions.

It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

The Bird Jumped Like A Rabbit, Judge

ELK GROVE, Calif. (AP)—Judge G. F. Mix doesn't see why a man can't tell the difference between a hen pheasant and a jackrabbit.

When jackrabbit hunter George H. van Vliet was haled into Mix's court for possessing a hen pheasant during the closed season, the judge fined him $100.

In June and July, more than 1,200 persons will drown each month, if past experience holds true this year, the National Safety Council says.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

Once upon a time a Little Girl named Margie Ottendorfer saw Katharine Hepburn in a Movie called "The Philadelphia Story." From that Very day, she Talked like Hepburn, Walked like Hepburn, and Fixed her Hair like Hepburn. Margie's Mother didn't like it One Bit when she started Wearing Slacks around the house and Putting her Feet on the Furniture. After Margie saw "Woman of the Year," even Spencer Tracy couldn't have Told the two Katharines Apart, at least over a Telephone.

Billy Rose

Now, it came to pass in this pale imitation of a George Ade Fable that the Big, Faceless Corporation for which Margie ran a Billing Machine scheduled her Annual Vacation the first week in June. The Corporation's Mr. Frobbinjay suggested to Margie that June in Atlantic City was Delightful. "Lots of Philadelphia Main Liners go there Early to Beat the Crowd," he told her with a Straight Face.

"Sounds dinky," said Miss Ottendorfer, and went home to Pack. Margie respected Mr. Frobbinjay's Judgment. He had once assured her that Skinny Legs were "the Sign of a Thoroughbred."

But, alas, Atlantic City in June was Not as Mr. Frobbinjay had Painted it. After the Memorial Day flurry, many of the Concessions had put the White Boards up again. Even the Lifeguards had just begun Cultivating their Sunburns. None of the Gentlemen Guests at the rooming house where Margie was staying had the Long, Lean Look. And they were Definitely not Main Line—their clothes were Too New. When they gave her the Big Wink, Margie refrigerated them with the Stare which had belted Cary Grant Back on his Heels. She had Little to Show for her first six days except a Becoming Dust of Freckles across the Bridge of her Nose.

The Last Lonesome Day of her vacation, Margie strolled down the Boardwalk past the Steel Pier, the Deserted Ballroom and the Silent Calliope. As she turned toward the beach, she saw a Man by the Water's Edge. She knew At Once he was The Man. She made her way across the Sand toward Him, and then Oh-So-Casually spread her Beach Mat, and Arranged herself upon it.

The Sun was high in the Sky, and the Witches' Potion began brewing on All Burners.

The man looked over and Promptly lost interest in the Ship on the Horizon. He lit a cigarette, let it Dangle from the Corner of his mouth, and squinted as the smoke Trickled past his eyes. Simultaneously, he let himself get a little Roundshouldered and his head Jutted forward. The name on Our Hero's social security card was Hugo Wister, but Inside, where it Really Counted, he was Humphrey Bogart. And he had been Humphrey Bogart ever since the Third Reel of "Casablanca." Even the Hawaiian Motif of his bathing Trunks couldn't detract from the look of Sultry Danger on his face.

He Slouched Over to the girl in the White Bathing Suit. "Hiya, Slim," he Growled. "You're rushing the season, ain'tcha?"

Margie gave him the Cool Up-And-Down. Definitely not Her Set, but she liked the Blunt Honesty of his Approach. "Hello, there," she said, in Katie's best Man-to-Man Manner.

For the next two hours they Talked. Margie told him about her Nanny, the Stag-Lines at the Cotillions, and the Darling little saddle horse her Uncle had given her when she was Eleven.

Hugo Blew Smoke in Margie's face and told her about the Rum-Running around Key West, the Gambling Joints in North Africa, and Paris The Day the Nazis marched in. And then his voice Trailed Off, and for a long count of 20, he Said Nothing. Just looked at the Sea and Hummed, "As Time Goes By."

At 4:00 o'clock, he Kissed her, Kissed her Hard. Margie Liked It, but the Bogart Frontal Attack confused her. She couldn't remember Hepburn and Bogart in the Same Picture and she wasn't quite sure what to Do.

As the sun Dropped Behind the Boardwalk Buildings, Hugo tightened his Fingers around her wrist. "Want to see you Some More, Slim," he said. "You and me—we're off the same Assembly Line. How's about Dinner? There's a Trap down on Connecticut Street with a piano man who only plays on the Black Keys."

"Sounds dinky," said Margie. "Meet me in the Lobby of the Traymore at 8:00. I'll put the 'Dutchess'—that's Mother—to bed Early."

"Check," said Hugo Wister. He gave her the Short Jab to the Arm and walked away.

Margie spent Fifty-Five Minutes on her hair-do getting it to look Casual. Then she took out of her valise the Man-Tailored Suit she had already packed for Going Home Time.

Hugo was Twenty Minutes Late. The house detective at the Traymore Blinked when the young man Slouched In with his hat pulled over His Eyes, and his fists Deep in the Pockets of a Bogart-type Raincoat. Margie was Thrilled, but she did wish he had Worn a Tie.

Their next Four Hours together were Right Out of "Keeper of the Flame," "The Big Sleep," and "To Have and Have Not." After Three rum cokes, Hugo had the piano man play, "My Wonderful One." As they Danced, Margie found she liked it Fine when he held her A Little Too Close. At Midnight, he Cupped her Chin in his hand and said, "I'm Blowing this Town tomorrow. Got a Little Chore to do in New York. What's your phone number, Kid? Might invest in a Call some Rainy Night, if I thought it would Pay Dividends."

Margie Choked on her Chiclet. Then she Pulled herself Together. "Isn't that a Coincidence?" she improvised. "I expect to be in New York this summer Myself. Just for the Devil of it, I've taken a Job at the Consolidated Edison Company. Billing Department. Extension 385."

Hugo grinned, and then he Kissed Her. But this time like Wister, not Bogart. "By a Strange Coincidence," he said, Gently, "I can Also be reached at the Consolidated Edison Company. Repair Department. Extension 181."

And They Lived Happily Ever After.

Moral: Why be yourself, when there are so many better personalities available?

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Small Town Lawyer

As Lawyer Tucker in the new program of that name (CBS 9 p. m. EDT Thursdays), Parker Fennelly is a bit of Ephraim Tutt, a bit of Calvin Coolidge and a lot of Titus Moody, the character he normally plays on the Fred Allen show. He is, in short, cynical, shrewd, kind-hearted in a pickle-puss way, a defender of the oppressed, and a deflater of politicians. And through it all, he is rustic as all tarnation, a cuss word of such mild voltage that it's allowed on the air.

John Crosby

"Bein' at a bar of justice is like bein' at any bar," says Lawyer Tucker. "Sometimes what you're handed is mixed wrong. Gets ya into trouble. Ya know there's some folks that looks down their noses at a city the size of this. An' lookin' down his nose a feller's not apt to see much except maybe a wart or a freckle."

That is a fair example both of the prose style Lawyer Tucker employs and the sentiments he enjoys expressing. I'm afraid the Lawyer just isn't as shrewd as the authors seem to think he is or nearly as witty as Titus Moody, who used to have trouble sleeping because he had short eyelids.

Around Lawyer Tucker are gathered a paste-up of small town types most of them recognizable. Tucker has a law partner named Biggers who is a dope or, to be more specific, a Harvard man. Biggers is meek, confused and a little pompous.

Then there's Tucker's sister, Sairie, spinsterish, respectable and smelling faintly of lavender. Also around is a nonegarian with as irritating a wheeze as I've heard in some time and a villain named Whateley who got what was coming to him just as the curtain fell.

The plot of the first episode was a slow-moving, almost non-moving, business about Tucker's retirement from the law, a retirement which lasts, only about twenty minutes. Through it all Fennelly talks that clipped, twangy American he does so well on the Allen show ("Don't lose your temper, Dan'l." "Ain't lost it. Just found it.") but somehow isn't very funny. The show wallowed rather uncertainly between characters, situation and gag comedy without ever quite making up its mind.

There's no reason why the adventures of a small town lawyer shouldn't make good comedy, particularly when he's played by as skilled an actor as Parker Fennelly. But the writers will have to pump a little more lift, a lot more comedy and much more action into the script before this hits the mark. Well, this is only the first script and maybe next time they will.

Incidentally, Auto-Lite which sponsors the show still has that foghorn voice in there advising you to switch to Auto-Lite, but they appear to have cut down the number of times it's inflicted on the listeners. It only appeared six times in this script which is about five too many.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, June 18—I hope you're as thrilled as I am over the idea of Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier in "Ivanhoe". Yes, Dore Schary, who has put over so many important deals for RKO, arranged with J. Arthur Rank, when the British movie mogul was here, to have "Ivanhoe" filmed in England with Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh — pardon me, Sir Laurence and Lady Vivien, who are under contract to Rank.

Now that Larry has been knighted, there is less chance of his coming to America, so RKO goes to England for Laurence and Vivien and all the beautiful, natural backgrounds of the novel which will be made in technicolor at a cost of over $3-000,000.

Crawford

One hundred thousand smackers were paid to Paramount by RKO for the privilege of filming "Ivanhoe". Of course, "Ivanhoe", written in 1819, is in public domain, but the script furnished by Aeneas McKenzie was worth every penny of that. He had worked on it for years using the title "The Black Knight."

The news about Emmet Lavery's play, "The Magnificent Yankee" is that Ben Bogeaus has bought the screen rights, but that Louis Calhern will not play the lead he created on the stage. Ben will pick a younger actor, and show more of the earlier life of Oliver Wendell Holmes in the screen version. I believe the movie can be better than the play, since the stage really cried for more of the young Oliver Wendell Holmes. So often a movie is better than the original play or the book.

Speaking of Ben Bogeaus—Richard English has the very delectable assignment of preparing "Lulu Belle" for Dorothy Lamour. Couldn't get a better writer than Dick.

Harry James up and bought himself an original titled, "Downbeat For Two", by Frank Waldman, which he will angel as an independent movie after he finishes one for 20th.

Funny that Mr. Horn Tooter should have bought a story which deals with the hardships of an orchestra leader's wife on account of his wife, Betty Grable, hasn't had any hardships being married to him.

Of course, if Harry can just talk Betty into being his star it would certainly be good bait at the box office. But getting Grable away from 20th is really pulling their "underpinnings" from under them.

Chatter in Hollywood: Nobody knows about it — but for six weeks, Bruce Cabot has steadily been losing his voice. Ever since he made a movie on location in Arizona, where he breathed in sand and dust, he has suffered an irritation of his left vocal chord that is growing more and more serious.

So, on June 19 he goes into the hospital for an operation which Dr. Joel Pressman (Claudette Colbert's husband) will perform.

I doubt if this would have come out about Bruce if he hadn't done a swell thing and turned down a big role in an Edward Small picture because he didn't want to take a chance of having to quit in the middle of the film—and cost Eddie a lot of money.

The jewels and furs Don (Red) Barry is lavishing on Joan Crawford has Hollywood a-buzzin' and how!

In a short time, he has bestowed a diamond necklace, a sapphire compact and a platina fox coat on Joan. This romance is really getting to the serious stage, for Don's four-year-old son is a frequent visitor to the Crawford menage, and was very much on hand for Christina Crawford's eighth birthday party last week.

A rough estimate on the value of what Barry has given his favorite lady friend is about $75,000. Apparently, there's gold in them thar western movies.

Little Gloria Jean is taking the first boat from England following the ridiculous lambasting given her by British critics because she sang "The Lord's Prayer" as part of her act on a personal appearance tour.

Do you know why the worthy gentlemen objected? Because of the line, "Forgive Us Our Debts, As We Forgive Our Debtors". The critics screamed to high heaven that it was a subtle insult to the Empire which owes this nation millions. Now I ask you.

I'm glad Gloria Jean had the spunk to refuse to delete the number from her repertoire, and when the house manager insisted, she packed up for home.

What a tempest in a teapot—or am I reminding someone of the Boston Tea Party?

Crosby's Summer Finale Will Be Heard At 10 P. M.

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 17.—Meredith Willson goes back on CBS Wednesday night at 8:30 with a revival of his former Friday musical presentation. Not only is he to be the summer replacement for the Dinah Shore show but next winter as well, as the contract says. Helping out in the opener will be Ben Gage, baritone-announcer, and Paulena Carter, concert pianist at 17.

Over an ABC another event is taking place at 10. It will be the summer finale for Bing Crosby's first recorded network series. His vacation is to last until September 24. And helping out in the temporary good-bye will be Bob Hope, himself on a radio vacation. Rather anticipatory of what effect this show will have on the air audience, the piece hailing it rather frankly quoted that it will "keep listeners in stitches."

Bernard Herrmann at the baton of Invitation to Music on CBS at 10:30 will concentrate on chamber works, particularly those of the Composers Boch and Walton.

The Whistler of CBS at 9 intends to whistle his way through a piece called "Ambassador of Death," all about a couple of career diplomats.

Opinionaire, the MBS court-room type forum with a poll of listeners appended, will asked: "Do you Believe in the Truman Doctrine?" It goes on at 9.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

Once upon a time a Little Girl named Margie Ottendorfer saw Katharine Hepburn in a Movie called "The Philadelphia Story." From that Very day, she Talked like Hepburn, Walked like Hepburn, and Fixed her Hair like Hepburn. Margie's Mother didn't like it One Bit when she started Wearing Slacks around the house and Putting her Feet on the Furniture. After Margie saw "Woman of the Year," even Spencer Tracy couldn't have Told the two Katharines Apart, at least over a Telephone.

Billy Rose

Now, it came to pass in this pale imitation of a George Ade Fable that the Big, Faceless Corporation for which Margie ran a Billing Machine scheduled her Annual Vacation the first week in June. The Corporation's Mr. Frobbinjay suggested to Margie that June in Atlantic City was Delightful. "Lots of Philadelphia Main Liners go there Early to Beat the Crowd," he told her with a Straight Face.

"Sounds dinky," said Miss Ottendorfer, and went home to Pack. Margie respected Mr. Frobbinjay's Judgment. He had once assured her that Skinny Legs were "the Sign of a Thoroughbred."

But, alas, Atlantic City in June was Not as Mr. Frobbinjay had Painted it. After the Memorial Day flurry, many of the Concessions had put the White Boards up again. Even the Lifeguards had just begun Cultivating their Sunburns. None of the Gentlemen Guests at the rooming house where Margie was staying had the Long, Lean Look. And they were Definitely not Main Line—their clothes were Too New. When they gave her the Big Wink, Margie refrigerated them with the Stare which had belted Cary Grant Back on his Heels. She had Little to Show for her first six days except a Becoming Dust of Freckles across the Bridge of her Nose.

The Last Lonesome Day of her vacation, Margie strolled down the Boardwalk past the Steel Pier, the Deserted Ballroom and the Silent Calliope. As she turned toward the beach, she saw a Man by the Water's Edge. She knew At Once he was The Man. She made her way across the Sand toward Him, and then Oh-So-Casually spread her Beach Mat, and Arranged herself upon it.

The Sun was high in the Sky, and the Witches' Potion began brewing on All Burners.

The man looked over and Promptly lost interest in the Ship on the Horizon. He lit a cigarette, let it Dangle from the Corner of his mouth, and squinted as the smoke Trickled past his eyes. Simultaneously, he let himself get a little Roundshouldered and his head Jutted forward. The name on Our Hero's social security card was Hugo Wister, but Inside, where it Really Counted, he was Humphrey Bogart. And he had been Humphrey Bogart ever since the Third Reel of "Casablanca." Even the Hawaiian Motif of his bathing Trunks couldn't detract from the look of Sultry Danger on his face.

He Slouched Over to the girl in the White Bathing Suit. "Hiya, Slim," he Growled. "You're rushing the season, ain'tcha?"

Margie gave him the Cool Up-And-Down. Definitely not Her Set, but she liked the Blunt Honesty of his Approach. "Hello, there," she said, in Katie's best Man-to-Man Manner.

For the next two hours they Talked. Margie told him about her Nanny, the Stag-Lines at the Cotillions, and the Darling little saddle horse her Uncle had given her when she was Eleven.

Hugo Blew Smoke in Margie's face and told her about the Rum-Running around Key West, the Gambling Joints in North Africa, and Paris The Day the Nazis marched in. And then his voice Trailed Off, and for a long count of 20, he Said Nothing. Just looked at the Sea and Hummed, "As Time Goes By."

At 4:00 o'clock, he Kissed her, Kissed her Hard. Margie Liked It, but the Bogart Frontal Attack confused her. She couldn't remember Hepburn and Bogart in the Same Picture and she wasn't quite sure what to Do.

As the sun Dropped Behind the Boardwalk Buildings, Hugo tightened his Fingers around her wrist. "Want to see you Some More, Slim," he said. "You and me—we're off the same Assembly Line. How's about Dinner? There's a Trap down on Connecticut Street with a piano man who only plays on the Black Keys."

"Sounds dinky," said Margie. "Meet me in the Lobby of the Traymore at 8:00. I'll put the 'Dutchess'—that's Mother—to bed Early."

"Check," said Hugo Wister. He gave her the Short Jab to the Arm and walked away.

Margie spent Fifty-Five Minutes on her hair-do getting it to look Casual. Then she took out of her valise the Man-Tailored Suit she had already packed for Going Home Time.

Hugo was Twenty Minutes Late. The house detective at the Traymore Blinked when the young man Slouched In with his hat pulled over His Eyes, and his fists Deep in the Pockets of a Bogart-type Raincoat. Margie was Thrilled, but she did wish he had Worn a Tie.

Their next Four Hours together were Right Out of "Keeper of the Flame," "The Big Sleep," and "To Have and Have Not." After Three rum cokes, Hugo had the piano man play, "My Wonderful One." As they Danced, Margie found she liked it Fine when he held her A Little Too Close. At Midnight, he Cupped her Chin in his hand and said, "I'm Blowing this Town tomorrow. Got a Little Chore to do in New York. What's your phone number, Kid? Might invest in a Call some Rainy Night, if I thought it would Pay Dividends."

Margie Choked on her Chiclet. Then she Pulled herself Together. "Isn't that a Coincidence?" she improvised. "I expect to be in New York this summer Myself. Just for the Devil of it, I've taken a Job at the Consolidated Edison Company, Billing Department. Extension 385."

Hugo grinned, and then he Kissed Her. But this time like Wister, not Bogart. "By a Strange Coincidence," he said, Gently, "I can Also be reached at the Consolidated Edison Company. Repair Department. Extension 181."

And They Lived Happily Ever After.

Moral: Why be yourself, when there are so many better personalities available?

Crosby's Summer Finale Will Be Heard At 10 P. M.

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 17.—Meredith Willson goes back on CBS Wednesday night at 8:30 with a revival of his former Friday musical presentation. Not only is he to be the summer replacement for the Dinah Shore show but next winter as well, as the contract says. Helping out in the opener will be Ben Gage, baritone-announcer, and Paulena Carter, concert pianist at 17.

Over an ABC another event is taking place at 10. It will be the summer finale for Bing Crosby's first recorded network series. His vacation is to last until September 24. And helping out in the temporary good-bye will be Bob Hope, himself on a radio vacation. Rather anticipatory of what effect this show will have on the air audience, the piece hailing it rather frankly quoted that it will "keep listeners in stitches."

Bernard Herrmann at the baton of Invitation to Music on CBS at 10:30 will concentrate on chamber works, particularly those of the Composers Boch and Walton.

The Whistler of CBS at 9 intends to whistle his way through a piece called "Ambassador of Death," all about a couple of career diplomats.

Opinionaire, the MBS court-room type forum with a poll of listeners appended, will asked: "Do you Believe in the Truman Doctrine?" It goes on at 9.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Small Town Lawyer

As Lawyer Tucker in the new program of that name (CBS 9 p. m. EDT Thursdays), Parker Fennelly is a bit of Ephraim Tutt, a bit of Calvin Coolidge and a lot of Titus Moody, the character he normally plays on the Fred Allen show. He is, in short, cynical, shrewd, kind-hearted in a pickle-puss way, a defender of the oppressed, and a deflater of politicians. And through it all, he is rustic as all tarnation, a cuss word of such mild voltage that it's allowed on the air.

John Crosby

"Bein' at a bar of justice is like bein' at any bar," says Lawyer Tucker. "Sometimes what you're handed is mixed wrong. Gets ya into trouble. Ya know there's some folks that looks down their noses at a city the size of this. An' lookin' down his nose a feller's not apt to see much except maybe a wart or a freckle."

That is a fair example both of the prose style Lawyer Tucker employs and the sentiments he enjoys expressing. I'm afraid the Lawyer just isn't as shrewd as the authors seem to think he is or nearly as witty as Titus Moody, who used to have trouble sleeping because he had short eyelids.

Around Lawyer Tucker are gathered a paste-up of small town types most of them recognizable. Tucker has a law partner named Biggers who is a dope or, to be more specific, a Harvard man. Biggers is meek, confused and a little pompous.

Then there's Tucker's sister, Sairie, spinsterish, respectable and smelling faintly of lavender. Also around is a nonegarian with as irritating a wheeze as I've heard in some time and a villain named Whateley who got what was coming to him just as the curtain fell.

The plot of the first episode was a slow-moving, almost non-moving, business about Tucker's retirement from the law, a retirement which lasts, only about twenty minutes. Through it all Fennelly talks that clipped, twangy American he does so well on the Allen show ("Don't lose your temper, Dan'l." "Ain't lost it. Just found it.") but somehow isn't very funny. The show wallowed rather uncertainly between characters, situation and gag comedy without ever quite making up its mind.

There's no reason why the adventures of a small town lawyer shouldn't make good comedy, particularly when he's played by as skilled an actor as Parker Fennelly. But the writers will have to pump a little more lift, a lot more comedy and much more action into the script before this hits the mark. Well, this is only the first script and maybe next time they will.

Incidentally, Auto-Lite which sponsors the show still has that foghorn voice in there advising you to switch to Auto-Lite, but they appear to have cut down the number of times it's inflicted on the listeners. It only appeared six times in this script which is about five too many.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, June 18—I hope you're as thrilled as I am over the idea of Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier in "Ivanhoe". Yes, Dore Schary, who has put over so many important deals for RKO, arranged with J. Arthur Rank, when the British movie mogul was here, to have "Ivanhoe" filmed in England with Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh — pardon me, Sir Laurence and Lady Vivien, who are under contract to Rank.

Now that Larry has been knighted, there is less chance of his coming to America, so RKO goes to England for Laurence and Vivien and all the beautiful, natural backgrounds of the novel which will be made in technicolor at a cost of over $3-000,000.

Crawford

One hundred thousand smackers were paid to Paramount by RKO for the privilege of filming "Ivanhoe". Of course, "Ivanhoe", written in 1819, is in public domain, but the script furnished by Aeneas McKenzie was worth every penny of that. He had worked on it for years using the title "The Black Knight."

The news about Emmet Lavery's play, "The Magnificent Yankee" is that Ben Bogeaus has bought the screen rights, but that Louis Calhern will not play the lead he created on the stage. Ben will pick a younger actor, and show more of the earlier life of Oliver Wendell Holmes in the screen version. I believe the movie can be better than the play, since the stage really cried for more of the young Oliver Wendell Holmes. So often a movie is better than the original play or the book.

Speaking of Ben Bogeaus—Richard English has the very delectable assignment of preparing "Lulu Belle" for Dorothy Lamour. Couldn't get a better writer than Dick.

Harry James up and bought himself an original titled, "Downbeat For Two", by Frank Waldman, which he will angel as an independent movie after he finishes one for 20th.

Funny that Mr. Horn Tooter should have bought a story which deals with the hardships of an orchestra leader's wife on account of his wife, Betty Grable, hasn't had any hardships being married to him.

Of course, if Harry can just talk Betty into being his star it would certainly be good bait at the box office. But getting Grable away from 20th is really pulling their "underpinnings" from under them.

Chatter in Hollywood: Nobody knows about it — but for six weeks, Bruce Cabot has steadily been losing his voice. Ever since he made a movie on location in Arizona, where he breathed in sand and dust, he has suffered an irritation of his left vocal chord that is growing more and more serious.

So, on June 19 he goes into the hospital for an operation which Dr. Joel Pressman (Claudette Colbert's husband) will perform.

I doubt if this would have come out about Bruce if he hadn't done a swell thing and turned down a big role in an Edward Small picture because he didn't want to take a chance of having to quit in the middle of the film—and cost Eddie a lot of money.

The jewels and furs Don (Red) Barry is lavishing on Joan Crawford has Hollywood a-buzzin' and how!

In a short time, he has bestowed a diamond necklace, a sapphire compact and a platina fox coat on Joan. This romance is really getting to the serious stage, for Don's four-year-old son is a frequent visitor to the Crawford menage, and was very much on hand for Christina Crawford's eighth birthday party last week.

A rough estimate on the value of what Barry has given his favorite lady friend is about $75,000. Apparently, there's gold in them thar western movies.

Little Gloria Jean is taking the first boat from England following the ridiculous lambasting given her by British critics because she sang "The Lord's Prayer" as part of her act on a personal appearance tour.

Do you know why the worthy gentlemen objected? Because of the line, "Forgive Us Our Debts, As We Forgive Our Debtors". The critics screamed to high heaven that it was a subtle insult to the Empire which owes this nation millions. Now I ask you.

I'm glad Gloria Jean had the spunk to refuse to delete the number from her repertoire, and when the house manager insisted, she packed up for home.

What a tempest in a teapot—or am I reminding someone of the Boston Tea Party?

For the Interesting If True Department: Gen. Walter Bedell (Beetle) Smith has concluded that his days of usefulness as an Ambassador to Russia are at an end and wants to come home .. American locomotives that arrived in Czechoslovakia via our Lend-Lease channels were decorted with photographs of Stalin . . . Hank Wallace is resisting all efforts of Butch LaGuardia to form a political union ("Wallace One World" buttons that made their first appearance at the Newark, N. J., rally sponsored by the New Jersey Independent Citizens League June 9 were dreamed up by his local sponsors.) . . . Mayor O'Dwyer has notified President Truman that unless he vetoes the Taft-Hartley labor bill he can't count on New York State in '48 and that he (O'Dwyer) will instruct delegates to throw the nomination to Eisenhower.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their sympathy and kindness in our bereavement, the death of our beloved sister and sister-in-law, Miss Rose B. Boch. The lovely flowers and cars loaned for the funeral were greatly appreciated.

MR. and MRS. EDWARD C. BOCH

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors, who were so kind to us in our recent breavement, the death of our beloved husband and father William Blocher. We wish to thank those who sent floral offerings and loaned cars for the funeral and also to express gratitude for the many acts of kindness and consideration.

THE BLOCHER FAMILY.

White Rajah Waits

SINGAPORE (AP) — Britain's "Young Pretender" to the throne of Sarawak, Anthony Brooke, apparently is settling down here in Singapore hoping to outsit the British Government which has banned his return to the country once ruled by his family.

Brooke has taken a house here on a one-year lease, with option to renew the lease. For the past several months he has been living in a seaside hotel. His stated position is that he wants to return to Sarawak to determine whether or not the majority of the people support the cession of the country to the British crown by his uncle, the last "White Rajah," Sir Charles Vyner Brooke.

High British officials here, however, indicate that they have no intention of permitting Brooke to visit Sarawak. Insisting that the opponents to cession are only a small minority of the country's population, they privately say they fear his visit would bring forth demonstrations that would result in communal violence among the country's primitive inhabitants.

Stocks Wave Uncertainly And End With Narrow Losses In Slow Market

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP) —Stocks wavered uncertainly in a slow market session today and finished with narrow losses predominating.

Many pivotal industrials took a downward slant from the start and except for a moderate midday improvement in motors and some steels, stayed in lower territory.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite slipped .1 of a point to 63.3. of 895 issues registering in the narrowest session since June 9, there were 417 declines and 274 advances. Total transfers of 670,000 shares were the lightest in a week and compared with 990,000 Monday.

American Telephone touched another new 1947 low at 156 and finished off 1½ at 156¼. Allied Chemical after reaching a new high for the year reacted to close 1⅜ lower at 178½. Monsanto dropped to 58⅞, off 1⅜, and other losers included Bethlehem, Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, Great Northern Preferred, Standard Oil (N. J.), U. S. Gypsum, Oliver Corp., Air Reduction, General Electric and American Smelting.

Central States Electric preferred jumped 6⅛ in the curb on a reorganization proposal. Depressed were Humble Oil, American Gas & Electric and American Cyanamid. Turnover of 250,000 shares here compared with 350,000 yesterday.

The bond market couldn't decide which way to go today and closed with a fairly even mixture of small gains and losses. New capital markets were fairly active.

Volume dwindled to $2,630,000 from yesterday's slim $3,010,000.

U. S. Governments held steady in dealer trade, the victory loan 2½s of '67-'72 remaining at 102 28-32 bid.

White Rajah Waits

SINGAPORE (AP) — Britain's "Young Pretender" to the throne of Sarawak, Anthony Brooke, apparently is settling down here in Singapore hoping to outsit the British Government which has banned his return to the country once ruled by his family.

Brooke has taken a house here on a one-year lease, with option to renew the lease. For the past several months he has been living in a seaside hotel. His stated position is that he wants to return to Sarawak to determine whether or not the majority of the people support the cession of the country to the British crown by his uncle, the last "White Rajah," Sir Charles Vyner Brooke.

High British officials here, however, indicate that they have no intention of permitting Brooke to visit Sarawak. Insisting that the opponents to cession are only a small minority of the country's population, they privately say they fear his visit would bring forth demonstrations that would result in communal violence among the country's primitive inhabitants.

Stocks Wave Uncertainly And End With Narrow Losses In Slow Market

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP) —Stocks wavered uncertainly in a slow market session today and finished with narrow losses predominating.

Many pivotal industrials took a downward slant from the start and except for a moderate midday improvement in motors and some steels, stayed in lower territory.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite slipped .1 of a point to 63.3. of 895 issues registering in the narrowest session since June 9, there were 417 declines and 274 advances. Total transfers of 670,000 shares were the lightest in a week and compared with 990,000 Monday.

American Telephone touched another new 1947 low at 156 and finished off 1½ at 156¼. Allied Chemical after reaching a new high for the year reacted to close 1⅜ lower at 178½. Monsanto dropped to 58⅞, off 1⅜, and other losers included Bethlehem, Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, Great Northern Preferred, Standard Oil (N. J.), U. S. Gypsum, Oliver Corp., Air Reduction, General Electric and American Smelting.

Central States Electric preferred jumped 6⅛ in the curb on a reorganization proposal. Depressed were Humble Oil, American Gas & Electric and American Cyanamid. Turnover of 250,000 shares here compared with 350,000 yesterday.

The bond market couldn't decide which way to go today and closed with a fairly even mixture of small gains and losses. New capital markets were fairly active.

A handful of rails attracted modest backing but on the whole investors continued in their persistent mood of reluctance to step decisively into the market one way or another.

Volume dwindled to $2,630,000 from yesterday's slim $3,010,000.

U. S. Governments held steady in dealer trade, the victory loan 2½s of '67-72 remaining at 102 28-32 bid.

State Firemen To Open Convention This Afternoon

1,000 Delegates Are Expected To Attend

A holiday atmosphere swept through Western Maryland's Mountain City last night as large delegations of volunteer firemen from all parts of Maryland began arriving in Frostburg for the 55th annual convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, which officially opens at 2 p. m. today in Beall Elementary School.

Ralph M. Race, convention committee chairman, said Association officials had overcome their greatest handicap, a deficit of housing and will be able to accommodate fire fighters from all 224 member companies, and 103 Auxiliary units. Arrangements for accommodating the visitors were made at all Frostburg hotels, State Teachers College dormitories, numerous private homes, and in Lonaconing, Midland and Cumberland. The third floor of the Frostburg Fire Company building has been converted into a dormitory, with cots arranged for several score delegates.

A kick-off dinner was held last night at Clary Club, for state officers, state and county officials and guests. About 70 attended, with Ralph Race as toastmaster.

Politics Humming

The usual convention political talk was much in evidence last night, and known candidates included Charles H. Stallings, Jr., Pikesville, for president; E. L. Walston, Preston, for first vice president to succeed Stallings; and John H. Lexey, Jessups, a candidate for the state board of trustees.

A delegation representing the Anne Arundel County Association, which includes 18 companies, said they will present a resolution to the convention to divide the state into seven districts, with one representative elected from each district to comprise the executive committee.

Under present by-laws, the president has always named his executive committee by appointment, but the Anne Arundel Association believes an elective system would be better. They presented the matter to the executive committee meeting in May at Frederick, and it was rejected, so it will be brought before the convention, delegates said, in the form of a resolution. There was opposition being voiced last night.

Expect 3500 Visitors

A total of 1,000 delegates are expected to register for the convention and registration headquarters has been set up in the Firemen's Hall at Frostburg. A total of 3,500 visiting firemen are expected by Friday, the day of the big parade, and over $100,000 worth of fire-fighting equipment is expected to participate. A total of $1,200 in parade prizes will be distributed.

Besides taking in equipment exhibits, settling state firemen's affairs, dancing and attending their own spontaneous parties, the delegates will hear talks by Dr. H. C. Byrd, University of Maryland president; Former Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore; Former State Senator Phil Ryan, who is a past president of the association; Representative J. Glenn Beall and William A. Gunter, attorney.

Attorney General Hall Hammond is one of the state dignataries invited to join the proceedings. Marshal C. Skidmore, the town's mayor, will welcome the delegates.

The principal officers of the state organization are W. Bartgis Storm, Frederick, president; Charles H. Stallings, Jr., Pikesville, first vice-president; G. Mitchell Boulden, Elkton, second vice-president; B. R. Benson, III, Towson, secretary; William A. Wilson, Midland, treasurer; Rev. James W. Minter, Baltimore, chaplain.

The board of trustees consists of Eugene J. C. Raney, Kensington, chairman; Curtis C. Larrimore, Easton, secretary; John O. Cockey, Glyndon, John S. Prichard, Grantsville and Showard T. Culver, Hebron.

Members of the executive committee are Landon Walston, Kensington, chairman; Lindsay L. Browning, Mount Airy; Ted C. Gardner, Riverdale Heights; Bradley C. Riggs, Kensington and J. Franklin Stevens, Annapolis.

Feature Displays

One of the features of the convention will be an exhibit of fire fighting equipment, which will be arranged on the grounds and in the lobby of Beall Elementary School. The display will consist of ancient and modern fire fighting equipment. There will also be a display of pictures, including scenes of some of the state's biggest fires, the equipment used in the early days of the county, famous firemen of many of the state's best known volunteer firemen. This exhibit will be in charge of the historical and archives committee of the state association headed by Henry Marachalk.

Firemen Pick Bad Time For Frostburg State Conventions

FROSTBURG, June 17—An old resident, who claims to be a little superstitious about the figure three, said tonight, "Every time the firemen have a state convention here there is something wrong.

"In 1922," he explained, "when the firemen met in Frostburg there was a big coal miners' strike underway. In 1932 when they came back again, the depression was well underway and no one had much money. This year they meet here in the middle of a bad strike at the Celanese.

"Maybe the next time they come back the jinx will be over," he said with a wry grin. "You know everything bad happens in threes."

Mrs. Ralph Stein Recommended For Playground Head

Virginia Avenue May Have Playground

Mrs. Ralph Stein, 450 Walnut Street, has been recommended for appointment as city playground supervisor for the second successive year, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

Mayor Post, a member of the Park Board, which includes Commissioner Myers G. Light and Mrs. Marguerite E. Findlay, said the board decided on the recommendation at a recent meeting. Appointment to the position, which pays a monthly salary of $125, is made by the Mayor and Council.

The eight city playgrounds, Columbia Street, Pennsylvania Avenue, North End, West Side, East Side, Mt. Royal, Gephart and Pine Avenue, are scheduled to open next Monday for 10 weeks.

In addition, Commissioner Light previously indicated that a playground will be put into operation on Lafayette Avenue this summer. The Park Board has approved a plan to open a playground at Centre School, subject to the approval of Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

Mayor Post said that he has been notified by the Parent-Teacher Association of Virginia Avenue School that Kopp has given his approval of using a vacant yard at the school for a playground this summer. The city can probably secure swings and a slide for that playground, the mayor said.

He added that several more applications for playleader posts at city playgrounds have been received, and that appointments are scheduled to be made tomorrow.

Commissioner Light has been invited to represent the board at a meeting of the City Playground Associations tomorrow night at City Hall, when final plans for the playground season will be discussed.

Man Found In Pipe Dies In Hospital

DeWitt T. Bosley, 60, an Army veteran of World War I, who was hospitalized here a month ago after he was found living in a large section of concrete pipe in a field along the C. and O. canal near the old glass factory in South Cumberland, died yesterday at 12:30 p. m. in Newton D. Baker Veterans' Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., where he had been a patient for several weeks.

Police reported Mr. Bosley had been living in the pipe for about a week before he was found there, and that nearby residents carried sandwiches to him after he became too ill to leave the pipe. He was taken to Memorial Hospital and later was admitted to the veterans' hospital.

A native of Martinsburg, Mr. Bosley was a son of the late Charles W. and Jennie M. Chestnut Bosley. After his Army service in World War I, he was retired on a disability pension and resided for several years in Brunswick, where he held membership in the American Legion.

His only immediate survivor is a brother, Charles C. Bosley, 144 Thomas Street, with whom he had resided.

The body has been taken to the Stein Funeral Home, where final rites will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. Rev. J. C. Ledbetter, pastor of Second Baptist Church, will officiate, and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

MRS. SUSIE MILLESON

Mrs. Susie French Milleson, wife of Silas C. Milleson, of near Springfield, died suddenly at her home Monday evening. She underwent an operation two months ago at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, from which she had not recovered, although she was able to be up and around the house.

Miss Cumberland Beauty Pageant Contestants Will Be In Parade

Cumberlanders will get a prevue of contestants for the title of "Miss Cumberland—Queen of the Queen City" next Saturday night when the girls participate in a parade that will begin promptly at 7:30 at the State Armory, South Centre Street.

With plenty of fanfare being provided by the bugle and drum corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, and the Sons of the Legion, American Legion Post No. 13, the girls will ride in open automobiles from the armory to Market Street, on Centre, across Market and down Mechanic Street to the Maryland Theater, where the Miss Cumberland Pageant will be staged at 8:30.

The parade has been arranged by Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., of the pageant committee, in order to give the local contest a similar atmosphere to that of the Miss America Beauty Pageant which will be staged at Atlantic City in September.

"A Cumberland girl might go on to win the title of Miss Maryland and then become Miss America," Conlon said yesterday, "and if she does, we want her to have full experience in pageant activities when the big day arrives."

An escort of State and City Police will accompany the contestants in the parade, and Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., Cumberland's veteran parade marshal, will be on hand to see that everything goes off according to schedule.

Miss Cumberland contestants are rehearsing daily for their coming stage presentation, under a committee headed by Mrs. Louise Youngblood Moore, local actress and stage enthusiast. Mrs. Moore is being assisted by Miss Jean Knight, script writer for radio station WTBO; Mrs. Carl F. Ballard, who, as Dixie Rafter won the title of "Miss Washington, D. C.," in 1943, and participated in the Atlantic City Miss America Pageant and Miss Rebecca Dantzig, pianist for Jay Van's Orchestra.

Lough, service officer; Roland H. Tabler, chaplain; and John D. Brehany, executive committeeman. The installation was followed by a buffet luncheon and a dance for members and guests.

Grocers Propose Monthly Reports On Sales Tax

A resolution urging that monthly reports on collections of the consumer sales tax, which goes into effect in Maryland July 1, be made to James J. Lacey, state comptroller, to simplify the task of reporting the tax, was passed unanimously last night at the regular meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, held at the LaVale Fire Hall.

A copy of the resolution, which stated that "it is already evident that efforts is being made to make the agency for the enforcement of this law a rallying point for political job-seekers," was ordered sent to the state comptroller.

In introducing the resolution, J. Goodloe Jackson, secretary, said that business began to feel the brunt of ever-increasing tax levies when taxation of land property and real estate reached the point where added revenue could not be obtained from those sources.

Stating that the tax burden is being placed more and more on those least able to bear it—the wage earners—Jackson said, "In this particular (consumer sales) tax we see the sorry spectacle of a governor using power politics to the nth degree to frustrate the already expressed wishes of the people as carried out by their duly elected representatives."

Warning that enforcement of the tax may lead employment of an increasing number of enforcement agents and that the time may come when the entire amount collected from the tax will be spent in paying salaries, the resolution suggested several methods of simplifying the problem of collection and reporting the tax.

The association urged that each retailer place a box at his cash register and place therein the tax money he collects after each sale of taxable items; that a monthly report be made to the state comptroller, enclosing receipts from the tax; and that a yearly report be made on sales tax receipts.

"The simplicity of this method of collecting and reporting would require only a small office staff in the comptroller's office, thus assuring the maximum return on the amounts collected," the resolution concluded.

Introduction of the resolution followed a report by Robert F. Rizer, who represented the association at a meeting of all state grocers' organizations with a representative of the state comptroller's office in Baltimore May 22 to discuss methods of collecting and reporting the sales tax.

Plans were discussed for holding two picnics this summer, one for members and their families, and another for members only. No regular meetings are scheduled for July or August. Albert E. Windish, president, will name picnic committees at a later date.

Ralph W. Rice was named chairman of arrangements for the association's third annual banquet, to be held Wednesday, October 15. He will be assisted by J. C. Patterson, Lynn Beightol, F. Lee Fresh, Ralph F. Sell and Robert F. Rizer.

Bicyclists Urged To Apply For Tags Before Deadline

Owners of bicycles are like automobile owners in some respects, but City Police said last night they wish the youngsters would adopt a new policy.

Every year long lines of motorists form at the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles office in Baltimore in a last minute rush for license plates, and Cumberland bicyclists, who also must have licenses to operate, are prone to follow the same method here.

Present bicycle tags expire July 1, but police hope all bicyclists do not put off until the last minute applying for their new license plates.

Some youngsters straggle in over a period of several weeks in seeking their tags but hundreds wait until the last few days and subject issuing officers to a heavy load.

They would like to see the end of that and the youngsters adopt a new policy of applying for their tags well ahead of time.

Meanwhile, police cautioned that bicyclists will be punished if violations are spotted.

"We intend to hold their bicycles for 60 or 90 days if we see bicyclists violating the law," said Detective Edwin Lilya. Each bicyclist gets a set of rules and regulations with his license and there is no reason for violations, Lilya added.

Specific violations he mentioned were riding double and riding without lights at night.

"We've had too many accidents involving bicycles," Lilya said, "and we've got to put a stop to them."

Local Man Is Making Excellent Record At Babson Institute

Ross V. H. Davis Is Active On Campus

Ross V. H. Davis, 717 Glenmore Street, the recipient of the 1945 Newspaper Scholarship to Babson Institute of Business Administration, has been unusually active in student affairs at that College. Early in the school year he was given the highest campus honor of being elected president of the Student Government.

Under the leadership of Davis as president of the Student Government, the Babson weekly, THE BABSON BEAVER, was organized and has prospered. Davis also in a large measure has been responsible for the success of the current college yearbook, THE 1947 BABSONIAN. His enthusiasm has given considerable impetus to the college athletic program. Babson has just had its best postwar year to date in sports. Because of Davis' many year long achievements he has just been made chairman of the all-important Student Commencement Committee.

In addition to these many student activities, Davis has proved himself an outstanding scholar and will complete his junior year with distinction. He will graduate in June, 1948 with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration.

Davis is a graduate of Parsons, W. Va., High School and served with the Army Air Force during the war. His wife is the former Edith Christopher, of Cumberland.

Henry Hart Post Starts Record For Blood Bank Here

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars has begun registrations of post members for the local blood bank, Lester Mull, chairnan reported at the regular meeting last night, according to Lee W. Thrasher, commander.

A register has been installed at the post home, and members are asked to complete the necessary information on this record as soon as possible. Nearly 100 registered last night.

Past Commander Raymond Reynolds reported he had attended the hearing on the Savage River Dam, June 5, and it was indicated that an effort might be made by interested Congressmen to speed completion of of Savage River Dam.

Thirty-nine delegates were elected to the National Encampment to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, the first week in September.

It was also reported that Curtis McA. Kime, senior vice-commander of District No. 3, VFW; David Rinker, department inspector, Post Commander Thrasher and Past Commander James E. Stemple, visited Luther and Henry Schmidt Post at Oakand, Monday night and assisted them in reorganization. Officers were elected and 11 new members admitted.

The State Department had ordered the Oakland charter rescinded, and the local delegation went to Oakland to try to hold the post together. It was learned that the post has been active, but had not been properly instructed about sending in reports, installing officers, etc.

Local officers will visit Oakland July 21, accompanied by the post degree team, and will obligate the membership.

John Jackel announced that a membership drive for the drum and bugle corps is being planned, and Mull reported plans are about complete for the annual picnic.

They are Wallace Frederick Blackburn, and Francis Eugene Cummings. Blackburn was graduated this year from Piedmont High School.

Chief Schrader said that young men may now enlist in the Navy for three, four or six years, while Navy veterans who re-enlist within three months after their discharge may sign for two years. Young men 17 years of age are enlisted for minority terms or for three years.

Boy Injures Wrist

A 12-year old boy, Jimmie Reith, 804 Bedford Street, was treated in Allegany Hospital last night for a possible fracture of the left wrist, suffered while playing football.

Nelson Ruckhart, 22, 229 Union Street, an employe of the Cumberland Undergarment Company, was treated in Memorial Hospital for laceration of two fingers. Attaches were told he was injured by a cutting machine while at work.

Wiley Ford Man Freed On Charge Of Raping Woman

Insufficient Evidence, State Police Report

A 28-year-old Wiley Ford, W. Va., man, charged with raping Mrs. Myrl Kiiffner, 53, 10 Virginia Avenue, early Saturday morning, was released yesterday afternoon by Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell, Ridgeley, because of insufficient evidence, West Virginia State Trooper L. E. Proudfoot said last night.

The man, listed by police as Clarence George Peer, was accused by Mrs. Kiiffner of raping her in a car on Route 46, near Fort Ashby, following a Friday night dance at the Wiley Ford VFW Club, Trooper Proudfoot said. He added that she was bruised on the right thigh and calf of her leg.

Peer, according to the officer, denied the charge and said he was never alone in the automobile with Mrs. Kiiffner, who had declared she struggled against him until she was almost exhausted.

Mrs. Kiiffner, pianist in an orchestra that played for the dance at the club, left the dance hall and waited outside for Peer to drive her, George Diven, of Forst Ashby, and a man named Langley, of Cumberland, to their homes, officers said.

They added that Mrs. Kiiffner said she and Peer went to the car and were soon joined by Langley and Diven. She was in the back seat and Peer in front when he got out and spoke to Diven and then got back into the car and drove off, leaving Diven and Langley behind, Trooper Proudfoot quoted Mrs. Kiiffner as saying.

Peer allegedly drove to the intersection of Route 28 and 46 at Fort Ashby, turned south on Route 46 toward Keyser and after driving about a fifth of a mile stopped the car and raped her, despite her struggles, Mrs. Kiiffner told police, they said.

Returning to the dance hall about 25 minutes later, Diven and Langley were picked up and Diven, Peer's brother-in-law, was dropped off at his home where Mrs. Peer joined her husband, police quoted Mrs. Kiiffner as saying.

They added that after reaching her home, she told her family and Langley what allegedly happened and her daughter obtained a warrant the following morning. Peer was arrested Saturday afternoon by Proudfoot and Cpl. R. R. Karrickhoff and held in the Mineral County Jail at Keyser until his hearing yesterday afternoon.

Cresaptown Man Jailed For 45 Days

Arrested early yesterday morning on charges of violating three state motor vehicle laws, Albert J. Martz, Route 5, Cresaptown, was committed to the County Jail for 45 days in default of fines and costs totaling $117.25 by Magistrate Roy S. Bowman at Cresaptown last night.

Martz entered pleas of guilty to drunken driving, reckless driving and driving without a license.

He was fined $100 and costs on the drunken driving charge and committed for 30 days in default, $10 and costs on the license charge and committed for 10 days in default, and $5 and costs on the reckless driving charge and committed for five days in default.

According to Trooper G. M. Rotruck who, with Cpl. Harry Holsinger, made the arrest, Martz almost ran off the road and narrowly missed hitting a curb in Bowling Green on Route 220. He was arrested about 1 a. m.

Herbert Russell Lemaster, RFD 3, Cumberland, was arrested by Officer C. W. Thompson on Baltimore Avenue near Central Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 p. m. yesterday on charges of violating three state motor vehicle laws.

Lemaster was held in the city jail pending a hearing today.

Celanese Strike Status Remains About The Same

Another Meeting Slated Thursday

Status of the Celanese strike remains "pretty much as it was," Mrs. Margaret W. Kimble, acting commissioner of labor and industry for Maryland, said last night following a two and a half hour conference of representatives of the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

Following the negotiation session, which began shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Wesley Cook, assistant rayon director for TWUA, said only: "There is nothing to report."

A company spokesman said there was "nothing particular" to report as a result of the short session He said another meeting has been tentatively scheduled for Thursday morning.

James A. Holden, federal conciliator, could not be reached for comment, having left the city soon after the meeting adjourned.

Both Mrs. Kimble and Cook said another meeting has been scheduled for 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Status Unchanged

Asked if any progress toward an agreement in the 18-day-old strike was made at the conference yesterday, Cook repeated that there was nothing to report.

Mrs. Kimble said nothing has been "defininitely decided" that would change the status of the strike.

She added, however, "We are hopeful there may be some developments on Thursday from the discussion yesterday."

Cook said the 365-member strike committee of Local 1874 will meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning and that the negotiating committee will report at that time.

Meanwhile, requests that the company agree to arbitrate the issues continued.

A full page advertisement bearing the name of 72 Frostburg merchants appears in The Cumberland News today, and recites action of the Allegany County Commissioners, the Mayors and councils of Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Ridgeley and Keyser, W. Va., as well as the Allegany County delegation to the state legislature who have urged arbitration as a means of immediate settlement of the dispute.

Endorse Arbitration

The merchants say they likewise endorse the principle of arbitration and support the proposals of the elected officials that the dispute be arbitrated.

One union spokesman said at least two more full page advertisements will be published this week and that each will contain the names of 72 additional merchants who are endorsing arbitration.

One advertisement, scheduled to appear tomorrow, will list the names of merchants in Midland, Mt. Savage, Barton and Westernport, and a second, slated for Friday, will list Cumberland merchants, this spokesman said.

Comptroller Urges Retailers To Secure License For Sales Tax

James J. Lacy, Comptroller of the State of Maryland and administrator of the new retail sales tax act, again wishes to impress upon all retailers in Maryland the necessity of securing a license from the Comptroller's office before July 1, when the act goes into effect.

Applications for these licenses can be obtained at 15 West Baltimore street, Baltimore, the headquarters of the sales tax division, or in any of the Court Houses in the 23 counties in the State. A fee of $1, must accompany the application. Lacy estimates that approximately 50,000 such licenses will be issued, and the issuance of so large a number will involve an immense amount of work during the remainder of the month.

Walter E. Kennedy, well-known business man of Baltimore, who was prevailed upon by Lacy to become chief of the retail sales tax division, asks the public to cooperate in securing these licenses immediately and not wait until the last minute because of the large amount of work involved in processing them.

The act as passed by the Legislature says that "Whoever engages in retail sales which are subject to tax without a license shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $25 and not more than $100."

An extensive "educational" program is being conducted by Kennedy and his associates, not only in Baltimore, but in various parts of Maryland. Several meetings are being held daily and the attendances range from several hundred to more than a thousand. He hopes to visit every county in Maryland and explain the workings of the retail sales tax plan about to go into effect.

With the act going into effect July 1, the collectors of the tax must make a return to the Comptroller's Office by August 15, for the month of July, and the law permits the collector 3 per cent of the gross tax received for services performed. Thereafter all returns for the preceeding month must be sent to the Comptroller's Office by the fifteenth of each month.

State Firemen To Open Convention This Afternoon

1,000 Delegates Are Expected To Attend

A holiday atmosphere swept through Western Maryland's Mountain City last night as large delegations of volunteer firemen from all parts of Maryland began arriving in Frostburg for the 55th annual convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, which officially opens at 2 p. m. today in Beall Elementary School.

Ralph M. Race, convention committee chairman, said Association officials had overcome their greatest handicap, a deficit of housing and will be able to accommodate fire fighters from all 224 member companies, and 103 Auxiliary units. Arrangements for accommodating the visitors were made at all Frostburg hotels, State Teachers College dormitories, numerous private homes, and in Lonaconing, Midland and Cumberland. The third floor of the Frostburg Fire Company building has been converted into a dormitory, with cots arranged for several score delegates.

A kick-off dinner was held last night at Clary Club, for state officers, state and county officials and guests. About 70 attended, with Ralph Race as toastmaster.

Politics Humming

The usual convention political talk was much in evidence last night, and known candidates included Charles H. Stallings, Jr., Pikesville, for president; E. L. Walston, Preston, for first vice president to succeed Stallings; and John H. Lexey, Jessups, a candidate for the state board of trustees.

A delegation representing the Anne Arundel County Association, which includes 18 companies, said they will present a resolution to the convention to divide the state into seven districts, with one representative elected from each district to comprise the executive committee.

Under present by-laws, the president has always named his executive committee by appointment, but the Anne Arundel Association believes an elective system would be better. They presented the matter to the executive committee meeting in May at Frederick, and it was rejected, so it will be brought before the convention, delegates said, in the form of a resolution. There was opposition being voiced last night.

Expect 3500 Visitors

A total of 1,000 delegates are expected to register for the convention and registration headquarters has been set up in the Firemen's Hall at Frostburg. A total of 3,500 visiting firemen are expected by Friday, the day of the big parade, and over $100,000 worth of fire-fighting equipment is expected to participate. A total of $1,200 in parade prizes will be distributed.

Besides taking in equipment exhibits, settling state firemen's affairs, dancing and attending their own spontaneous parties, the delegates will hear talks by Dr. H. C. Byrd, University of Maryland president; Former Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore; Former State Senator Phil Ryan, who is a past president of the association; Representative J. Glenn Beall and William A. Gunter, attorney.

Attorney General Hall Hammond is one of the state dignataries invited to join the proceedings. Marshal C. Skidmore, the town's mayor, will welcome the delegates.

The principal officers of the state organization are W. Bartgis Storm, Frederick, president; Charles H. Stallings, Jr., Pikesville, first vice-president; G. Mitchell Boulden, Elkton, second vice-president; B. R. Benson, III, Towson, secretary; William A. Wilson, Midland, treasurer; Rev. James W. Minter, Baltimore, chaplain.

The board of trustees consists of Eugene J. C. Raney, Kensington, chairman; Curtis C. Larrimore, Easton, secretary; John O. Cockey, Glyndon, John S. Prichard, Grantsville and Showard T. Culver, Hebron.

Members of the executive committee are Landon Walston, Kensington, chairman; Lindsay L. Browning, Mount Airy; Ted C. Gardner, Riverdale Heights; Bradley C. Riggs, Kensington and J. Franklin Stevens, Annapolis.

Feature Displays

One of the features of the convention will be an exhibit of fire fighting equipment, which will be arranged on the grounds and in the lobby of Beall Elementary School. The display will consist of ancient and modern fire fighting equipment. There will also be a display of pictures, including scenes of some of the state's biggest fires, the equipment used in the early days of the county, famous firemen of many of the state's best known volunteer firemen. This exhibit will be in charge of the historical and archives committee of the state association headed by Henry Marachalk.

Firemen Pick Bad Time For Frostburg State Conventions

FROSTBURG, June 17—An old resident, who claims to be a little superstitious about the figure three, said tonight, "Every time the firemen have a state convention here there is something wrong.

"In 1922," he explained, "when the firemen met in Frostburg there was a big coal miners' strike underway. In 1932 when they came back again, the depression was well underway and no one had much money. This year they meet here in the middle of a bad strike at the Celanese.

"Maybe the next time they come back the jinx will be over," he said with a wry grin. "You know everything bad happens in threes."

Mrs. Ralph Stein Recommended For Playground Head

Virginia Avenue May Have Playground

Mrs. Ralph Stein, 450 Walnut Street, has been recommended for appointment as city playground supervisor for the second successive year, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

Mayor Post, a member of the Park Board, which includes Commissioner Myers G. Light and Mrs. Marguerite E. Findlay, said the board decided on the recommendation at a recent meeting. Appointment to the position, which pays a monthly salary of $125, is made by the Mayor and Council.

The eight city playgrounds, Columbia Street, Pennsylvania Avenue, North End, West Side, East Side, Mt. Royal, Gephart and Pine Avenue, are scheduled to open next Monday for 10 weeks.

In addition, Commissioner Light previously indicated that a playground will be put into operation on Lafayette Avenue this summer. The Park Board has approved a plan to open a playground at Centre School, subject to the approval of Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

Mayor Post said that he has been notified by the Parent-Teacher Association of Virginia Avenue School that Kopp has given his approval of using a vacant yard at the school for a playground this summer. The city can probably secure swings and a slide for that playground, the mayor said.

He added that several more applications for playleader posts at city playgrounds have been received, and that appointments are scheduled to be made tomorrow.

Commissioner Light has been invited to represent the board at a meeting of the City Playground Associations tomorrow night at City Hall, when final plans for the playground season will be discussed.

Baker Veterans' Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., where he had been a patient for several weeks.

Police reported Mr. Bosley had been living in the pipe for about a week before he was found there, and that nearby residents carried sandwiches to him after he became too ill to leave the pipe. He was taken to Memorial Hospital and later was admitted to the veterans' hospital.

A native of Martinsburg, Mr. Bosley was a son of the late Charles W. and Jennie M. Chestnut Bosley. After his Army service in World War I, he war retired on a disability pension and resided for several years in Brunswick, where he held membership in the American Legion.

Grocers Propose Monthly Reports On Sales Tax

A resolution urging that monthly reports on collections of the consumer sales tax, which goes into effect in Maryland July 1, be made to James J. Lacey, state comptroller, to simplify the task of reporting the tax, was passed unanimously last night at the regular meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, held at the LaVale Fire Hall.

A copy of the resolution, which stated that "it is already evident that efforts is being made to make the agency for the enforcement of this law a rallying point for political job-seekers," was ordered sent to the state comptroller.

In introducing the resolution, J. Goodloe Jackson, secretary, said that business began to feel the brunt of ever-increasing tax levies when taxation of land property and real estate reached the point where added revenue could not be obtained from those sources.

Stating that the tax burden is being placed more and more on those least able to bear it—the wage earners—Jackson said, "In this particular (consumer sales) tax we see the sorry spectacle of a governor using power politics to the nth degree to frustrate the already expressed wishes of the people as carried out by their duly elected representatives."

Warning that enforcement of the tax may lead employment of an increasing number of enforcement agents and that the time may come when the entire amount collected from the tax will be spent in paying salaries, the resolution suggested several methods of simplifying the problem of collection and reporting the tax.

The association urged that each retailer place a box at his cash register and place therein the tax money he collects after each sale of taxable items; that a monthly report be made to the state comptroller, enclosing receipts from the tax; and that a yearly report be made on sales tax receipts.

"The simplicity of this method of collecting and reporting would require only a small office staff in the comptroller's office, thus assuring the maximum return on the amounts collected," the resolution concluded.

Introduction of the resolution followed a report by Robert F. Rizer, who represented the association at a meeting of all state grocers' organizations with a representative of the state comptroller's office in Baltimore May 22 to discuss methods of collecting and reporting the sales tax.

Plans were discussed for holding two picnics this summer, one for members and their families, and another for members only. No regular meetings are scheduled for July or August. Albert E. Windish, president, will name picnic committees at a later date.

Ralph W. Rice was named chairman of arrangements for the association's third annual banquet, to be held Wednesday, October 15. He will be assisted by J. C. Patterson, Lynn Beightol, F. Lee Fresh, Ralph F. Sell and Robert F. Rizer.

Bicyclists Urged To Apply For Tags Before Deadline

Owners of bicycles are like automobile owners in some respects, but City Police said last night they wish the youngsters would adopt a new policy.

Every year long lines of motorists form at the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles office in Baltimore in a last minute rush for license plates, and Cumberland bicyclists, who also must have licenses to operate, are prone to follow the same method here.

Present bicycle tags expire July 1, but police hope all bicyclists do not put off until the last minute applying for their new license plates.

Some youngsters straggle in over a period of several weeks in seeking their tags but hundreds wait until the last few days and subject issuing officers to a heavy load.

They would like to see the end of that and the youngsters adopt a new policy of applying for their tags well ahead of time.

Meanwhile, police cautioned that bicyclists will be punished if violations are spotted.

"We intend to hold their bicycles for 60 or 90 days if we see bicyclists violating the law," said Detective Edwin Lilya. Each bicyclist gets a set of rules and regulations with his license and there is no reason for violations, Lilya added.

Specific violations he mentioned were riding double and riding without lights at night.

"We've had too many accidents involving bicycles," Lilya said, "and we've got to put a stop to them."

Wiley Ford Man Freed On Charge Of Raping Woman

Insufficient Evidence, State Police Report

A 28-year-old Wiley Ford, W. Va., man, charged with raping Mrs. Myrl Kiiffner, 53, 10 Virginia Avenue, early Saturday morning, was released yesterday afternoon by Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell, Ridgeley, because of insufficient evidence, West Virginia State Trooper L. E. Proudfoot said last night.

The man, listed by police as Clarence George Peer, was accused by Mrs. Kiiffner of raping her in a car on Route 46, near Fort Ashby, following a Friday night dance at the Wiley Ford VFW Club, Trooper Proudfoot said. He added that she was bruised on the right thigh and calf of her leg.

Peer, according to the officer, denied the charge and said he was never alone in the automobile with Mrs. Kiiffner, who had declared she struggled against him until she was almost exhausted.

Mrs. Kiiffner, pianist in an orchestra that played for the dance at the club, left the dance hall and waited outside for Peer to drive her, George Diven, of Forst Ashby, and a man named Langley, of Cumberland, to their homes, officers said.

They added that Mrs. Kiiffner said she and Peer went to the car and were soon joined by Langley and Diven. She was in the back seat and Peer in front when he got out and spoke to Diven and then got back into the car and drove off, leaving Diven and Langley behind, Trooper Proudfoot quoted Mrs. Kiiffner as saying.

Peer allegedly drove to the intersection of Route 28 and 46 at Fort Ashby, turned south on Route 46 toward Keyser and after driving about a fifth of a mile stopped the car and raped her, despite her struggles, Mrs. Kiiffner told police, they said.

Returning to the dance hall about 25 minutes later, Diven and Langley were picked up and Diven, Peer's brother-in-law, was dropped off at his home where Mrs. Peer joined her husband, police quoted Mrs. Kiiffner as saying.

They added that after reaching her home, she told her family and Langley what allegedly happened and her daughter obtained a warrant the following morning. Peer was arrested Saturday afternoon by Proudfoot and Cpl. R. R. Karrickhoff and held in the Mineral County Jail at Keyser until his hearing yesterday afternoon.

Cresaptown Man Jailed For 45 Days

He was fined $100 and costs on the drunken driving charge and committed for 30 days in default, $10 and costs on the license charge and committed for 10 days in default, and $5 and costs on the reckless driving charge and committed for five days in default.

According to Trooper G. M. Rotruck who, with Cpl. Harry Holsinger, made the arrest, Martz almost ran off the road and narrowly missed hitting a curb in Bowling Green on Route 220. He was arrested about 1 a. m.

Herbert Russell Lemaster, RFD 3, Cumberland, was arrested by Officer C. W. Thompson on Baltimore Avenue near Central Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 p. m. yesterday on charges of violating three state motor vehicle laws.

Celanese Strike Status Remains About The Same

Another Meeting Slated Thursday

Status of the Celanese strike remains "pretty much as it was," Mrs. Margaret W. Kimble, acting commissioner of labor and industry for Maryland, said last night following a two and a half hour conference of representatives of the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

Following the negotiation session, which began shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Wesley Cook, assistant rayon director for TWUA, said only: "There is nothing to report."

A company spokesman said there was "nothing particular" to report as a result of the short session He said another meeting has been tentatively scheduled for Thursday morning.

James A. Holden, federal conciliator, could not be reached for comment, having left the city soon after the meeting adjourned.

Both Mrs. Kimble and Cook said another meeting has been scheduled for 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Status Unchanged

Asked if any progress toward an agreement in the 18-day-old strike was made at the conference yesterday, Cook repeated that there was nothing to report.

Mrs. Kimble said nothing has been "defininitely decided" that would change the status of the strike.

She added, however, "We are hopeful there may be some developments on Thursday from the discussion yesterday."

Cook said the 365-member strike committee of Local 1874 will meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning and that the negotiating committee will report at that time.

Meanwhile, requests that the company agree to arbitrate the issues continued.

A full page advertisement bearing the name of 72 Frostburg merchants appears in The Cumberland News today, and recites action of the Allegany County Commissioners, the Mayors and councils of Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Ridgeley and Keyser, W. Va., as well as the Allegany County delegation to the state legislature who have urged arbitration as a means of immediate settlement of the dispute.

Endorse Arbitration

The merchants say they likewise endorse the principle of arbitration and support the proposals of the elected officials that the dispute be arbitrated.

One union spokesman said at least two more full page advertisements will be published this week and that each will contain the names of 72 additional merchants who are endorsing arbitration.

One advertisement, scheduled to appear tomorrow, will list the names of merchants in Midland, Mt. Savage, Barton and Westernport, and a second, slated for Friday, will list Cumberland merchants, this spokesman said.

Miss Cumberland Beauty Pageant Contestants Will Be In Parade

Cumberlanders will get a prevue of contestants for the title of "Miss Cumberland—Queen of the Queen City" next Saturday night when the girls participate in a parade that will begin promptly at 7:30 at the State Armory, South Centre Street.

With plenty of fanfare being provided by the bugle and drum corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, and the Sons of the Legion, American Legion Post No. 13, the girls will ride in open automobiles from the armory to Market Street, on Centre, across Market and down Mechanic Street to the Maryland Theater, where the Miss Cumberland Pageant will be staged at 8:30.

The parade has been arranged by Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., of the pageant committee, in order to give the local contest a similar atmosphere to that of the Miss America Beauty Pageant which will be staged at Atlantic City in September.

"A Cumberland girl might go on to win the title of Miss Maryland and then become Miss America," Conlon said yesterday, "and if she does, we want her to have full experience in pageant activities when the big day arrives."

An escort of State and City Police will accompany the contestants in the parade, and Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., Cumberland's veteran parade marshal, will be on hand to see that everything goes off according to schedule.

Miss Cumberland contestants are rehearsing daily for their coming stage presentation, under a committee headed by Mrs. Louise Youngblood Moore, local actress and stage enthusiast. Mrs. Moore is being assisted by Miss Jean Knight, script writer for radio station WTBO; Mrs. Carl F. Ballard, who, as Dixie Rafter won the title of "Miss Washington, D. C.," in 1943, and participated in the Atlantic City Miss America Pageant and Miss Rebecca Dantzig, pianist for Jay Van's Orchestra.

Comptroller Urges Retailers To Secure License For Sales Tax

James J. Lacy, Comptroller of the State of Maryland and administrator of the new retail sales tax act, again wishes to impress upon all retailers in Maryland the necessity of securing a license from the Comptroller's office before July 1, when the act goes into effect.

Applications for these licenses can be obtained at 15 West Baltimore street, Baltimore, the headquarters of the sales tax division, or in any of the Court Houses in the 23 counties in the State. A fee of $1, must accompany the application. Lacy estimates that approximately 50,000 such licenses will be issued, and the issuance of so large a number will involve an immense amount of work during the remainder of the month.

Walter E. Kennedy, well-known business man of Baltimore, who was prevailed upon by Lacy to become chief of the retail sales tax division, asks the public to cooperate in securing these licenses immediately and not wait until the last minute because of the large amount of work involved in processing them.

The act as passed by the Legislature says that "Whoever engages in retail sales which are subject to tax without a license shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $25 and not more than $100."

An extensive "educational" program is being conducted by Kennedy and his associates, not only in Baltimore, but in various parts of Maryland. Several meetings are being held daily and the attendances range from several hundred to more than a thousand. He hopes to visit every county in Maryland and explain the workings of the retail sales tax plan about to go into effect.

With the act going into effect July 1, the collectors of the tax must make a return to the Comptroller's Office by August 15, for the month of July, and the law permits the collector 3 per cent of the gross tax received for services performed. Thereafter all returns for the preceeding month must be sent to the Comptroller's Office by the fifteenth of each month.
